NEW GERMAN ATTACKS

Hit at Ends of Line; Allies Hold Firm

PEARL HARBOR DEFENSE WORK SCANDAL BARED

Delay on Signal Job Aided Japs.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Evidence labeled "startling" and "incredible," revealing neglect and delay in the army's defense preparations at Pearl Harbor prior to the Japanese attack on Dec. 7, 1941, was laid before congress today by a house subcommittee on military affairs.

Col. Theodore Wyman Jr [top] and Hans Wilhelm Rohl.

Responsibility was pinned directly upon Col. Theodore Wyman Jr., district army engineer at Honolulu from June, 1940, to March, 1942, but Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short [now a retired major general] and the army command in general were blamed for permitting what appears to be a deliberate program of obstruction carried on by a German born contractor.

German's Firm in Favor.

Hans Wilhelm Rohl, Los Angeles and San Francisco contractor, who sought naturalization in March, 1941, 28 years after he had come to this country from Germany, was named by the subcommittee as Col. Wyman's collaborator in what proved to be disastrous delay.

The army officer "constantly discriminated" in the awarding of defense projects to Rohl's firm, Hawaiian Constructors, the report stated, and it was given $125,000,000 in contracts over a two year period prior to the Pearl Harbor attack.

Col. Wyman and Rohl were frequently companions on wild drinking parties, the report stated. On the morning of the Jap attack, Col. Wyman was at Rohl's home, having spent the night there, and "rushed to his office in a drunken condition, shouting orders to everybody."

Warning Delay Permitted.

As an outstanding example of Col. Wyman's "disgraceful" conduct, the subcommittee revealed that he permitted Rohl to delay completion of a permanent aircraft warning system that would have detected the approach of Japanese planes.

As early as 1935, the report said,

ROOSEVELT SIGNS BILL DELAYING TRIAL FOR PEARL HARBOR

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—Legislation directing an immediate investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster was signed today by President Roosevelt, but he said the inquiry would be limited to what could be done without interfering with the war effort.

Mr. Roosevelt said he was confident congress did not intend and would not want any proceedings which would hamper prosecution of the war. Therefore, he said in a statement, he was signing the bill altho the secretaries of war and the navy had disapproved it.

The legislation directs the secretaries of war and navy to make investigations and commence proceedings "as the facts may justify." It also extends until Dec. 7, 1944, the time during which prosecutions may be brought against any one as a result of Pearl Harbor. Under the so-called statute of limitations no prosecutions could be brought later than two years after the incident, but a year ago congress extended it for one year.

U.S. Warships Shell Kuriles and Marianas

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, June 14 (AP).—Guns of American naval task forces simultaneously shelled the southern Marianas islands and the central Kuriles Monday in the deepest penetration of Japanese defenses ever made by United states warships, Pacific fleet headquarters announced today. Both raids were coordinated with air blows.

The northern force continued its shelling of Matsuwa, within 500 miles of the Japanese homeland, into Tuesday. The raid in the southern Marianas was extended into its fourth day and reached out to hit a fifth island.

Battleships, cruisers, and destroyers shelled Saipan and Tinian in the Marianas. If the shore guns replied their fire was ineffective, for Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said none of the attacking ships was damaged.

Start Fires in Towns.

The warship bombardment started large fires in Tanapag harbor, anchorage on the western side of Saipan's volcanic hills. Large fires also blazed in Garapa, a town of 10,000 population just south of Tanapag harbor, and in Charankao, a sugar mill center on the southwest side of Saipan.

It was the first surface bombardment of these key Japanese bases protecting the sea flanks of Japan and the Philippines. As the naval guns opened up planes which began raiding the Marianas last Saturday bombed Pagan Island, a satellite Marianas base 175 miles north of Saipan.

The shelling of Matsuwa was the first time warships have closed in to bombard a base that close to Japan, altho Paramushiro, farther north, was shelled by the fleet on Feb. 4. In coördinated air blows Paramushiro and Shumushu air fields at the northern tip of the Kuriles were bombed.

Three Jap Planes Bagged.

The simultaneous strikes at the Kuriles and Marianas, over a range of more than 2,000 miles and both within 1,500 miles of Tokyo, exhibited the navy's capacity to hit widely separated Japanese positions at the same time.

Shore installations on Pagan Island were well worked over by carrier planes. They destroyed three Japanese planes and probably another, bringing to 141 the total number of Japanese aircraft wiped out in the Marianas strike.

Three American fighter planes and one dive bomber were lost Sunday.

Nimitz announced that more than 60 Japanese, survivors of a ship sunk off Saipan Sunday, were picked up from the sea and taken prisoner.

Bombers struck at Truk in the Carolines Monday, damaging air fields and setting several fires. One of 15 enemy interceptors was shot down, two more probably shot down and four damaged.

BRICKER SAYS HE'LL BE NAMED G. O. P. NOMINEE

Claims 174 Votes on First Ballot.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Conceding that Gov. Dewey of New York will lead him by more than 100 delegates, Gov. Bricker of Ohio said today he is convinced there will be no nomination for President on the first ballot of the Republican national convention. He believes he will be the choice on the second or a succeeding ballot.

Pledged to Bricker	50
Claimed for Bricker	124
Total Bricker	174
Pledged to Dewey	72
Probable Dewey	213
Total Dewey	285
Pledged to favorite sons	76
Probable first ballot for others	306
Doubtful	216
Total	1,057

250 on First Ballot!

According to the forecast, Bricker will receive from 250 to 300 votes on the first ballot.

"Besides the 174 votes definitely pledged to or definitely claimed by Bricker," the analysis said, "we have every reason to believe he will receive a good majority of the 216 votes which are now listed as doubtful and we are certain that he has great secondary strength among the delegates now nominally pledged to or who probably will vote for favorite son candidates on the first ballot.

"It is significant that even at this late date so close to the meeting of the convention, delegates of the various states, meeting in caucus, have voted overwhelmingly to go to Chicago not bound by commitments, pledges or instructions."

"I have been presenting my position on the issues of the hour," said Gov. Bricker, "getting around the country and talking to delegates, probably a majority of them. They know my position and the position I would have the party take. The majority of the delegates are coming to the convention unpledged. It will be a deliberative body. I am a party man and I am confident the convention will frame a platform and name a ticket that will win the election."

Issue Is "Absolutism."

In discussing issues, Gov. Bricker stressed the vital necessity of "fully implementing the military program and speeding up the production program" that the war may be won in the shortest time with the least pos-

ADM. HALSEY GIVES UP HIS SOUTH PACIFIC COMMAND TO NEWTON

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTH PACIFIC, June 15 [Thursday]—(AP).—Adm. William F. Halsey Jr. relinquished his position as allied commander in chief in the South Pacific today to Vice Adm. John Henry Newton, 62, his deputy commander.

Halsey is being assigned to a new and as yet undisclosed role in the Pacific.

Halsey became commander of the South Pacific area as a vice admiral Oct. 18, 1942. Forces under his command defeated the Japanese in the battle of Santa Cruz Oct. 26, 1942, and in the battle of Guadalcanal the following Nov. 13 to 15. He was promoted to full admiral Nov. 18, 1942.

Vice Adm. Newton came to the South Pacific command early this year after serving as deputy commander in chief of Pacific areas under Adm. Nimitz at Pearl Harbor. He was formerly deputy chief of naval operations under Adm. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet.

DISCLOSE 127 WERE LOST, 380 INJURED IN PEARL HARBOR BLAST

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, June 14 (AP).—The navy tonight announced that 27 men were killed, 100 are missing, and 380 were wounded in an explosion that destroyed several small landing craft in Pearl Harbor on May 21.

At the same time it was reported that a magazine at the ammunition depot at Oahu Island exploded last Sunday, killing three men. Seven others are missing.

The explosion among landing craft in Pearl Harbor was reported previously by Adm. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander in chief, who said it occurred while ammunition was being unloaded from one of the small craft.

The casualties caused by the explosion and subsequent fire were: Dead—Army, 8; Navy, 9; marine corps, 10. Missing—Army, 53; navy, 21; coast guard, 26. Injured—Army, 56; navy, 143; coast guard, 3; marine corps, 159, and civilians, 19.

In the explosion last Sunday, fleet headquarters said, several torpedo warheads being transferred from a truck to a platform were detonated. Damage was caused in the general magazine area and minor damage was done to power lines and railroad tracks.

'PAIN DETECTOR' IS SHOWN AT DOCTORS' PARLEY

An electrical "pain detector," said to be able to detect diseased organs even tho the patient is unable to feel pain when the physician applies pressure to the area, was demonstrated to members of the Gastroenterological association and the American Proctologic society in a joint meeting in the Stevens hotel yesterday.

Dr. Lester M. Morrison of Philadelphia read a paper on the machine and said it resulted in "viscerogalvanic reaction" by the patient.

A paper asserting that a human who has been burned over a considerable area of his body is likely to develop stomach ulcers during his recovery was read by Dr. Frank W. Hartman of Detroit in the meeting, held in connection with the annual convention of the American Medical association.

More Steel and Corsets for Women of Britain

LONDON, June 14.—Stronger corsets will be available for British women shortly, it was reported tonight, following a government decision to increase the allocation of hard strip steel to manufacturers.

Gen. De Gaulle Goes Home to Cheers of French Villagers

Tours Beachhead

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. FORCES IN ISIGNY, France, June 14.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of Fighting French forces since his escape from France in 1940, came back this afternoon to his native land and received from the people of this ruined town a demonstration of loyalty and affection.

Unheralded, the appearance of the tall, imperious Frenchman and his staff produced a moving scene which could not have been improved by Hollywood staging. It was repeated several times as De Gaulle and his entourage in three army jeeps and naval amphibious jeeps visited liberated villages between Bayeux and Grandcamp-les-Bains before reëmbarking on a naval vessel for return to England.

Crowds Form Quickly.

Unaware of De Gaulle's presence on our beachhead, we correspondents were puzzled when we saw lines of civilians gathered on each side of the village square around 12 grimy little girls carrying hastily made bouquets of flowers. Then we heard the name of De Gaulle.

From the other side of the square strode De Gaulle beside a cure in black cassock. The crowd began shouting, "Vive De Gaulle."

De Gaulle stopped under what had been an iron street light in the center of the square; there were cries for silence, and De Gaulle spoke.

Promises New Day.

He said he joined in the townspeople's sadness at their ruined town, but now with hope in their hearts they must look as he did toward a glorious future for a reborn republic. He told them help would come to Isigny and other ruined French towns, and said the French government spoke to them thru him. Then he asked them to join him in singing the "Marseillaise."

Withdraws Officers.

LONDON, June 15 [Thursday]—(AP).—Allied troops already were moving onto the assault beaches of Normandy when Gen. De Gaulle withdrew all except a handful of the Fighting French officers who had been counted upon by the allied supreme command to act as liaison officers with the French people to help take over civil administration, it was learned today.

A De Gaulle press attache answered, "We canceled no such agreement for we never signed such an agreement."

Turn Against U. S.

BY HAROLD CALLENDER.
[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ALGIERS, June 14. — American troops are fighting on the soil of France to drive the Germans out. It is almost entirely American material from tanks to spoons which has enabled the large French army to strike effective blows against the Nazis in Italy. Lend-lease is supplying those French forces in reserve who will form the nucleus of the future army of France.

Press and Radio Strike.

Yet since Gen. de Gaulle's diplomatic impasse with the allies, Algiers is not a pleasant place for an American who understands French. The British-American blow for the liberation of France has coincided with a new wave of anti-Americanism here stimulated by De Gaulle's charge that the allies were seizing power in France.

That charge immediately was followed by a violent campaign in one newspaper here against the United States government. It continued today with an article in the Algiers Republican.

British Side with De Gaulle.

Meanwhile political issues De Gaulle has raised seemed to allied observers here to be driving a wedge between British and Americans. For the British press is almost unanimously engaged in a campaign against the American formula for France and in favor of recognition of Gen. de Gaulle's committee as the government of France. It is taken for granted here that this campaign has Prime Minister Churchill's approval.

Maps and Pictures

NAZIS YIELD IN CENTER; BIG TANK BATTLE RAGES

Here's Digest of Invasion Facts

PROGRESS — Allies hold firm against "furious" German attacks in Caen - Tilly - sur - Seulles sector; Nazis hurl four armored divisions into battle; Yanks lose Montebourg but advance several miles west of Carentan and gain southwest of Le Ham; allies gain toward St. Lo.

NAVAL — Battleships shell Germans around Caen; Germans report "heavy and superheavy" naval guns shell Le Havre.

LANDINGS—Germans report new landings expected within 48 hours.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, June 15 [Thursday].—Allied armies today were battling against furious German counter-attacks which already had forced the Yanks out of Montebourg on the road to Cherbourg and brought one of the biggest tank fights of the war to the British-held Tilly-Caen sector.

In the center of the 100 mile Normandy front, it was announced, American forces held their grip on Carentan after repulsing a German attack and generally advanced southward. Street battles raged in Troarn on the eastern end of the beachhead line.

The Germans hurled four armored divisions against the British and Canadian forces holding the 20 mile sector between Caen and Tilly in an effort to prevent encirclement of Caen from the west.

Allies Hold Firm.

Headquarters said the allies there were "holding firm" against the enemy's "furious attempt to stem our advance."

Heavy fighting was under way south of Caumont and Villers Bocage, where, headquarters announced, the battle was so "fluid" that no definite front line could be drawn. In this area is a wooded height known to the allied forces as "Birdcage Ridge."

At Villers Bocage, the British thrust had stopped at the principal road running southwest from Caen. This push southward may be turned in either direction—to the west, to outflank St. Lo., or to the east, below Caen.

Canadian brigades surged toward Caen and regained control of a five-mile stretch of the Troarn-Bayeux railroad, storming three villages in the river valley beyond that line. Allied battleships shelled Caen.

Press Toward Balleroy.

To the west of this area, British armored forces were pressing toward Balleroy where American troops are fighting.

The Germans claimed both Tilly and Troarn were in their hands, altho the British held the high ground around the former town and the latter had changed hands several times.

At Carentan, the American 29th division brought up tanks to fire on German paratroopers then battled hand to hand to gain high ground south of the town, which is a key rail, highway and canal floodgate hub at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula.

Despite the loss of Montebourg, the American forces were said to be holding firmly to positions on both sides of the town, which changed hands several times during the seesaw battle.

Yanks Pushed Back.

On the flank of the American 4th division, German counter-attacks pushed the Yanks back slightly from positions they had taken across the road leading northeast from Montebourg toward St. Vaast la Hougue, but this loss was counterbalanced by continuing American gains southwest of Le Ham, two miles southwest of Montebourg.

Heavy fighting also was reported developing west of Pont l'Abbe, in the American sector between Carentan and Montebourg.

Along the southern bulge of the front, from the Cerisy forest eastward, the allies were credited with gains toward St. Lo, which, the Germans said, was in flames. The deepest penetration was slightly more than 20 miles inland in the hills east of St. Lo. The town is one of the strongest military points in the Cherbourg peninsula and its impor-

Chicagoans on Target Ship of Nazi Bombers

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE LIBERTY SHIP FRANK R. STOCKTON, Off the Normandy Beachhead, June 14.—The mystery of the whereabouts of the luftwaffe is no mystery to United States troops on this ship—they think the Nazi air force is after them—but personally.

There is a sort of token raid every night on the thousand or more craft massed here in the Seine bay and nobody minds very much but it seems a little too thick to the "dog-faces" on this vessel to have the Nazis pick on them night after night.

"What are we—magnetic?" asked Corp. Matthew A. Marvin of Freeport, Ill., after the third night of near misses.

Closeup to Nazi.

If you have ever lived in a steel oil drum while somebody pounded it with a sledge hammer you will have some idea of what it sounds like in a Liberty ship when a bomb or shell drops near it. It rings like a bell.

"It scares you worse than an alarm clock at 5 a. m.," Corp. Ralph Gomez, 1816 No. Park st., Chicago, Ill., remarked.

The first night we had two alerts. The first wasn't much. An hour later, in the second, Maj. Robert B. Swatosh of Belle Plaine, Ia., ran out of the starboard companionway and practically stared a Nazi pilot in the face. He was coming in at mast height.

Ammunition Aboard.

The plane flew on followed by waves of flak, Maybe because we were separated from other shipping, the Nazi thought we were an ammunition ship. We weren't. We had only 72 tons of ammunition aboard.

As night fell the next evening we shifted our position, but that didn't seem to be the answer. Shortly after midnight our 20 mm. guns began firing. As we reached the deck a bomb fell about a quarter of a mile away. Ten minutes later a single enemy plane zooming about in the darkness decided to have a go at us.

Rings the Bell.

As the dive bomber plummeted downward everybody hit the deck and waited for the crash which wasn't long in coming.

A number of Chicagoans were among the troops watching the bombing. They included Lt. William J. Jones, 1661 W. 104th pl., Pvt. Erich Gego, 1930 Warner av., and Pvt. George J. Vlach, 2559 Fulton st.

Last night the troops aboard were awakened by an ear-splitting crash as a Liberty ship 50 yards to port caught a bomb in its No. 5 hatch. By the time we reached the deck the ship was afire and settling rapidly by the stern.

The biggest aerial assault of the war, with more than 10,000 sorties flown over the battle area and beyond, added its weight to the allied gains. Large forces of medium and light bombers and 1,500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators hit strategic targets behind the German lines

The Germans reported "heavy and super-heavy allied naval guns shelled Le Havre," and predicted there would be new allied offensive moves within the next 48 hours. They frequently have declared that the allies planned to seize Le Havre, which is on the Seine river estuary at the east end of the Seine bay.

Six Yank Divisions in Action.

Six American divisions were officially disclosed to be in action, giving Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley the largest American army in a single battle since 1918.

Fighting against the British forces were the German 2d SS. [elite guard] panzer; the 12th SS. panzer, known as the Hitler Youth, the Lehr panzers, and Field Marshal Rommel's 21st panzer.

Fresh indication that the allies do not intend to remain content with the beachheads now in their possession on the eastern flank came this morning from reports believed reliable, altho not confirmed, that allied patrols have pushed forward along the Deauville road, as well as along the highway southeast of Lisieux.

Expected Advance to Slow Up.

The slowing down of the allied advance, it was said, was to be expected as the Germans got their tactical reserves into action and also reënforced them with similar reserves from other districts away from the fighting zone.

Altho allied air supremacy still was only sporadically challenged by the luftwaffe, it is not to be supposed the air arm can prevent the movement of ground forces. The air force has delayed and impeded such movement effectively, however. But the Germans have got reënforcements up to the front line and their defense consequently has been stiffened.

However, they still were using their reserves piecemeal, it was asserted, and on the evidence so far available they have been prevented from massing sufficient forces to mount a general counter-attack.

Foil Nazi Punches.

As explained at Gen. Montgomery's headquarters this meant that much of the German armor had been forced to play the unaccustomed role of digging in and hanging on, rather than punching as planned. This situation, which has operated against the Germans from the start, was declared to have worsened, due to heavily damaged communications which have delayed the arrival of German infantry reserves to take over the ground-holding job.

German artillery several times has attempted to form for an offensive maneuver in the Caen area, but front dispatches said each time it had been scattered by British Commandos and Canadian and British artillery and infantry.

A statement from Montgomery's headquarters said: "The enemy is doing all he can to plug leaks, while we are daily developing our beachhead and attacking him at every opportunity, both to kill Germans and to make more room for ourselves."

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 14 (AP).—Tonight's allied war bulletin, the 18th of the invasion, said:

"The armored battle continues in the Tilly-Caen area. The enemy has counter-attacked constantly in a furious attempt to stem our advance. We are holding firm and vigorously searching out weak points in his attacks.

"In the Cherbourg peninsula the enemy is fighting fiercely. His heavy counter-attacks in the north have forced us to give some ground in the vicinity of Montebourg. Farther south we have made some gains. An enemy counter-thrust on Carentan has been repulsed.

"In one of their most active mornings, allied air forces today operated almost unopposed from the Brest peninsula to Belgium and Holland and penetrated deep into eastern France.

"The effort of the heavy daylight bombers exceeded even yesterday's figures. Targets included air fields at Le Bourget, Creil, Orleans-Bricy, and Et Tampes-Mon de Sir in France, at Brussels-Melsbroek in Belgium and Eindhoven in Holland.

"After escorting the bombers our fighters hit numerous road, rail, and military targets in France. Two enemy aircraft were destroyed. Fifteen bombers and eight fighters are missing from these widespread operations. Before dawn medium and light bombers hit communications targets near Caen in close support of our ground forces.

"Attacks were made on a marshalling yard at Mezidon and against bridges and traffic centers at Aynay-sur-Odon, Falaise, Vire, Vimoutries, and Flers.

"Other formations struck far into the interior, bombing traffic points and moving targets in Chartres, southwest of Paris, rail tracks west of Laval and railway guns south of the battle area.

"No enemy fighters were encountered in these operations, but anti-aircraft fire was heavy. One medium bomber is missing.

"Fighters, fighter bombers, and rocket firing fighters, some of them operating from bases in Normandy, gave close support to the troops in the Cherbourg peninsula, cutting railroads and attacking large enemy convoys. Other fighters scored rocket hits on barges and batteries. Coastal aircraft harassed E-boats near Le Tourquet.

"Shortly after midnight seven enemy M class minesweepers were intercepted west of the Minquiers rocks by Orp [Polish naval vessel] Piorun and H. M. S. Ashanti [Comdr. J. R. Batnes] while on patrol. Action was joined at about 3,000 yards, the enemy being illuminated with star shells.

"The enemy vessels were repeatedly hit. And, scattering, some of them sought shelter under guns of the coastal batteries on the island of Jersey.

"Of the seven enemy vessels engaged, three were observed to sink and one was seen to receive such damage that its survival was considered unlikely. Of the remaining three, two were left stopped and burning fiercely.

"Northeast of Cap de la Hague three enemy patrol vessels were intercepted and attacked early this morning by light coastal forces commanded by Lt. H. Ascoll. The first ship in the enemy line was hit with a torpedo and the second set on fire."

GERMAN WAR BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 13 (AP).—The German war bulletin as broadcast from Berlin today said:

"In Normandy, a German tank group penetrated into the enemy bridgehead east of the Orne and inflicted heavy losses in men and material. On the remaining front of the landing head the enemy made several attacks supported by tanks, heavy artillery and strong air formations.

"All attacks were repulsed. Launching counter-attacks, German troops regained several localities. A group of enemy scouting tanks which had made a thrust against an area south of Caumont was completely annihilated.

"The night preceding June 13, embittered naval combats again took place off the invasion front. Torpedo boats and MT-boats scored artillery and torpedo hits on enemy destroyers. On their way back three German MT-boats were lost by a mass attack carried out by enemy fighter-bombers.

"The luftwaffe sank two transports of 8,000 tons, as well as two destroyers, and damaged another three freighters of 25,000 tons."

4 JEEPS FISHED FROM CHANNEL BY ILLINOISAN

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 14 (AP).—Sgt. Herbert Squire of Galesburg, Ill., and his crew of mechanics have been putting in just about a 24-hour day since they hit the beachhead on D-day, working day and night to salvage vehicles swamped in the heavy surf coming ashore. They already have managed to get four jeeps and a three-quarter ton truck in running order again even tho the vehicles stayed under water 48 hours before being towed onto the beach.

"I think I put into the water halfway across the channel," a mechanic chuckled. "It was not funny then, but I can laugh now. An officer and I drove the jeep down a ramp and just went out of sight. I thought at first that I had better start swimming back to England rather than try and get to the beach."

HERE'S HOW ALLIES' 'FIRST TEAM' LINES UP ON NORMANDY FRONT

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 14 (AP).—Here is how Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's "first team" in Normandy lines up along the beachhead, so far as officially announced:

At Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg, the United States 4th infantry division.

At Ste. Mere Eglise and Carentan farther south, the United States 82d and 101st air borne divisions.

At Isigny and to the south, the United States 29th infantry.

At Treviers and to the south, the American 1st and 2d infantry.

Bayeux sector, the 50th British infantry.

Between Caen and Bayeux, the 3d Canadian.

EUROPE ROCKED BY MIGHTIEST AIR ASSAULT OF WAR

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 14 (AP).—Led by more than 1,500 United States Fortresses and Liberators—the mightiest single air armada ever launched—the allied air forces hit Hitler's Europe with more than 12,000 plane sorties today.

The greatest weight of planes and bombs came from Britain, where raiders took off on an estimated 10,000 sorties that rained explosives on the enemy in France, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Germany.

Simultaneously 2,000 sorties were flown from Italy and Mediterranean bases against a half dozen oil refineries in Hungary and Yugoslavia.

Hit Foe with 4,500 Tons.

In all about 4,500 tons of bombs were cast on enemy territory.

The vast operations from Britain encountered a minimum of aerial opposition altho anti-aircraft fire was heavy at some points. Reports up to midnight listed 15 United States heavy bombers, three mediums, and 15 fighters and fighter-bombers as missing. Five enemy fighters were destroyed.

Besides the British based mission of more than 1,500 heavy bombers escorted by 750 fighters, all day assaults by medium, light and fighter-bombers closely supported the invasion ground forces.

The great air fleet from Britain dumped tons of bombs on six air fields in another blow to keep the German air force grounded. One force branched off and struck the Emmerich oil refinery in the Rhineland, ten miles inside Germany.

Attack Near Budapest.

Among the Emmerich raiders was Lt. Harry L. Spurla of 942 N. Kenilworth, Oak Park, Ill., a navigator. Fighter pilots who shot up trains in Normandy included Lt. William Anderson of 7915 Vernon av., Chicago.

United States Marauders and Havocs bombed German communications and supply targets near Caen. American fighters and fighter bombers swarmed over and beyond the battlefields.

The heavies, branching farther afield, struck air bases from Paris to Brussels, including Le Bourget and Creil at Paris, outlying Etampes-Mondesir and Chateaudun, and Brussels-Melsbroeck and Eindhoven in Belgium.

First reports of the attack from the south said bombing results were good in raids on the Shell Koolaz refinery near Budapest, the Fanto refinery 55 miles southwest of Budapest, and the Caprag refinery, 33 miles south of Zagreb and the Osijek refinery in Yugoslavia.

ALLIES DESTROY 396 PLANES IN WEEK, LOSE 554

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 14 (AP).—Headquarters today said allied air units flew 56,000 sorties in direct support of the Normandy invasion in the first week of the campaign, dropped 44,280 tons of bombs and destroyed 396 German planes in the air. Allied losses were 554 planes, of which 139 were heavy bombers.

The 8th air force on 16,000 sorties shot down 131 German planes and lost 31 heavies and 131 fighters and fighter-bombers. The 9th flew 15,500 sorties, destroyed 67 enemy planes, and lost 155. The R. A. F. bomber command made 6,000 sorties, destroying 36 German planes at a cost of 108. The 2d tactical air force, the R. A. F. transport command and air borne forces on 12,000 flights destroyed 106 enemy planes and lost 107.

The air defense of Great Britain on 5,500 sorties downed 56 planes and lost 22.

5TH ARMY WINS NAZI FORT, HUGE CACHES OF FOOD

Yanks Seize Orbetello, Citadel on Italy Coast.

ROME, June 14 (AP).—American forces driving up the Tyrrhenean coast of Italy have captured Orbetello, center of German resistance to the 5th army offensive, and gained control of the enemy's immense food supply dumps on the near-by Orbetello peninsula [Mount Argentario], field dispatches disclosed tonight.

Sid Feder, Associated Press correspondent with the 5th army, said in a story filed from Orbetello that the whole mountainous peninsula with tremendous hidden stores of food had come under allied control.

The Americans were pressing forward and engaging a strong force of Nazis in the hills north of the road junction, Feder said.

Seize 300 Tons of Flour.

The food cache discovered in bunkers on various parts of the mountainous peninsula, which is joined to the mainland by three causeways, contained nearly 300 tons of flour, hundreds of cases of ham, rations, and biscuits.

Along with the food, the allies seized a garrison of 26 enemy soldiers.

In mountains north of Orbetello several enemy battalions were putting up fierce resistance, Feder said, but the doughboys reported gains. Many prisoners were taken in the last 24 hours.

Mine fields around Orbetello were so dense that American forward troops required several hours to inch their way to the Nazi food dumps.

8th Army Takes 2 Towns.

Bagno Regio, six miles south of Orvieto, was captured by the 5th army and Narni, an important road junction southwest of Terni, was taken by the 8th army, headquarters announced tonight.

Orvieto, an important road junction northeast of Lake Bolsena, also was believed near capture despite some continuing enemy resistance from the west.

Inland from Orbetello, allied forces slugged up both the eastern and western shores of Lake Bolsena, advancing four miles beyond Valentano and capturing Latera, on the western side, and closing in on Bolsena, at the lake's northeast tip.

Eighth army columns driving north from Rome up the Tiber sent armored spearheads north of Magliano. Headquarters said some 8th army units had reached points 60 miles from Rome, but did not specify where.

TELLS HOW AIR ARM PUMMELED ENEMY IN ITALY

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 14.—Overwhelming allied air attacks supporting the 5th and 8th army offensives have created a disorganized rabble where once had been a pair of veteran German armies, Brig. Gen. Gordon P. Saville, commander of the 12th tactical air command, said today.

Brig. Gen. Saville.

He said that in the hectic days preceding Rome's fall his flyers poured death and destruction on Nazi troop positions, command posts, motor transport, mobile guns, and equipment. More than 3,000 vehicles, including trucks, tanks, and guns, were destroyed or damaged.

Saville spoke with pride of how his medium bombers "set 'em up" and his dive bombers "knocked 'em down" in disrupting German supply lines and communications and paving the way for and supporting the ground force advance. The part the air arm played in the offensive is regarded with increased importance because it may indicate the shape of things to come on the new European front. Months ago flyers from England, who now are supporting the Normandy invasion, studied the air support system operating on the Italian front.

LEOPOLD TAKEN TO GERMANY FOR SAFETY: BERLIN

New York, June 14 (AP).—The Berlin radio, broadcasting a dispatch from Brussels, said tonight King Leopold had been taken from his palace at Laeken, near Brussels, to "another residence worthy of his rank and position" on orders of Hitler.

In London yesterday Belgian Premier Hubert Pierlot said the Germans had removed Leopold in "captivity to Germany as part of the measures decided upon in expectation of the approaching arrival of the armies of liberation."

The Berlin broadcast said Hitler "felt obliged to care for the king's and his next of kin's security" by removing them to another residence "in view of the recent bombardment of the local palace at Laeken, where the Belgian king had resided since his capitulation."

FOOT SOLDIER OF U. S. TO HAVE HIS DAY TODAY

Washington, D. C., June 14.—(AP).—By proclamation of Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commanding general of the army ground forces, the foot-soldier, backbone of America's military might, will have his day tomorrow.

On the 169th anniversary of the date George Washington was chosen commander-in-chief of the Continental army, the infantry, "Queen of Battles," will parade its power in army camps, posts, and cities thruout the nation.

In Washington at 7:30 a. m.—"so as not to interfere with war work"—Gen. McNair will review troops in a special celebration on the parade grounds of the army war college, and afterward award infantrymen badges to four overseas veterans.

Ijmuiden Raid Kills 600 Nazi Troops, Say Dutch

LONDON, June 14 (AP).—Aneta, the official Netherlands news agency, tonight said some 600 German soldiers were killed and the Nazis' Atlantic wall defenses at Ijmuiden, Holland, were blasted apart during an allied air raid on April 26.

ALLIED WARNING TO FISHERMEN EXTENDED WEEK

New York, June 14 (AP).—The allied supreme command today extended for another week its warning to fishermen of Europe's northern coastal waters to stay in their ports so as not to "hinder the operations of the allied forces," or cause danger to themselves.

The first request asked them to stop fishing for seven days until 9 p. m. tomorrow, and the new order extended that time another full week.

The request, broadcast by a spokesman for supreme headquarters, applied to fishermen using coastal waters of Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, and the northern and western coastal waters of France.

2 YANKS CLIMB VATICAN WALLS TO ESCAPE NAZIS

17 Other Allied Troops Given Refuge.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VATICAN CITY, June 14.—Two American air force sergeants scaled the walls of the Vatican in the night three months ago and gained sanctuary in that neutral city while the enemy occupied Rome.

They were Anthony P. Brodniak of New Jersey, and Bernard L. Scalsi of New Orleans, La. Seventeen other allied soldiers, including Lt. Paul Freyberg, son of the general commanding New Zealand troops in Italy, also found safety when they reached the Vatican.

These disclosures were made today by Archbishop Gustavo Testa and Monsignor Joseph F. McGeough. Since the allies' arrival in Rome an Austrian soldier from Gen. Albert Kesselring's forces has reached security in the Vatican.

When correspondents submitted their stories, based on Testa's and McGeough's information, those stories were held up for one hour by censorship, which is under the control of Gen. Harold Alexander's headquarters, known as allied armies in Italy. There was thus an unprecedented situation of the allied military exercising a stop on an official Vatican utterance.

Get Full Liberty.

The American sergeants were on a bombing mission in the Viterbo area last March when they were forced to bail out. They hid in the countryside and finally one night in the darkness sneaked into Rome. Reaching the Vatican they climbed a wall.

Next morning Msgr. McGeough, who comes from New York City, found them and assured them they were safe. They were allowed full liberty within the Vatican enclosure, were furnished with civilian clothes, were well fed and were given cigarets. They came out of the Vatican when our forces attained Rome.

"These two Americans happened to be Catholics," Msgr. McGeough said, "but their reception here wasn't conditional on that. Nearly all the other 17 allied soldiers who gained entrance were non-Catholic. The Vatican can't open its gates and extend an official reception for soldiers in enemy territory, but if they get in here they are interned and enjoy complete security."

Lt. Freyberg hid in a truck leaving Castel Gandolfo after finding his way to the papal summer palace, and just rode into the Vatican in that conveyance.

Two Canadians There.

Eleven Englishmen, two Canadians, two Poles, and one Australian also reached the Vatican by devious ways. Some had made their escapes from German prison camps and others had been in hiding.

Four of the Englishmen were exchanged at Lisbon, Portugal, for the same number of Italian prisoners of war in British hands, and negotiations for the exchange of all other allied soldiers were in progress. But when the allies came those soldiers were freed.

Archbishop Testa said that since the beginning of the war papal representatives in Italy, Greece, Turkey, Syria, and the far east have given spiritual and material assistance to war prisoners and civil internees. Papal representatives particularly at Christmas and Easter distributed various gifts—such as watches, tobacco, books, musical and sports articles, religious objects, and catechisms. Special grants for prisoners and internees in the far east were made in the pope's name.

ITALIAN HEIRESS KIDNAPED; AMG ORDERS INQUIRY

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Italy, June 14.—Brig. Gen. Edgar Erskine Hume, chief of the allied military government [AMG], today ordered an inquiry into the spiriting away of a 22 year old Roman girl of high family by two American soldiers and an Italian in civilian clothes. The three took her from a private home without a warrant, saying they were going to question her.

The girl is Bona di Seta, pretty heiress of the prominent Pignatelli house. She was taken from the home of Baroness Marincula, the former Josephine Pomeroy of Washington, D. C.

Writers Tell of Episode.

The matter was brought up at Hume's press conference by Reynolds and Eleanor Packard, United Press correspondents in Rome. According to the Packards, they were at the Marincula villa last night with the girl, the baroness, and the baroness' brother, Sgt. Livingston Pomeroy, when three armed Italians broke in.

They demanded the girl pack a bag and go with them. When asked what authority they had, they produced AMG cards permitting them to carry arms and move about Rome after the 10 p. m. curfew. They left without the girl when the baroness and the Packards protested at the arbitrary action.

Return with Americans.

A few hours later one of these Italians returned with the two Americans. Again they insisted the girl accompany them. They produced arrest slip blanks unsigned, and said: "We'll fill this out when we get there." This time the girl was forced to leave with them.

There was no immediate indication of why the girl was to be questioned. Protests were made at the press conference against such high handed procedure by any army or AMG representatives, and Hume directed an investigation to determine the girl's whereabouts and who removed her.

Gen. Marshall, Arnold Received by British King

LONDON, June 14 (AP).—Gen. George C. Marshall, United States army chief of staff, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the United States army air forces, were received today by King George VI. in separate audiences at Buckingham palace.

MOORE NAMED TO FRASER POST AS FLEET CHIEF

LONDON, June 14 (AP).—The admiralty announced today the appointment of Vice Adm. Henry R. Moore, many times decorated during his career of 42 years in fighting ships, as commander of the British home fleet.

Vice Adm. H. R. Moore.

Moore, given the temporary rank of admiral, succeeds Adm. Bruce Fraser. No immediate announcement was made of Fraser's new assignment, but there were indications that he had been selected for an important command in Asiatic waters where the British navy is expected to carry an increasingly heavy load.

Moore, 57, who has been second in command of the home fleet since June, 1943, commanded recent carrier borne operations against the German battleship Tirpitz.

FINNS BUILD UP STOUT DEFENSE ON VIIPURI FRONT

Fresh Troops Join Battle 25 Miles from City.

LONDON, June 15 [Thursday]—(AP).—Fresh Finnish troops have been thrown into the defense of the Karelian isthmus and now are locked in a mighty struggle about 25 miles south of Viipuri, Finland's second city, Moscow indicated early today.

Evidence of the ferocity of the battle on Russia's northern front was contained in the midnight supplement of the soviet war reports. It said that one Red army unit "wiped out in three days 3,000 of the enemy, destroyed 30 guns and 80 machine guns and captured 70 other guns."

"Particularly fierce engagements took place in the area of Kuterselka and Jarvi" yesterday, the supplement said, adding that many prisoners were taken.

Reds Repulsed, Say Finns.

Finland's war bulletin said "fierce enemy attacks" had been repulsed in the western and central parts of the Karelian isthmus.

The Finns' stout resistance and the marshy terrain, which made tanks almost useless in some sections, apparently were giving the soviet forces difficulty.

Seven points which Russia announced as captured during yesterday's heavy fighting were too small to show on maps available here.

Nazis Repulsed in Poland.

German commentators continued to regard the battle on the Finnish front as merely a prelude to bigger action yet to begin. One Berlin broadcast said: "The German high command expects the main blow of the imminent soviet offensive in the south when fighting in western Europe is in full swing."

Moscow's only mention of land action in other sectors was an assertion that German reconnaissance units southeast of Stanislawow in old Poland had been rebuffed.

Long range Russian bombers were officially reported to have conducted heavy raids Tuesday night against enemy air fields at Brest-Litovsk, major Polish base; Bielostok, Pinsk, Minsk, Bobruisk, and Orshi, starting fires and exploding ammunition dumps.

"Many enemy planes were destroyed on the ground," it was announced. Eight raiders failed to return.

POLAND COUNTS ON HELP OF U. S., SAYS PREMIER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of Poland, who came to the United States at the invitation of President Roosevelt, said today he would return to London after conferences with American officials with "a high heart and full confidence that Poland can count on the support and real friendship of the United States."

The premier told reporters he had not discussed details of the delicate Russian-Polish boundary question with either President Roosevelt or Secretary of State Hull because both Poland and the United States believe the settlement should await the end of the war.

He said the Polish government in exile in London is anxious to maintain friendly relations with Russia and said the general feeling has been better since the Russian armies and the Polish underground army have made contact in Poland.

Mikolajczyk said he had presented to President Roosevelt the view that after the war conditions in Europe must be based on "The freedom of man, the freedom of state, and close coöperation among nations."

OFFICE IN A CAVE DECIDES FATE OF ALLIED INVASION

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE.

AN ADVANCE COMMAND POST OF ALLIED BUILDUP CONTROL, West England, June 14 (AP).—In this cavernous, underground, secret command post—on which success or failure of the invasion of France depends—I saw today the great traffic control system that shuffles troops about Britain and sends them across the channel.

An infinitely complicated timetable controls all troop and supply movements and when the units land they are ready to start fighting.

This heavily guarded place, lined with tunnels and subterranean barriers, is like some tremendous series of filing rooms staffed with men who can pick up a card and tell where any one of the thousands of military units are.

Dots Indicate Shipping.

Along the walls of one cave-like office were chartboards with colored dots. Each dot represented a ship, the colors denoting different types of craft.

It is upon this lonely command post Gen. Eisenhower must depend for the most vital thing in all warfare—movement in time of the right number of men, the right amount of equipment and to the right area. These men tell Eisenhower how much he can have and when.

The organization works by charts until an occasional urgent call comes in for vital replacements. Then they give those replacements a "red ball."

All Branches Represented.

The "red ball" sends the needed replacements thru, chart or no chart, and no matter how much trouble it makes in previous plans.

Everybody is represented here—army commanders, the British war office and ministry of war transport, the American war shipping administration, British and American navies, and the allied air arm.

An air representative said all was being worked out in synchronization as to the ground and air forces and that "the buildup of the air forces overseas is going right along with the buildup of the armies."

"We are not relying on captured German fields. They are damaged too much by our bombing, but we are building our own air strips," he said.

Great Victories Coming, F. D. R. Assures Chiang

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt, in a message to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, expressed confidence tonight that the allied invasion of Europe "will soon bring us greater victories which will insure the destruction of axis tyranny not only in Europe but also in Asia."

18 YANKS, NAZIS TAKE LONG ROAD BACK TOGETHER

Trail Starts at Beachhead Tents of Wounded.

BY HOWARD COWAN.

ABOARD A U. S. 9TH AIR FORCE TROOP CARRIER, June 14 (AP).—We are on the way home from France with 18 wounded, including a German sniper staring silently from his third tier litter, and another German with a wounded foot.

The other 16 are Americans.

A young infantry lieutenant from California looks up from his stretcher. "Lots of stories back there," he says from his blood-blackened lips. Shrapnel got him.

No Love for Snipers.

"I'm from the 1st division. Shrapnel got me in the arm and here," he said, pointing to his back. "And then one of them damned snipers got me in the arm." He glared at the German.

"How come they take him prisoner? We took some—but if I had to do it again. . . ."

The sullen German understood. Maj. Herman Finkelstein, Williamsport, Pa., was talking with him, in English, before the others were put aboard.

Technician Wilfred Brand, 3249 Carroll av., Chicago, Ill., copied information from the tag on an infantry sergeant from Mississippi. "Shrapnel in arm and back," he wrote.

Other men slept soundly as Capt. C. W. Stevenson, Akron, O., kept the big twin-engine Dakota flowing smoothly. The air wasn't bumpy.

Candy His Breakfast.

Navigator Lt. Kenneth Okeson, Wakefield, Neb., stood eating his breakfast of a chocolate bar.

Capt. Thomas Hamilton, Watertown, N. Y., had taken me past the blanket draped forms in the draft evacuation hospital tents on the beachhead. Most of the cases were extremity wounds of the legs and arms, many of them sustained in the fighting back toward St. Lo. And some patients were civilians, including a 12 year old French girl with a shrapnel wound in the hip. An 8 months old baby was treated there for a shrapnel wound in the foot.

Remains of Jap Troopship

SEES 2D DIVISION STRIKE

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

WITH THE 2D DIVISION IN FRANCE, June 12 [Delayed]—(AP)—As soon as the American 2d infantry division hit the beachhead the boys were saying "that's a red hot division—they look good."

They did look good going into the line. They moved up briskly, some of them at a half trot as though they couldn't get into action fast enough. They were carrying with them the fine tradition the division had in the last World war when with the 1st infantry division it shared honors of fighting each major engagement.

The men of the 2d came in behind the 1st division on the initial assault in the central beachhead sector and immediately went into action as snipers took shots at them.

Strike at Trevieres.

The 2d hit Trevieres the third day after it got into the line. It was a stumbling block for several hours for the green troops, but then units by-passed the town and left one unit behind to clean up the opposition after artillery had raked the gray stone buildings.

The commanding general of the 2d had said his troops would be thru the Cerisy forest by Saturday night. The general of the division on his left flank—they were old rivals in the first World war—shook his head and said, "they may be able to do it but I doubt it."

But next morning the 2d had plowed forward to its objective in one of the swiftest advances from the beachhead.

PRISONER'S REVENGE

BY ROGER D. GREENE.

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN FRANCE, June 12 [Delayed]—(AP).—Notes from a battle diary:

German prisoners on the western front have to be watched almost as carefully as Japanese in the Pacific.

Three British soldiers and photographer were standing in a doorway watching a column of Nazi captives passing thru a village. Suddenly there was a violent explosion. All four were killed. One of the German prisoners had tossed a hand grenade which he had somehow managed to hide.

• • •

He had served three months on Hitler's guard of honor outside the Berlin Reichschancellery. Now he wore the blue-gray uniform of the 12th panzer division, known as the Hitler Jugend, which was formed last summer of grownup Hitler youth.

• • •

"Did you know the allies were coming?" I asked Ludwig.

"Ja," he replied.

"What did you do about it," I inquired.

"The war," he snapped angrily, "is not over yet."

YANK ON BEACHHEAD TELLS 'DEAR MARGE' IN CHICAGO HE'S SAFE

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE, June 14 (AP).—More than anything else the men who came safely thru the bloody beach battle on D-day want their sweethearts, wives, and parents to know that they are all right.

Capt. Wm. Collins.

Capt. William Collins at 7030 Paxton av., Chicago, was pinned on the beach by heavy enemy fire for more than four hours and somehow he came thru it unscathed. I saw him with his unit and he said: "Look, will you just say for me, 'Dear Marge, I am all right.' Will you?" I told him sure I would.

["Marge" is Collins' wife, Marjorie, who said this was the first she had heard from her husband since the invasion began. They have a daughter, Marcia, 2. Collins entered the service with the Illinois National Guard in 1941. He was in the Sicilian campaign.]

1,300 AMERICAN WARSHIPS TAKE PART IN INVASION

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—Navy Secretary Forrestal reported today that the United States naval task force engaged in the invasion of France included more than 1,300 warships of all types. In the giant armada, he said, were the battleships Nevada, Arkansas, and Texas; the cruisers Augusta, Tuscaloosa, and Quincy, and more than 30 destroyers.

Despite the great size of the fleet, he said, the Pacific offensive "has not been and will not be diminished by our naval effort in Europe."

31 U. S. ATTACKS TURN TRUK INTO ANOTHER RABAUL

Two-Thirds of Atoll's Buildings Wrecked.

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lt. Donald Anderson.

WITH THE 13TH AIR TASK FORCE, June 15 [Thursday].—Japan's once formidable base of Truk is a mass of wreckage.

Today Liberators were making their 31st raid on the atoll, carrying out the latest task assigned to the 13th air force—victors of the South Pacific and smashers of Rabaul—of virtually blowing Truk into the sea.

From the air this is what Truk atoll looked like:

Two-thirds of the buildings on Dublon, biggest island of the group, are razed. Dublon town, on the east coast, has taken the most severe beating and nearly all of its frame billets are flattened. Two powerhouses, with their six foot thick concrete walls and roof, are still standing, but near misses by 1,000 pound bombs undoubtedly have ruined much, if not all, equipment they contain. The governor's mansion is a pile of rubble.

Seaplane Base Ruined.

To the south of the town were the seaplane bases and fuel dumps. Only blackened craters remain. On the south shore a few warehouses remain. On the west coast are what once was a submarine base and radio station. The radio buildings are gone, but two towers still stand. To the north is the only relatively undamaged area. It was a peacetime administration area, and targets there are believed not worth bombs.

Eten Island, southeast of Dublon, is the site of a main air base. Strips, which take up most of the tiny islet, were still operative as were two other strips on the atoll—and a fourth was being built—but virtually all of the fighter planes lay damaged and unrepairable.

On the first daylight raid on Truk late in March, Liberators were jumped by 125 fighters. So the Liberators gave up daylight bombing and paid night visits. But as fast as they destroyed Japanese planes, the Japs brought in new ones. The Liberators then sent heavy forces on to the small islands in the Carolines, lying between Truk and Palau and blasted them into inoperation. That stopped replacements, and to this day a supply chain is not established.

Whittling Down Fighters.

Liberators then resumed the whittling down of Truk fighters. Seldom a raid went past that didn't account for at least five fighters. Today's raiders got jumped by 20 planes, and shot down one and damaged three.

The neutralizing of Truk has not been all a one way affair. Often the harbor is full of ships, and their ack-ack guns, added to the land guns have taken a high toll. In raids to date 20 Liberators have gone down over Truk area.

One trip over Truk shows why any invasion would be costly. The atoll, with Dublon in the center, is surrounded by reefs. Even the shallowest craft would have to pass thru narrow channels.

28 JAP PLANES SHOT DOWN BY M'ARTHUR'S MEN

ADVANCED ALLIED HDQ., New Guinea, June 15 [Thursday]—(AP).—Twenty-eight Japanese airplanes were shot down over Biak Island off Dutch New Guinea and over Palau in the Carolines, Southwest Pacific headquarters announced today. The enemy attack upon Biak indicated again Japanese interest in preventing use of that base for attack upon the Philippines, 880 miles northwest.

Liberators attacked Palau Sunday and shot down 20 or 30 intercepting airplanes. They dropped 23 tons of bombs, exploding ammunition dumps, starting fires, and destroying many Japanese planes on the ground, the bulletin reported.

Intensity of ground fighting on Biak, where American infantry columns pressed westward from Mokmer toward two other Japanese-held airstrips, increased as the Japanese turned six inch guns on the advancing units. Only slight progrss was reported.

Collinsville Major Helps Shoot Down Nazi Plane

LONDON, June 14 (AP).—Among 8th air force pilots who destroyed enemy aircraft yesterday was Maj. Olin Gilbert of 419 W. Main st., Collinsville, Ill., credited with one-half a plane.

JAPS HURL ARMY ACROSS RIVER IN CHANGSHA PUSH

CHUNGKING, China, June 14 (AP).—The Chinese command announced tonight that Japanese forces driving on Changsha had crossed one of the river defenses of the Hunan province stronghold, and a spokesman said the enemy had thrown 200,000 men into battle in an effort to take the city at any cost.

One force east of the provincial capital on a second attempt threw a bridgehead across the Liuyang river, which forms part of the defenses north of Changsha, but was pinned there in severe fighting, the Chinese bulletin said. A crossing at another point was frustrated.

To the northwest, reinforced enemy troops hammered Kushan, only six miles from the capital, but the enemy was held all along the arc of the front extending from northwest to southeast of Changsha, United States planes bombed and strafed Japanese concentrations.

The spokesman, P. H. Chang, said Changsha was not encircled, but was being hemmed in on three sides.

A Chinese success was reported in western Honan where a counter-attack had driven the Japanese back after they advanced on Wensiang, 20 miles east of Tungkwan, gateway to Shensi province and China's northwest.

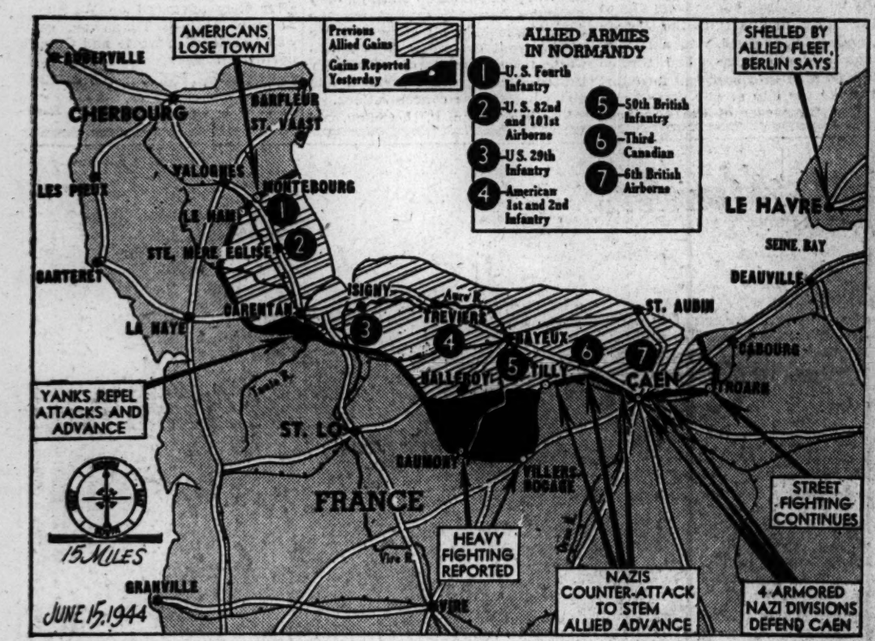
Map Shows Where American Units Fight in France—Gliders Land Allied Troops Far Inland



Legends tell latest developments in the allied campaign in France while the figures designate positions of identified American and British fighting units in the beachhead.

WOUNDED YANK DEATH RATE CUT TO 3 PER CENT

Army Medical Progress Revealed to Doctors.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.

Of the American soldiers wounded in this war, only three out of every 100 die in army hospitals, the American Medical association was told last night. In the first World war, the mortality rate among wounded was 8 per cent. The surgeons general of the army and the navy told of the improved casualty records at an A.M.A. meeting in the Medinah temple.

Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the army, said that among wounds most often fatal, abdominal injuries result in death in about 25 per cent of the cases, compared with more than 50 per cent fatalities in World War I.

Chest Wounds Less Fatal.

Penetrating chest wounds are fatal in less than 25 per cent of cases, compared with nearly 50 per cent in the previous war. Head wounds cause deaths 4 per cent of the time, reduced from 14.

The annual death rate from disease has been reduced from 156 to only 6 among 10,000 men, Gen. Kirk said in paying tribute to the professional competence of the medical corps.

This reduction exceeds 95 per cent, Gen. Kirk added.

Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the navy, reported an over-all mortality ratio "still well below 3 per cent." Transportation of all casualties by air, rather than on hospital ships, will result in a further reduction, he said.

Predict Tuberculosis End.

The prediction that both tuberculosis and malaria can be eradicated within a few years was made by Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the public health service, whose speech was read by the assistant surgeon general, Dr. R. C. Williams.

To conquer tuberculosis, every person should be x-rayed, Parran said, utilizing the new technologies and small film employed by the army and navy.

Penicillin Cures Gonorrhea.

At sectional meetings held at the A. M. A.'s 94th annual convention, army and navy physicians reported that penicillin, the new drug, is effective in treating gonorrhea and meningitis. The reports were made after a study of large groups of service men.

Penicillin is "remarkably effective" in curing gonorrhea which has resisted treatment with sulfa drugs, said Col. Thomas B. Turner and Lt. Col. Thomas H. Sternberg. In 15 hospitals, the army gave big doses of penicillin to 1,686 men with sulfonamide resistant gonorrhea. From 86 to 98 per cent were quickly cured, depending upon dosages.

MORE CONTROL PUT ON OVERSEAS OWI MAGAZINES

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—Director Elmer Davis of the office of war information has laid down a "tighter editorial control" over the contents of magazines OWI publishes for overseas distribution.

Acting Chairman McKellar [D., Tenn.] of the senate appropriations committee had criticized a recent issue of Victory magazine, an OWI publication, for an article which he said led people to think the United States is promising relief to "take care of 20,000,000 people, wandering homeless in Europe."

Davis said he had reviewed the story in question and was "in agreement with the committee that the article did go too far."

"As a result, we are setting up a tighter editorial control of the contents of our magazines," Davis added.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Harry Westerhouse, Holmen, Wis.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Edith Bentley, retired, Highland, Ind.—In the small town where I lived the main entertainment was a game of baseball after dinner before the sun went down. The only time we were allowed to go out at night was on a Friday. When we did go out it was usually to a church party or a party at some one's house.

Mrs. H. Carlson, housewife, 604 Maryland, Gary—I remember when I was young people didn't have as much money as they do now. There wasn't as much entertainment, so people didn't even think about it. The silent movies they had then cost only 5 cents and occasionally we would spend 5 cents on the movies.

A. M. Bessey, traveling railroad agent, 7130 Oleander av.—Without better means of transportation than the horse and buggy all the people in a community were brought closer together than they are now. We had a lot of common interests and then it was considered enough entertainment to visit your neighbors.

Mrs. S. Y. Patterson, retired, Olympia Fields—When I was a young girl I used to spend a lot of time with the other girls playing cards. Whist, euchre, cribbage, and casino were my favorite games. Most of the social activities centered around the church and whatever activities there were usually ended around 10 o'clock.

Mrs. E. J. Traveler, retired, Olympia Fields—There certainly weren't as many different kinds of entertainment when I was young as there are now, but we had just as much fun. Every night after dinner in the summer all the families would sit on the big stone steps and the younger people in the neighborhood played games.

Mayor Hague Arrives for Pre-Convention Work

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, N. J., arrived in Chicago yesterday one day early for the meeting of the committee on arrangements for the Democratic national convention. The committee is to meet today.

CHICAGO MUST GET AIRWAYS SHARE—KELLY

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that Chicago must spare no efforts to obtain its rightful share of terminals on the 140,000 miles of overseas routes that the civil aeronautics board has selected tentatively as desirable for post-war operation by United States air carriers.

The mayor said that, altho it will be some time before airline applications to fly such international routes are heard and decisions given, Chicago must begin its fight immediately and make certain that the city maintains its leadership as an aviation center. He classed Chicago as the logical location for many international air route terminals because of its central geographical position.

Chicago Gets Scant Mention.

Announcing the proposed routes, CAB said it was necessary for the United States to begin planning at once if it were not to be left at the post in the scramble for airline business after the war. Chicago was mentioned only once, as a point of origin for a route to Alaska.

Mayor Kelly said that in competing for post-wair air business Chicago must expand its airport facilities. He said he intended to look into the CAB proposals closely.

Commenting upon the proposals, William A. Patterson of Chicago, president of United Air Lines, Inc., said that the CAB had paved the way for full hearing, which should lead to a sound policy. He called the CAB action "a constructive contribution from the standpoint of those interested in and responsible for the future success and position of the United States in international air trade."

Technical Committee Meets.

A building terminal committee, which will design a new passenger terminal for Chicago's airport and get it under construction as soon as possible, was formed yesterday by the airlines technical committee in the Bismarck hotel. The members, airline representatives, will work with the Chicago plan commission on the entire problem of airport development and the aim of making Chicago's terminal the world's finest airport.

New Service Opens Today.

President Rickenbacker of Eastern Air Lines yesterday announced that his company would begin a new cargo and mail service today between Chicago and Miami, Fla., with stops at Indianapolis, Ind.; Nashville, Tenn.; Atlanta, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla.

At 10:50 a. m., Pennsylvania-Central Airlines corporation will resume air service between Chicago and Muskegon, Mich. This route was discontinued when commercial planes were taken by the army.

Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt reported that, on the basis of information supplied by the air lines, there would be 284 planes in service on routes thru Chicago by the beginning of 1945. This compares with the low of 150 on June 1, 1942, after the army had requisitioned commercial air transports.

LONDON SHRUNK BY INVASION; RED CROSS TO MOVE

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 14.—The invasion has shrunk swollen London to almost normal size. Taxicabs actually are hunting fares again; restaurants have seats and food for all, and lineups at theaters are made up mostly of civilians.

The huge American Red Cross club, Rainbow Corner, in the heart of Picadilly, still is host to visiting GI's but on a far smaller scale. Already, six of London's 19 clubs and dormitories sponsored by the American Red Cross have closed.

The Red Cross is making plans to open clubs in France and Red Cross girls trained to drive 2½ ton trucks outfitted as "clubmobiles" are waiting for word to cross the channel. Nine Red Cross field directors are with the troops in Normandy and many Red Cross workers are stationed at English ports to assist the wounded.

ROBBED OF WATCH AND 40 CENTS.
Police were searching last night for a Negro who strongarmed Nils Franzen, 4440 Greenwood av., at 43d st. and Oakenwald av., and robbed him of a $25 wristwatch and 40 cents.

SPRAYS SOUGHT AT PARK POOLS TO BLOCK POLIO

As one precaution against a repetition of last year's epidemic of infantile paralysis, Ald. Merryman [45th] recommended to the city council yesterday that wading pools in the city's parks be drained and equipped with overhead sprays.

With such equipment, Merryman said, the sprays will furnish amusement for children and the water will drain off, eliminating the danger of the pools becoming stagnant and diseased. He said he had received a letter from Dr. Gilbert Pond, health commissioner of Oak Park, who found that 27 of the persons stricken with infantile paralysis in the suburb last year had visited wading pools. If one carrier of the disease visits a pool, all other children there are subject to the disease, Merryman said. His resolution was referred to the committee on health for study.

The first infantile paralysis death of the year in Lake county, Ind., was reported yesterday when Miss Betty Emma Myatt, 20, succumbed to the disease in Mercy hospital, Gary. Miss Myatt, who was graduated from Hobart [Ind.] High school two weeks ago, had moved to 3909 Adams st., Gary.

Your Hair Grows Faster in Summer

"It is a well known phenomenon that in the summer the growth of hair is more rapid," says Dr. Arnold Lorand, Vienna Dermatologist.

THAT hair grows faster in the summer than at any other season is a scientific observation made by various authorities. Why not take advantage of this seasonal peculiarity by starting now to give your hair the care and attention which it deserves?

First, let Thomas remove those dandruff scales which may be causing your scalp itch. A Thomas expert can also tell you how and when to expose your hair to the sun and what to do about excessive perspiration on the scalp. Come in and see for yourself why a quarter-million other persons have turned their scalp problems over to Thomas experts. PEARL HARBOR DEFENSE WORK SCANDAL BARED

Native German Builder's Delay Aided Japs.

Wyman had issued contracts to firms with which Rohl was associated and immediately after his transfer to Hawaii he "began planning to have contracts awarded to firms in which Rohl was the controling factor."

On Dec. 7, 1940, one year before the Pearl Harbor attack, Rohl signed a contract calling for the construction and completion within six months of aircraft warning systems on Oahu and Kauai Islands. On Dec. 1, 1941, the system was still only partially completed.

Detection Prevented.

"It is not simply a matter of conjecture, but drawn from the scientific knowledge of experts, that had the permanent aircraft warning stations been operating Dec. 7, 1941, the approach of the Japanese planes would have been detected," the subcommittee declared.

"The warning station, referred to in press reports, was a temporary, movable station, limited in scope, and should not be confused with the permanent aircraft warning stations which have a sufficiently long range to have given ample protection on that day."

Not a single army officer, from Gen. Short down, and particularly Col. Wyman, registered a complaint against the contractor for the delay, the report noted, asserting they were directly at fault for failing to cancel the contract, engaging the services of other contractors available, or using the army's own personnel.

Wyman Given a Medal.

The report expressed amazement that Col. Wyman not only went unreprimanded but was transferred to the "Canol" project in northern Canada in 1942 and later was awarded the distinguished service medal "for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service in the performance of duty of great responsibility" during his stay in Hawaii. He is now reported overseas.

"Col. Wyman had been transferred from one strategic area where he constantly discriminated against the field in favor of Hans Wilhelm Rohl and his associates, established a reputation for irregularities in the performance of contracts, failed to complete important defense projects on time, and gained an unfavorable reputation as to personal habits, only to be placed in complete charge of an important project in what constituted an equally vital defense area, where he persevered in continuing to award contracts to practically the same persons and companies," the subcommittee stated.

Chairman May [D., Ky.] said it was hoped the war department would take some action based upon the report and warned that, if it did not, the investigation would continue.

SEN. D. W. CLARK 14 VOTES BEHIND IN IDAHO RACE

Boise, Idaho, June 14 (AP).—Glen H. Taylor of Pocatello, former cowboy radio entertainer, regained the lead in Idaho's Democratic senatorial nomination race tonight with 10,018 votes in 713 of 845 precincts, compared with 10,004 for Sen. D. Worth Clark.

Clark often has voted against the administration.

Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen won the Republican senatorial nomination by nearly 2 to 1 over Ben Johnson.

Because of the remoteness of missing precincts in northern Idaho returns were slow in coming in and it may be days before the final results are known.

PRO-F. D. R. BLOC OPENS COURT FIGHT IN TEXAS

Austin, Tex., June 14 (AP).—The Supreme court today granted permission to pro-Roosevelt Democrats to file a mandamus suit to compel the Democratic state executive committee to certify for printing on the July 22 primary ballot the names of Presidential electors chosen by pro-Roosevelt forces in a rump state convention.

The court ordered a hearing Monday, June 19.

It also decreed that Presidential electors named by the regularly constituted Democratic state convention be made parties to the suit.

The Roosevelt supporters contended electors are state officers and must be chosen by ballot rather than by convention. The regular convention named Presidential electors free to support any Democrat of their choice if the National Democratic convention does not meet certain state convention demands.

Navy Pilot Hurt as Plane Crashes at Douglas Field

A navy pilot was injured and burned yesterday when his carrier-type plane crashed and burst into flames in Douglas field, adjacent to the Douglas aircraft plant, Higgins road, near Park Ridge. He was rescued and taken to the hospital at the Great Lakes Naval Training center. The pilot, whose name was not disclosed, is attached to the Glenview naval air station.

DEWEY NAMES REPUBLICAN AS ALBANY OFFICIAL

Albany, N. Y., June 14 (AP).—Gov. Dewey of New York today appointed Ernest B. Morris, Albany, a Republican deputy attorney general, to replace Albany county's Democratic District Atty. John P. Delaney, who resigned in the midst of a Dewey-ordered investigation of crime in Albany county.

Dewey has been battling for a year what he calls the Democratic "O'Connell machine" of Albany county. Delaney quit Monday night in a letter to the governor which said developments in the investigation indicated a design to make him a "political football."

Morris' appointment was announced shortly after George E. Monaghan, special prosecutor in the Albany investigation, estimated a $1,500,000 a year annual take from what he termed "clearing house and policy rackets" in Albany.

NEW GUN MOUNT GIVES ONE MAN FIREPOWER OF 4

Tribune-Treasury Show Has Working Model.

Music for Show

The navy aviation technical training school band will play at 7 p. m. tonight from the bandstand in the war products exhibit grounds. The Navy pier band, which entertained visitors to the show last night, will play again tomorrow evening and Saturday noon. Portions of the entertainment will be broadcast by station W-G-N.

At least four soldiers normally are needed to man four machine guns, but with the new multiple mount on display at the War Products exhibit at Tribune Tower one soldier is enough. This mount carries four .50 caliber machine guns and coördinates them into a single weapon which can squirt thousands of bullets a minute.

The War Products show, which is nearing the end of its first week, is sponsored by the United States treasury, in coöperation with THE TRIBUNE and armament manufacturers. Open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., the exhibit will continue thru July 9.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The multiple mount is manufactured by the Kimberly-Clark corporation, Neenah, Wis. Armored or installed on a trailer or half track truck, the multiple guns become a rolling pillbox.

Mount Motor Powered.

There are two of these four-gun units at the War Products show. One is mounted on a trailer and the other on a platform so visitors may see how the guns move smoothly up and down and from side to side, powered by a small battery driven motor. The guns themselves are produced by the A. C. Spark Plug division of General Motors corporation.

Visitors also may see the army signal corps exhibit of a complete radio broadcasting station mounted on a 1½ ton truck and cargo trailer. These mobile stations, which can move at 50 miles an hour, are being used in the European invasion to direct battle operations of large bodies of troops.

Remarkably Versatile.

The broadcasting unit is a marvel of compactness and requires only two operators and two drivers. The station can be operated by remote control a mile away with field telephones and reels of wire, or if the truck is damaged, the equipment can be transferred quickly without the use of tools. The Hallicrafters company, Chicago, makes the amplifiers and transmitters and mounts the equipment in the trucks and trailers.

One of the principal reasons for the accuracy of American bombing is found in the electronic automatic pilot displayed in the big tent by the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company, Minneapolis, Minn. This device, until recently a military secret, is used for precision bombing because it holds the plane on the exact course determined by the bombardier.

[ADVERTISMENT]

"NO MORE TROUBLE WITH CONSTIPATION!"

Says Long-Time Sufferer Who Tried Laxative Cereal!

If you, too, are disappointed with pills and purgatives, be sure to read this unsolicited letter!

"For several years I was afflicted with common constipation. I tried various remedies, but got only temporary relief. Several months ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN each morning, drinking water freely through the day. I have since never had the slightest trouble with constipation. My gratitude to KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN." Mr. H. M. Riley, 11 E. Division Street, Chicago, Ill.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet — because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They work by helping the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't cheer its welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

ARMY AND NAVY WILL PLAN HERE FOR WAR VOTING

64 Confer Tomorrow on U. S. Balloting.

While Cook county election officials were taking steps yesterday to assure overseas voters at least 63 days between printing of ballots and election day, word came from Washington, D. C., that 50 army officials and 14 naval officers would meet here tomorrow and Saturday for a soldier vote seminar.

Lt. Col. Hamilton Robinson, who arranged the conference, said the two day session would familiarize officers with army and navy plans inside the United States to facilitate service voting. Officers having charge of voting overseas will meet in Washington next week. Full opportunity for the 10 million eligible voters in war services was promised by Col. Robert Cutler, coördinator of soldier voting for Secretary of War Stimson.

Jarecki Expects 100,000 Votes.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, announcing yesterday that everything possible is being done to expedite the printing and mailing of ballots, estimated that at least 100,000 service ballots would be cast in Cook county. This change from previous estimates of 60,000 was based on more than 10,000 applications already received.

Illinois laws set Aug. 29 as the last date for independent candidates to file petitions. Objections and withdrawals should be taken care of by Sept. 3, Judge Jarecki estimated, allowing 63 days for the ballots to be mailed, marked, and returned by Nov. 7.

Barrett Opinion Followed.

Liberal interpretation of the state election laws by Jarecki, including the elimination of acknowledgment of applications and use of federal postcard applications or of the ordinary penny postcard, are in accord with an opinion issued by Atty. Gen. Barrett at the request of Gov. Green, a copy of which was forwarded to the election commissioners.

Mayor Kelly, who has advocated the federal ballot plan, questioned the authority of state and county officials to make liberal interpretation of the election laws.

Lt. Joseph B. Clark Lost in Action Over Romania

Second Lt. Joseph B. Clark, 24, navigator on a B-24 bomber, has been missing in action over Romania since May 31, his aunt, Miss Viola Johnson, 323 Peyton av., Geneva, was informed yesterday by the war department. Lt. Clark received his wings last December at a training center in Texas.

sible loss. Nothing would so encourage the men actually carrying on the battle, he said, as effective action along such lines plus "military leadership without interference."

"The underlying issue," Gov. Bricker continued, "is absolutism, burocratic control of government. I believe there should be an over-all war council, bringing together all heads of departments concerned with the conduct of the war, producing an integration of policy for the battle front and also for the home production front. The overlapping authority of boards and bureaus should be eliminated."

What the country needs more than anything else, said the governor, is the restoration of congress as a coördinate branch of government and as the policy making branch.

"What we have under the current regime," said Mr. Bricker, "is a vast number of policy making boards and commissions that are a law unto themselves, making laws, administering burocracy made laws and meting out punishment for violations of these purported laws that congress never contemplated. An end must be put to that sort of thing if our form of government is to survive. Even our Supreme court has entered the policy making field in recent decisions, the latest of which is that in the insurance case reversing the precedents of 75 years."

The governor condemned the practice of the CIO in assessing unions for political contributions.

For World Organization.

"Labor," he said, "knows that if the government regiments agriculture and industry it is going to regiment labor also. Then labor will lose its rights, including collective bargaining. A certain radical leadership, the CIO, is exacting funds from unions for "political purposes, which I believe is a violation of law or, if not, should be made so."

Gov. Bricker said that because of her military might and great production capacity America must take the leadership in the post-war world as it has in the waging of the war.

"I believe," he said, "in a definite organization of all nations to preserve peace. There should be a continual meeting place of the nations to iron out troubles and anticipate friction points that lead to war, to stabilize currencies, the derangement of which lead to war, to establish orderly trade relations, to deal with boundaries, air rights, etc.

"With the greatest military forces we would be called upon to furnish the greater part of an international police force. Our people are not going to allow our forces to be put under the command of others. We will coöperate but to subordinate us to other authority would be a confession that representative government is not effective.

"We want no military alliances. We don't need them. Besides they would lead to war. Our duty is to bring about peace in the world and preserve our own domestic way of life."

Gov. Bricker tonight addressed a dinner of the "78 club," composed of freshmen senators and representatives of the 78th congress.

The city council yesterday confirmed Mayor Kelly's appointment of James B. Cashin to a three year term to succeed himself as civil service commissioner. Cashin, a Negro attorney, will complete his first term as a commissioner July 1.

STAY ON JOBS DESPITE ROWS, AFL HEAD SAYS

With the invasion now on, production of vital war materials must not be halted on any account, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said last night in a talk in Waukegan Township High school. The talk was made at a program observing the 50th anniversary of organized labor in Lake county.

"No matter how bitter your grievances may be, stay on the job," Green advised. "Arrange to have disputes settled thru peaceful means by the national war labor board or other agencies. This is the first and all-important article in the code of discipline which we expect every loyal AFL member to subscribe to until victory is won."

More than 1½ million AFL members are now in the uniform of their country and almost 7 million AFL members are serving in the army of production whose achievements have made the invasion possible, Green said.

G.O.P. DELEGATES WANT CANDIDATE AT CONVENTION

Delay in Acceptance to Be Opposed.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

The Republican national convention will insist upon seeing and hearing its nominee for President, it was reported yesterday in the Stevens hotel G. O. P. headquarters.

Mrs. R. S. Beightler.

All segments of the party organization thruout the country seem to be agreed that this year there should be no postponed acceptance of the nomination. In 1940, Wendell Willkie delayed his acceptance speech, and when he made it in Elwood, Ind., it was a shock to most Republicans.

Bricker Due June 22.

Gov. Bricker of Ohio, an avowed candidate for the nomination, will arrive June 22 and be on hand thruout the convention, which opens June 26. Gov. Dewey of New York is likely not to be in Chicago, but if the balloting is completed June 28 he could make an overnight journey in time to address the delegates.

Bricker's busy headquarters in the Stevens hotel buzzed even faster yesterday after the arrival of Mrs. Robert S. Beightler, national secretary of the Bricker for President clubs. Her husband is the major general commanding the 37th division, which took Bougainville and Munda and fought on Guadalcanal.

"I'm for Gov. Bricker for President because he is a man who can give us the kind of government I'd like to see our fighters come home to," Mrs. Beightler said.

Dirksen Seeks Place on Ticket.

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin, Tazewell county, will open Stevens hotel headquarters in a few days. Altho he says he is aiming at the Presidency, G. O. P. leaders believe he has in mind second place on the ticket, but point out that even for this he would be handicapped by his lack of Illinois delegates. The Maryland convention indorsed him for Vice President.

Chairman Harrison E. Spangler and about 25 members of the G. O. P. national committee staff will arrive from Washington today. At least until after the convention, their main headquarters will be in Chicago. Because of transportation difficulties, there is a good chance that the staff will remain thru the campaign.

Three More Join Bricker.

Whipple Jacobs, president of the Belden Manufacturing company, and chairman of the planning committee of the Chicago forces of Bricker, announced three additions to his group. They are Sterling Morton, president of the Morton Salt company; Homer Hartz, president of the Morton Frog and Crossing company, and Charles H. Woods, chief counsel for the Santa Fe railroad.

YOUNG SCHOLARSHIP WINNER LEAVING TO ATTEND THE CITADEL

Elwood Jerome, 16, of 3941 Pine Grove av., will leave tomorrow for Charleston, S. C., where he will attend The Citadel, military college of South Carolina, on a full four-year scholarship which he won recently.

Elwood Jerome.

Two scholarships to The Citadel, which cover all college expense, are awarded annually by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. They are limited to beneficiaries who are residents of Illinois.

Jerome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jerome, was graduated Sunday from Roosevelt Military academy, Aledo, Ill., with top honors. He will study mechanical engineering at The Citadel.

Trolley and Truck Crash; 6 Injured; Cattle Escape

A street car and a cattle truck collided and caught fire at Ashland av. and Pershing rd. early yesterday, resulting in injury to six persons and escape of 17 head of cattle from the truck. None was seriously hurt, police said. It took several policemen three hours to round up the cattle. The truck driver, Elwood Fink, 29, of Reinbeck, Ia., and the motorman, J. Griffin, 36, were both charged with reckless driving for hearing today in Safety court.

QUALIFIED SPOKESMEN.

A friend in Indiana agrees that a spokesman for midwestern Republicans should be given a place on the convention program and nominates for the role Mr. Charles A. Halleck, the distinguished Indiana congressman.

As matters stand, the convention will be addressed on its opening day by Gov. Warren of California, the temporary chairman. He will yield to Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the permanent chairman, who will then be heard. Former President Hoover of California and New York and Mrs. Luce of Connecticut have also been assigned places on the program. Nowhere, as yet, has provision been made for a speaker who can express the views of the Republicans in the great central area of the country. The omission is striking and, tho attention has been called to it frequently, nothing has been done by way of correcting the lack of balance in the program.

As our Indiana friend says:

"A Republican victory in the national election depends on the voters in those states that make up the heart of this country—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and all those states lying between the Alleghany mountains on the east and the Rockies on the west. After full credit is given to those residing outside this area who are determined to end the reign of the New Deal by electing a Republican President in November, the fact remains that the issue will be decided by the ballots of the great body of voters living in the heart of the United States.

"This being true, the Republican convention program committee will be weakening the chances for success if they fail to include among the speakers a leader from the middle west. Almost any one of the states in the heart of our continent can produce a man able to present the ideas of this section, who would contribute largely to the election of the nominees chosen."

He goes on to discuss the qualifications of Mr. Halleck, with emphasis on his understanding of post-war needs and how to meet them.

Mr. Halleck is well qualified and it is no disparagement of him to say, as our friend has said, that there are many other middle westerners who could also give effective voice to the thoughts of the people they represent. Ohio, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska, and Wisconsin have notably strong Republican spokesmen. Illinois has Sen. Brooks and Rep. Jessie Sumner, to mention only two. Missouri might nominate Rep. Dewey Short. A dozen satisfactory names could be presented, but in spite of all this talent, the convention, under present arrangements, is to hear only from the representatives of seaboard states, as if the Republican revival had not begun in the middle states and as if they had not always been the party's main reliance for victory.

APPEALS FROM THE WAR LABOR BOARD.

Three judges of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, all of them promoted to the bench from his department of justice by Mr. Roosevelt, recently held that the courts cannot review orders of the war labor board.

The appellants in the case were a group of New England trucking employers who asserted that the WLB order that they increase the pay of their employes was unlawful. One of their grounds in seeking an appeal was that if they refused to obey the WLB they faced the seizure of their properties by the President. To this contention the court replied:

"Neither the broad constitutional power nor the broad statutory power of the President to take and use property in furtherance of the war effort depends upon any action of the war labor board. Any action of the board would be informatory and, at most, advisory. Appellants' demand that we annul and enjoin the board's order therefore amounts to a demand that we prevent the board from giving the President advice which appellants contend would be erroneous."

Regardless of the legality of the court's findings, the practical effect is most disturbing. The Smith-Connally anti-strike bill, which gave the WLB its only statutory recognition, provided no penalties for refusal to obey an order of the board. The appeal court now says that an employer cannot go to the courts to learn whether the board is acting legally. The only recourse left open to an employer who doubts the legality of the board's order is to refuse to obey it and have his plant seized on a Presidential order. The courts have not yet said that such seizures cannot then be contested legally. But this is certainly not a procedure designed to promote efficiency in war production.

In their opinion, the appellate judges asserted that the legislative history of the Smith-Connally act showed that congress had no intention of granting appeals from the orders of the WLB. In view of the circumstances in which the act was passed, it is difficult to discern just what the intentions were. The act was passed in anger by a Democratic congress. Its members were mad at John L. Lewis, but, as was noted in these columns at the time, they produced a law giving powers which the President probably would not use against labor unions, but which he could be expected to use against employers, as he has used them.

The fundamental purpose of congress was to stop strikes. The fundamental purpose of Mr. Roosevelt and Atty. Gen. Biddle in administering the law has been to avoid any offense to the CIO contributors to the fourth term campaign fund. Thus it is folly to talk about the intentions of congress. Congress should have known better, knowing Mr. Roosevelt, but it didn't, and now that its omissions have been called to attention by the courts it should remedy them.

Mr. Roosevelt, on the excuse of a war emergency, has created a whole series of extraordinary boards and commissions which he has pretended to invest with wide powers thru executive orders. His agencies have proceeded as if even the executive orders are not the limit of their power, but that, on the contrary, they can take any action that pleases them and no citizen has a right to dispute their orders. This is pure executive tyranny and it finds no sanction in the Constitution.

Congress must provide adequate judicial review from the orders of all these executive agencies, including the WLB, if the nation is to continue to live under law. If congress fails to do so, both it and the courts might as well shut up shop and go home and admit that we are living under a dictatorship.

TROUBLE FROM DE GAULLE.

Gen. De Gaulle has landed in Normandy. It is to be hoped that his presence there does not imply any diminution of Gen. Eisenhower's freedom of action in all matters concerning the invasion.

A report from the Normandy front says that the De Gaullist officers who were assigned to go with the invasion forces have made difficulties by advising the French not to accept the currency specially issued for emergency uses. Mr. Roosevelt told the reporters that the De Gaulle representatives in Washington had been consulted in detail before the money was issued and that their suggestions were accepted. What they objected to in design was corrected and the currency as issued was supposed to have consent. Nevertheless the first act of the De Gaullist officers was to make a difficulty.

The apparent present object of the De Gaulle committee is to force a recognition of its organization as the government of France by the American military command. The general's followers have obtained the support of some of the small exiled governments in London. Their big catch was the Russian recognition. Gen. Eisenhower's judgment has been against such a political predetermination. He has been supported in Washington. The British say they will follow the American lead.

The predetermination of French government would put the De Gaullists in control of territory as it was liberated and give them the upper hand. They would have supervision of elections. They would set up their tribunals for the trial of Frenchmen. They could institute a terror which might easily give them the country regardless of what free political sentiment would decide. The Vichy government, knowing its case to be desperate, is taking desperate measures to satisfy the Nazis. In between are the French who broke with Vichy after the landing in Algiers, but, altho aiding the allied forces, are proscribed by the De Gaullists.

The American command has tried to keep French politics out of the military operations. That was to be done by giving civil administration in the localities to the authorities found there. This arrangement could have worked smoothly without any detriment to the political action France would take when it was free to hold elections and form its government. Meanwhile partisan revenge would at least be postponed until it was not a part of the military campaign.

De Gaulle is adroit. He has had his way in Africa. He is now hammering at the American opposition. If it stands firm France may be spared a period of tribulation.

REP. FISH MEETS HIS OPPOSITION.

The Rockland county Republican committee in New York indorsed the candidacy of Rep. Hamilton Fish by a vote of 127 to 63 the other night, but only after a bit of maneuvering that illustrates how desperately the internationalists and New Deal fellow travelers would like to remove Rep. Fish from congress. A group of so-called Republican leaders who oppose Rep. Fish tried to get the committee to indorse the candidacy of Augustus W. Bennett, a Newburgh, N. Y., lawyer. After Rep. Fish won the Republican indorsement the Rockland county Democratic committee indorsed Bennett as the Democratic candidate.

Rep. Fish has earned the undying hatred of a small group of people in his own party because he believes that America ought to be governed by and for Americans and not for the benefit of European aristocracy. These people hate him so much they would try to ring in a Democrat on the Republican ticket if it would displace him. This dodge, of course, was no more successful than any of the other conspiracies and smears of which Rep. Fish has been target.

Rep. Fish returned from the first World war with a remarkable battle record. He kept a reserve commission in the intervening years and was ready to set forth again in this war. He even took a refresher course at an army camp a few months before Pearl Harbor. Rep. Fish has been a congressional leader in the move to keep American attention focused on American interests. It is hard to traduce the patriotism of a man like Rep. Fish, but the internationalists haven't failed for lack of trying. They failed because the people know how dishonest and despicable their attempts were. Rep. Fish was returned to congress in 1942 and there is no reason to believe he won't be reelected this November, the antics of Rockland county's pseudo-Republican minority notwithstanding.

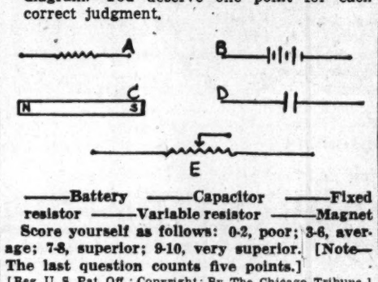
Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of these prominent Americans is a twin?
   Dewey Roosevelt Stassen Bricker
2. Which one of these juices is most difficult to jell without adding pectin?
   Cherry Apple Grape Raspberry
3. The word "string" is associated with which one of these vegetables?
   Beets Corn Tomatoes Beans
4. Which one of these farm implements is least likely to be used in the spring?
   Harrow Tedder Corn planter Breaking plow
5. Which one of these workers is most likely to employ a bolster?
   Housewife Plumber Teacher Physician
6. Try to identify the symbols sketched herewith which are used in a simple electrical circuit diagram. You deserve one point for each correct judgment.



——Battery ——Capacitor ——Fixed resistor ——Variable resistor ——Magnet

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

RIDDLE IN BRONZE.

Browsing around in search of civic curiosities, a scout for this column invaded the rarely explored region back of the Art institute. There on the brink of a sunken garden which is among the choicer jewels of Grant park, he found a bronze statue of an old man in medieval costume, riding a horse toward the lake. It was labeled "Folke Filbyter."

* * *

The scout came running to us in high excitement, wanting to know about Folke Filbyter, his life and times. We brushed him off with evasions, such as: "Legendary character, apparently Swedish. Nobody seems to know more. The correct pronunciation? Let's call him Flea-Biter."

* * *

But the scout was persistent. He rounded up a group of wise men and submitted the Flea-Biter problem. Present were degrees from doctor to bachelor, representing Oxford, the University of Chicago, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and other seats of learning, as well as a couple of art schools. Everybody was baffled. Even the savant who had been summoned as a Scandinavian expert said, "Wait until I go home and consult my Swedish encyclopedia."

* * *

Well, we punched the bag over the Flea-Biter at dinner for about a week without results. Then the doctor of philosophy from the U. of C. came across with a written report, thus:

"In 'Carl Milles, An Interpretation,' by Meyric R. Rogers [Yale University Press, 1940], I find the following:

"Folke Filbyter, founder of the Folkunga dynasty . . . a legendary figure. . . . The Folkungs were a powerful family who came to royal dignity during the early middle ages. . . . The figure represents Folke Filbyter on his legendary journey thru Sweden in search of his only grandson."

* * *

The Britannica, altho copious on the subject of Sweden, knows nothing of Filbyter and the Folkungs. The seminar adjourned with a decision to take up, at its next meeting, the tribal status of the Yugoslavian Indians who are riding bronze Balkan ponies at the foot of Congress street.

RETURN OF FAITH.

Have I, you ask, lived in the lonely land
'Mongst many men, and yet from all apart,
And felt despair, with cold, constricting hand
Close round the gushing fountains of the heart?
And know I what it is, through mists of gray,
Shut out from God and desolate, to grope
On treacherous ground, too sick of soul to pray,
And much too grieved and hurt of heart to hope?

And have I watched in fear the fall of night,
And even seen with dread the morning break—
The mournful morning that but brought to light
A dim, bleak world of emptiness and ache?
And have I felt that love was at an end,
Seen glory fade from earth and brightness pall,
Known anguish and forsakenness? My friend,
The things that hurt you now, I've known them all.

But take you hope, for mists shall all be lifted,
And beauty be renewed, and, as before,
Shall glory shine, and time, with healing gifted,
Into each throbbing wound its balm shall pour.
And faith, now cold and torpid, reawaking,
Shall bring you peace that drives out all despair.
The heart that's bruised and filled with pain, and breaking
With loneliness and grief, God enters there.

Story of Evasion Day.

Still reading the day's momentous war news, Mr. Flibberty kicked open the front door of his FHA bungalow and stumbled over a bridge table, one of a half dozen scattered around the living room. "O, O," he mused, "dried-out tuna fish sandwiches, a dab of potato salad on a withered lettuce leaf, warmed-over coffee—bah-h-h!"

"That you, dear?" called out his wife over the clatter of china in the kitchen. "I completely forgot to tell you that I took the Tuesday Bridge club for Mabel this week . . . and did I get the dirt . . . that brazen Mrs. Thing of the horsey set finally got her divorce . . . Flora Whatchamacallit just bought a new mink coat—I don't see how she could afford it on her husband's salary . . . and, what do you think, Edna Soandso is going to have another baby . . . Mr. Whoosis came home intoxicated the other night—his sweet little wife is such a trusting soul . . . I haven't had time to get dinner, but there's a lot of darling sandwiches left over . . . you won't mind, will you dear? . . . dear-r-r? . . ."

At that very moment, however, Mr. Flibberty is parked on a stool in the Regal Roadside Refuge and Restaurant waiting for a double hamburger with all the trimmings. Gus, the proprietor, is discoursing vociferously on the war: "Imag' what dat guy, Romm, woulda gif' fer a tip-off on de evasion, hey Mr. Flibb?" Hig.

SONNET FOR SAPPHO.

How was it, Phaon, in that long ago
When Sappho loved you? Had she words so sweet
A lover's heart must frolic, and his feet
Be set to music no one else could know?
Perhaps her lips were sweeter than her words,
More eloquent her soft, endearing eyes;
Or was she all enigma, all surprise,
As merry and as secret as the birds?

Singing, she told her love and then was still.
Tho lovers die, their fragile dreams remain;
And so we hear that ancient heartbreak spill
Across the centuries like present pain.
Thus made immortal, Faithless One, we know
That Sappho loved you once, long, long ago.

LIVER IN PERNICIOUS ANEMIA.

ALTHO medical science has pointed the way to the control of pernicious anemia there is much about the malady that is not understood. The feeding of liver and the extract has changed what was formerly a well nigh fatal disease into a condition that can be lived with, if not conquered.

Because this substance has been so beneficial, we have thought of the ailment as a deficiency disorder. Liver supplied some missing link in the diet. As many a victim can testify, under its influence, improvement is striking.

But there is probably another element which demands more study. There must be something in the blood which is actually destroying the red cells. Disintegration of these delicate bits of protoplasm may be brought about by a number of factors—for example, a higher percentage of certain chemicals in the circulation.

This may explain why transfusions are so valuable. Nothing seems to give the sufferer quite so much of a boost as a pint of vital fluid. The constitution of the circulation may be changed just enough to stop deterioration. In addition, it furnishes billions of new oxygen carriers.

Many physicians are familiar with the curious course which this affliction pursues. The increasing pallor of the victim is first observed by friends. When a count is made, the reds are found to have dropped from the average of five million to one-fourth that number. Sooner or later the patient may complain of numbness in the legs, sore mouth, diarrhea, and general weakness. In most instances, afternoon fever is exhibited.

A generation ago, there was no treatment that was really effective. Regardless of what was done, a few weeks later, strength would return and most of the symptoms would disappear. The sufferer would assert, "I am so much better. The last medicine you gave me was just what I needed."

The doctor no doubt had prescribed iron, Fowler's solution of arsenic, or hydrochloric acid. For a month or so, the patient may feel perfectly normal, fever and diarrhea will vanish, and the red cells will rise as high as four million. Unfortunately, after a short period of well being, the manifestations may return in full force and the vitality of the individual gradually seep away. Six or eight such episodes may develop in a few months' time.

Repeating the same medicines employed hitherto will fail to bring relief. Neither can we ascribe the sense of comfort to the eating of liver because it had not been thought of then. Only after it was demonstrated that the extract could be taken with ease were we able to understand the rôle of this material.

There is every reason to believe that, in addition to liver, the sufferer should receive either red cells or transfusions periodically. Otherwise we may fail to neutralize the toxic agent which is present. Apparently neither hydrochloric acid nor ventriculin will do this completely. We know that these corpuscles cannot be born unless liver is available but, every now and then, this program will require reënforcements from healthy donors to counteract the solution of new, or the destruction of older cells.

We must not forget that hydrochloric acid is commonly lacking in the gastric juice, particularly in the later decades of life. This is a simple remedy to administer. Its effect on the lining of the stomach is to stimulate the production of the elements which will stop the breaking down of the chief constituents of blood—the red cells. Such a plan helps to neutralize the poisons which, if allowed to operate, will injure healthy corpuscles severely.

NO EFFECT.

Mrs. B. writes: Is it true that a woman who has had rheumatic fever cannot have children?

REPLY.

The disorder in question has no influence on childbearing. On the other hand, if the heart has been injured [mitral stenosis], pregnancy may be inadvisable.

REMOTE PAIN.

F. G. writes: What causes a terrific pain in the skull when bending over?

REPLY.

Overfilling of the veins, due to pressure on the abdomen. There is a temporary slowing down of the flow from the head region. Some will observe the same symptom following a sharp cough.

NOT ANCHORED.

E. S. writes: A recent X-ray showed both kidneys floating. What effect does this have on the general health?

REPLY.

Probably none. The renal organs seldom stay put. They are held in place chiefly by pads of fat.

SPOILED FOOD.

A. G. writes: Do fresh mushrooms become poisonous when they are a week old and turn a dark tan color?

REPLY.

All meats and vegetables are subject to bacterial decay—spoilage. If the germs concerned produce toxins, the edibles are unfit for consumption.

Mute Candidate.

This department's candidate for the Vice Presidency arrived in town this week, all set for the Republican national convention. You surely have not forgotten his name! He is the second half of our Hickenlooper and Hoopengarner ticket [two helicopters on every roof, polysyllabics on every palate, and not a tongue-tied voter left in the United States], his friends call him Hoopy, and he has a nice outlay of space at convention headquarters, the Stevens hotel. He was wearing gray hair, a brown suit, and a pleasant smile when we dropped in. The latter soon changed.

"Mr. Hoopengarner," we said warmly, "this is a pleasure."

"Yeah?" Mr. Hoopengarner said wanly.

Mr. Hoopengarner tried to hide his delight with an indifferent flick of a cigaret ash.

"Aren't you interested?" we asked him.

"Not at all!" with what he doubtless thought passed for a show of firmness.

"That," we reminded him, "is what Mr. Dewey says."

Mr. Hoopengarner blanched, shifted his chair a little, and flicked another cigaret ash. Like Br'er Rabbit, Mr. Roosevelt, and Mr. Dewey, he said nothing.

At this we tried the personal approach.

"Mr. Hoopengarner," we said sweetly, "if you are to be our dark horse, the people are entitled to know your name. What do your initials, A. A., stand for?"

"What does A. A. usually stand for?" he asked sourly.

"Anti-aircraft," we informed him. "Ack-ack."

"Wrong," he said.

"Augustus Adolphus," suggested a kibitzer.

"Just say A. A.," Mr. Hoopengarner pleaded, with a slight quiver.

"No," we said. "If the public is to be asked to vote for you, the public has a right to know all about your private life."

"Arthur," he said weakly. "The worst name in the world, but don't tell your Arthur Evans."

"Arthur Arthur?" we repeated.

"No, Arthur—O, well, the next name is a disease. Addison's disease."

"O. Arthur Addison Hoopengarner?"

"That's right."

He still seemed unhappy about it all, so we asked what he thought of the platform we had worked up. He hadn't thought much about it.

"And how do you like our suggestion of Xenophon G. [for George] Hassenplug for secretary of state?"

"Not bad," he said, showing a flicker of interest.

We told him we didn't want to be too bold about the matter and force our selections upon him, but had he considered Mr. Carbon Petroleum Dubbs for secretary of the interior?

"I'm not a candidate!" he shouted.

Now, if a man is the people's choice, one should remonstrate with the people, never with him, because naturally he has no say-so in the matter if he is drafted, but one can always beg the question. We did just that. We asked him if he had any ideas for our platform.

At this he sat up briskly. A smile irradiated his grim face, and he crushed his cigaret in a bowl. "Yes!" he cried happily. "Elect Bricker!"

"O," we said weakly. "Is that why all those Bricker pictures are around you here?"

"Yes," he said. "This is Gov. Bricker's headquarters."

That is HIS story.

A RECOMMENDATION FOR GOV. BRICKER.

Chicago, June 10.—Gov. Bricker of Ohio is the only pre-convention candidate actively campaigning for the Presidential nomination in either major party. It is interesting to read what his wife says of his qualifications. She thinks he would be a good President:

"Because of his innate qualities of courage to do the thing he believes is the thing to do regardless of the reaction on him personally; because of his administrative experience over a long period of years; because of his accomplishments during his three terms as governor; because of his ability to get along with and understand people.

"Along with that is his ability to pick out a good man and the right man for the job. But his motive probably stands out in my thinking about his making a good President. It's not the job he's working for. It's the principle. He feels very keenly he should help preserve our American system of representative government."

Harriet Day Bricker knows the candidate well. We hope that her recommendation will be carefully considered at the Republican convention.

COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF PRAYER?

Chicago, June 12.—Acting in the capacity of commander in chief of a nation engaged in war, Mr. Roosevelt is naturally subjected to criticisms from one side or another for every move he makes. That is to be expected and, indeed, understandable, for are we not fighting to retain that freedom of speech? But how, in the name of all we hold sacred, can any one find fault with a leader who calls his countrymen together to join with him in a prayer for a speedy victory, a just and lasting peace, and the safe return of our men. O. C. Smith of Springfield quotes a passage from the Bible, and accuses Mr. Roosevelt of exploiting that prayer for political purposes. May I humbly quote another passage: "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there also am I."

Even those who do not trust the intentions of the President must concede that there is infinite value in combined prayer and a "continuance of prayer."

I have been reading about so many dogs disappearing, and this is one reason why.

BUT NOT FROM THE SEWER.

Kansas City, Kas., June 11.—It seems a character named Willkie, who considers himself pretty good at campaign oratory, is now going to publish a platform for the Republican convention to adopt. Even tho he has been thoroly walked on he wants to say it "again and again and again." He might well head his platform "The Voice from the Tomb." FRANK S. BROWN.

THE ROSELAND AMBULANCE.

Chicago, June 9.—A few days ago a workman had his leg crushed at the Roseland pumping station at 104th st. and Harvard av. and was otherwise very critically injured, requiring immediate hospitalization. Directly across the street, idly reposing on the floor of the city fire station, is a modern ambulance, presented to the city of Chicago by the Roseland post No. 49, American Legion, thru the generosity of the citizens of Roseland and community. Had this ambulance been used, as it should have been, to rush the injured man to the hospital, his life might have been saved. However, it seems that the captain in charge of the station had instructions not to use the ambulance without permission of his superiors. He did not or could not get this permission and valuable time was lost.

The injured man died today, despite expert surgical attention and blood transfusions. It seems a pity, in a life or death emergency, that a fire captain could not use his own discretion. I am sure had he permitted the ambulance to bring the man to the Roseland hospital and then was censured by his superiors, he would have been supported 100 per cent by public opinion. Rules or no rules, if a human life depended upon any decision of mine, I would have used my own best judgment and taken a chance on convincing my superiors that it was the proper and humane thing to do. RACINE THOMPSON.

THE WOMAN VOTER'S BURDEN.

Urbana, Ill., June 8.—Authorities estimate that this election the women will outnumber the men at the polls for the first time in history. If this is true, the fate of the Republic rests in the hands of our women.

A decade or so ago we heard this slogan, "Give the women a vote and clean up politics." The women got their vote, but did it clean up politics? No. Were there ever any machines stronger and more ruthless than the present New Deal, Kelly-Nash, etc.? Was ever any man perpetuated in a high office until he began to feel that he was indispensable, and subjected the good of the nation to his own personal and social ambitions? Are the women of America going to betray the trust which the ardent suffragettes worked so diligently to secure, and return the man who for 12 years has proven again and again and again that his first thoughts and loyalties are not for them? God grant that they have the reasoning power and the foresight to choose wisely. AN AMERICAN.

HAUPT GETS LIFE AS JUDGE BOWS TO JURY'S PLEA

Death Should Be Penalty, Barnes Believes.

Hans Max Haupt, German born paper hanger and convicted traitor to the United States, was sentenced to life imprisonment and fined $10,000 yesterday by Judge John P. Barnes in federal District court.

It was Haupt's second treason trial. The first trial resulted in a death sentence for Haupt and two others, but the verdict was set aside by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which ordered a new trial.

When Haupt, dressed in a dark blue suit with a white handkerchief emerging from the breast pocket, was led before the bench for sentence, Judge Barnes spoke only two words: "Life imprisonment."

But in a three and one-half page memorandum opinion which he ordered filed the judge indicated that the sentence might have been different except for the action of the jury which convicted Haupt in recommending leniency.

'No Other Verdict Possible.'

Commenting on the jury's verdict, the memorandum said:

"The court is convinced that Hans Max Haupt traitorously adhered to the enemies of the United States and gave them aid and comfort. No other verdict than that returned was reasonably possible. Hans Max Haupt is 50 years old and in spite of the fact that he has lived in the country since 1923 and was naturalized in 1930, is, and for a long time has been, a fanatical Nazi.

"He willingly, and apparently gladly, sacrificed his only child to the Nazi cause. The court does not believe that Hans Max Haupt can be reformed. He is and always will be a Nazi.

"Conscience Says—Death."

"What punishment is necessary to be imposed in order to deter other like minded persons from committing like crimes? My conscience tells me that there is but one answer to that question, and that answer is—death.

"That would be the sentence and there would be no oral or written observations thereon by the court were it not for the facts hereinafter set forth."

Defers to Jury's Request.

Judge Barnes then referred to the jury's recommendation of leniency and stipulated the sentence—"in deference to the request of these men and women, whose judgment may be better than mine."

The government charged that Haupt harbored his son, Herbert, executed Nazi saboteur, who came to the United States with seven companions in German submarines in June, 1942.

Still awaiting trial on treason charges are Haupt's wife, Erna, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Froehling and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wergin, all of whom were convicted with Haupt in the first treason trial. All have been granted separate trials.

Defense Attorneys Paul A. F. Warnholtz and Frederick J. Bertram indicated they would appeal Haupt's sentence.

WALLACE ASKS U. S. AID TO FREE ASIA'S SUBJECTS

Washington, D. C., June 14 [Special].—The United States should, in its own interest, promote the economic and political freedom of India, the Netherlands East Indies, and other colonial areas in the Pacific, and should help bring a defeated Japan into the ranks of a "free Asia" after the war, Vice President Wallace said in a pamphlet issued today by the American Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Wallace said it is not the mission of the United States either to write declarations of independence for the colonies of other powers or to underwrite "other people's declarations of continuing empire." But, he added, "it is to our interest to approve and coöperate with all trends which lead toward our own standard of government of the people, by the people and for the people."

Should Prepare Training.

Wallace proposed that England and other colonial powers take steps to prepare a definite system of training and preparation of self-government. He suggested that they announce a specific date on which they would terminated their "trusteeship" over the colonial areas of the Pacific.

[Prime Minister Churchill said on Nov. 10, 1942: "I have not become the king's first minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British empire."]

"While the British and Dutch governments and the French committee of national liberation have given evidence that they recognize the need of revising their colonial policies in the direction of a larger measure of self-government," the Vice President wrote, "there are also in these countries powerful forces which will fight for the old system of empire.

"Orderly progress in Russia, China, Korea, and the Philippines—the free Asia area—would set up a tremendous pressure favoring orderly progress and orderly emancipation in colonial areas. It is to our interest that there should be a ladder of evolution upward out of colonial subjection and coolie economics to self-government and an economy of opportunity and reward.

Can't Leave Pacific.

After the war, Wallace said, Asia would be divided into free Asia, in which he included China, soviet Asia, the Philippines, Korea, and Thailand, and "subject or colonial Asia," in which he put India, the Dutch East Indies, Burma, Malaya, Indo-China, and a great many small Pacific islands.

It is, he says, to our advantage not to perpetuate this division and while our primary objective must be to keep Japan disarmed, "we cannot keep her indefinitely in a state of colonial-like subjection while advocating freedom for the rest of Asia."

Asia's need after the war, Wallace wrote, will be for capital and technical assistance; America's need will be to utilize fully our expanded industrial capacity; therefore, orderly and continuous progress on both sides of the Pacific will depend on our success in bringing these two needs together.

It would be a mistake, Wallace declared, to fear an imperialistic China, since, even if we did not believe the pledges of her leaders, she would not have the industrial capacity for a long time to become a powerful aggressor. Moreover, he adds, it would be madness to think of building up Japan in order to balance a strong China.

12-FT. CHANNEL FOR WATERWAY TO GULF URGED

Viewing the tremendous growth of barge traffic on the deep waterway to the Gulf of Mexico as an important economic development, the city council went on record yesterday as favoring the deepening of the waterway channel to a minimum of 12 feet.

At present there is a 9 foot channel in the Illinois waterway, the Illinois river, and the Mississippi river, which form the waterway connecting Lake Michigan with the Gulf of Mexico.

Ald. Orlikowski [35th], chairman of the council committee on rivers and harbors, who introduced the resolution, said the committee on rivers and harbors of the national house of representatives had requested the district engineer at Chicago to review reports on the waterway system.

At Orlikowski's suggestion, the council directed the city clerk to present the resolution at a public hearing to be held at 9:30 a. m. today in the office of the district engineer in the Civic Opera building.

SEEK FREEDOM, BARNES ADVISES $1.65 BURGLAR

Tells Convict, in Since 1928, He Can't Act.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Judge John P. Barnes told William Bolds, a Negro convict serving an indeterminate sentence in Stateville prison, in United States District court yesterday that the Illinois parole board should have freed him years ago. Judge Barnes, however, said he did not possess the power to free the convict, who had petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus, but he suggested that the convict keep trying for a parole.

Bolds, now 36, has been in prison since Nov. 9, 1928, when he was convicted of burglary and given a sentence of one year to life. Judge Barnes said the records showed it was a $1.65 burglary.

Experts Say He Is Insane.

The parole board, which, excepting the governor, is the sole agency thru which the convict may ever obtain his freedom, has acted on reports of psychiatrists that Bolds was insane.

"Your honor, I had only a limited education when I went to prison," Bolds said. "Since then I have studied the Greek classics, biology, and other subjects, and have read the biographies of the great. I have educated myself."

"Some time there will be a parole board in Illinois worthy of the name," Judge Barnes commented. "I hope it won't be long.

Parole Board Censured.

"You ought to be out now, fighting for your country. You are no more insane than I am. You don't have as many mental aberrations as the men on the parole board who keep you there."

The convict then asked permission to withdraw his application for a writ. The judge granted it. The court then dismissed the petitions of four of Bolds' fellow convicts for writs.

A parade of hundreds of convicts from state prisons to the federal court was started a year ago when Judge Barnes entertained the petition of John Bongiorno, a policeman killer who is serving 199 years. Recently the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that federal courts have no jurisdiction unless the convict has exhausted all possibilities in the state courts.

40,000 TRUCK DRIVERS VOTE 95% FOR STRIKE

More than 95 per cent of the 40,000 truck drivers operating thruout 12 central states have voted to strike within the next 30 days if employers, who are members of the Midwest Operators association, do not comply with a war labor board directive granting the drivers wage increases, Dexter L. Lewis, director of the Central States Drivers council, announced yesterday. The strike date will be set before the end of this week, after he has met with members of the council, Lewis said.

Lewis predicted that if the strike is called 250,000 employes in the trucking industry in addition to the strikers would be affected. The vote was conducted Saturday and Sunday by local unions of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters thruout the 12 state area. Lewis explained that the trucking industry is exempt from the provisions of the Smith-Connally act, which requires a 30 day cooling off period.

The WLB order was issued Feb. 17, but the association refused to comply and filed suit for an injunction against the WLB in federal court in the District of Columbia, Lewis said. The WLB order raised the wages of the drivers from 90 cents an hour to 97 cents with additional increases in mileage rates. States in which the vote was taken are: Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas.

COTSWORTH, 92, DEAN OF MUSIC CRITICS, IS DEAD

Services for Albert Cotsworth, 92, widely known as a dean of Chicago organists and music critics and associate editor emeritus of Music News, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the First Congregational Church of Chicago, 1613 Washington blvd. Mr. Cotsworth died Tuesday night in Resthaven sanitarium in Elgin.

Born in Lafayette, Ind., Mr. Cotsworth came to Chicago in 1899 after 20 years as organist of the First Congregational church in Burlington, Ia. He became organist at the First Congregational Church of Chicago, then the Union Park Congregational church, and remained there until 1916. After eight years at the South Congregational church, he retired in 1924. Until recently, however, he wrote reviews for Music News, and for more than 30 years wrote a general column on art subjects.

Mr. Cotsworth is survived by a son, Albert Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Walter D. Herrick, both of Oak Park. His body will rest at the home of his son, 422 N. Scoville av. until tomorrow noon.

JUDGE WILL HEAR MOVE TO DISMISS SEDITION CASE

Plea Based on Ruling of Supreme Bench.

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher of United States District court agreed today to hear oral arguments Monday on a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for the 29 defendants in the mass sedition conspiracy case.

Defense attorneys will base their arguments on the Supreme court's decision last Monday overruling the espionage conviction of Elmer Hartzell of Chicago.

E. Hilton Jackson, attorney for Gerald B. Winrod of Wichita, Kas., will make the opening defense argument. O. John Rogge will reply for the prosecution.

Rogge Emphasizes "Intent."

Rogge, chief prosecutor, said he would outline "some of the highlights" of the government's case and show "specific intent" on the part of the defendants to conspire to impair the morale of the fighting forces.

"We did not rely on the Hartzell case in this prosecution," Rogge said. "We assumed we would have to prove specific intent and we think we have the evidence to prove it."

Jackson commented that the indictment in the sedition case "wouldn't have been returned" if the Hartzell decision had been made at the time.

New Witness on Stand.

The Supreme court overruled Hartzell's conviction under the 1917 espionage act on the ground the prosecution did not offer sufficient proof of his "willful intent" to undermine the morale of the fighting forces. The defendants in the sedition case are being tried under an act of June 28, 1940, designed to safeguard military forces from subversive propaganda.

The prosecution today placed its second major witness on the stand —William Luedtke of Rochelle Park, N. J., national secretary of the German-American bund from 1939 until December, 1941.

Luedtke identified August Klapprott, a defendant, as eastern "gauleiter" of the bund, and another defendant, Herman Max Schwinn, as western "gauleiter," but said Schwinn resigned "when he lost his citizenship."

BOY, 15, CYCLES SWEETHEART TO PARK, KILLS HER

Springfield, Mass., June 14 (AP).—William Roach, 15, an orphan, attempted unsuccessfuly to plead guilty to a murder charge today after Police Chief Raymond Gallagher said he had calmly confessed to shooting Carolyn Bennett, 14, his girl friend, because she was "going out with other boys."

The body of the schoolgirl, daughter of a former Springfield city councilman, was found in Forest park not far from her home. Police Chief Raymond P. Gallagher, to whom Roach allegedly confessed, quoted the youth as saying he rode the girl about 75 yards into the park on his bicycle. There he stopped and without warning, Gallagher said, he fired a bullet into the girl's heart and pedaled away.

Massachusetts law does not permit a guilty plea to a capital offense and Judge Ralph S. Spooner directed a plea of innocent for the boy as he continued the case to June 21.

EX-SOLDIER, 20, ADMITS KILLING 3 IN FARM FAMILY

Macon, Mo., June 14 (AP).—Capt. J. F. Shaw of the state highway patrol said today Raymond Paul Patrick, 20, of Monroe City, Mo., had confessed the triple slaying last week of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ross Foltz and their son, Ladwin J. Foltz, who lived on a farm near Hunnewell, Mo.

Shaw said charges of first degree murder would be filed today against Patrick, recently released from the army on a medical discharge.

Shaw said Patrick gave a full statement and told this story:

He shot Ladwin Foltz, 20, last Thursday night with a shotgun as they quarreled on the way home from a tavern; killed Albert Foltz, 60, early the next morning with the same gun in a pasture on the Foltz farm; then he choked Mrs. Foltz, 57, to death with a leather belt the following day near Farmington, Ia., and stuffed the body under a culvert. It was found today.

I., where he had moved from Chicago three years ago. He is survived by his widow, Rosalie; a son, Donald; a daughter, Patsy, and his mother, Mrs. Nellie Zeman.

2 SCHOOL BOARD APPOINTEES GET O. K. BY COUNCIL

After a sharp debate yesterday, the city council confirmed Mayor Kelly's reappointment of Samuel Levin, CIO union representative, and Irvin C. Mollison, Negro attorney, as members of the board of education.

Ald. Bohling [7th] opened the opposition against immediate reappointment of the men by recommending that the matter be referred to the committee on schools for consideration, and was supported by Ald. Waller [43d]. Three other aldermen fought against a delay and brought about a vote which approved the appointments, 41 to 1.

At a meeting of the board of education yesterday, Levin and Wilson Frankland, the AFL member, bitterly denied a recent statement by Mrs. Walter F. Heineman before the Woman's City club that they had "connived" for ulterior motives with other members of the board. Mrs. Heineman, a former teacher who has opposed the policies of the school administration in the six years she has been a board member, told the club that union labor representation on the board "connives in the intimidation of teachers to its own temporary material advancement."

SOLDIER FOUND INJURED.

Pvt. Lawrence J. Nerbum of Menominee, Mich., stationed at Fort Sheridan, was in a critical condition yesterday after he had been found lying alongside the North Shore tracks in Highwood. Army authorities said they believed he fell from a moving train.

HOUSE APPROVES CONTINUANCE OF PRICE CONTROLS

Bill Studded with Curbs on OPA Powers.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—The house today passed a price control bill studded with amendments designed to curb abuses by the office of price administration.

Administration forces who unsuccessfully opposed most of the changes as hindrances to enforcing price ceilings, failed in a last minute attempt to kill the Dirksen amendment authorizing federal District courts, on complaint, to review any OPA orders and regulations.

Before final passage of the bill on a voice vote, the Dirksen proposal was written into the bill by a roll call of 206 to 181.

Farm Parity Approved.

Earlier, the chamber defeated, 191 to 87, the Bankhead amendment, designed to increase returns to raw cotton producers, but approved a much broader proposal aimed at assuring parity prices to farmers for all their products. [Parity is a price designed to give the farmer the same purchasing power he had in the 1909-'14 period.]

The latter amendment, offered by Rep. Pace [D., Ga.], directs processors of all agricultural products to pay parity prices to farmers. If they pay below parity, under the bill, they cannot sell their finished goods for more than 90 per cent of OPA ceilings.

The Pace proposal was approved by voice vote with administration backing, after a bipartisan majority rejected the Bankhead cotton amendment, included in the price control bill passed by the senate last week. House Democratic leaders predicted a Presidential veto if the cotton clause were in the bill.

Go Now to Conference.

The senate and house bills, each carrying a variety of separate amendments, will be referred to a joint conference committee later this week.

Three amendments, previously included tentatively in the house bill, were rejected before final passage today, but more than a dozen others were left in the measure when administration leaders despaired of defeating them and did not seek a vote.

The provisions stricken from the bill were:

An amendment to increase the price of crude oil by 35 cents a barrel to encourage more oil production. It was defeated on a roll call, 204-178.

Curbs on OPA.

Amendments previously written into the house bill over administration protests and left in the adopted measure include a prohibition against OPA's suspending companies from business as a penalty for price violations and a proviso relieving innocent price violators of any penalties, except for refunds to customers.

The house bill would extend price controls one year from June 30, while the senate measure would continue them for 18 months.

DIES IN FALL FROM CAB AS HE HOLDS GIRL

Inquest into the death of Richard Von Shrenk, 33, of 6646 Stony Island av., killed when he fell from a taxicab early yesterday in the Outer drive at Cermak rd., was continued yesterday after first district police expressed belief that his fall was accidental.

Von Shrenk's companion in the cab, Patricia Murphy, 17, of 6922 Euclid av., a cousin of Von Shrenk's divorced wife, told police Von Shrenk had his arm about her and that her head was on his shoulder when he pitched backward against the door and fell to the pavement.

Von Shrenk's skull was crushed by the fall. He was pronounced dead at St. Luke's hospital, where he was taken in the cab by the driver, William Wood, 4758 Magnolia av.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

S. S. C. asks: "Are air corps officers still entitled to the lump sum payment of $500 upon leaving active service? Are they entitled to the mustering out pay too?"

ANSWER: Some air force officers would be entitled to the lump sum pay. The law provides "that when any air corps reserve officer, who has not been selected for commission in the regular army, is released from active duty that has been continuous for one or more years, he shall be paid a lump sum of $500 for each complete year of active service as such officer, and if released from active duty otherwise than upon his own request, or as a result of inefficient or unsatisfactory service as determined by the secretary of war, such lump sum paid shall be prorated for fractional parts of each year of such active service." The law on mustering out pay states that, while lump sum payments therein authorized shall be in addition to any pay, allowances, compensation, or benefits which such officers may otherwise be entitled to receive, air force officers receiving the $500 "are not entitled to the mustering out pay in addition."

M. P. R. asks: "Do you know how or by whom the percentage of disability is determined? I can't figure it out."

ANSWER: The percentage of disability is determined by a rating board of the veterans administration consisting of a medical specialist, a legal specialist, and an occupational specialist. The board rates the disability assisted by other personnel consisting of clerks and stenographers. The percentage of disability is based upon the average degree of impairment in earning capacity, so that there may be no penalty on any individual for his ability to overcome the handicap caused by his disability. Definite sums have been established for certain specific disabilities, and these payments are in addition to the sums payable for the percentage rating of the disability. From the details in your letter, it appears the "lesser part" of the rating board has your case mixed up. We'll see what can be done about it.

S. M. B. writes: "I was graduated from field artillery and then sent to Camp McCoy because of pernicious anemia. Suddenly I was transferred to Fort Bragg and then to Camp Butner and put into the infantry. I am 5 feet 11 inches and weigh only 108 pounds and this training has really got me down. I feel that my reclassification papers were tampered with or somebody made a mistake and I want to know if I have the right to examine the papers?"

ANSWER: If you can't stand the training, report at sick call and then present your problem. It will not be necessary for you to look at your papers and even if you were given the privilege, you probably couldn't make head or tail out of them.

MRS. DONNELLEY SUES EX-MATE FOR $177,262.18

Mrs. Helen Pauling Donnelley of 1248 Astor st. sued in Circuit court of Lake county yesterday to compel her former husband, Thorne Donnelley, now a naval officer, to pay her $177,262.18 that she charged he owed under terms of a property settlement when she divorced him in 1931.

Mrs. Donnelley's attorneys presented her petition in Waukegan to Judge Ralph J. Dady, who ordered counsel for Donnelley to answer within 20 days. Donnelley, son of the late Reuben H. Donnelley, publisher and industrial leader, is a commander in charge of the naval photographic science laboratory of Anacostia air station at Washington, D. C.

The property settlement embodied in the divorce decree granted to Mrs. Donnelley, on the ground of desertion, included an agreement that Donnelley would pay her $30,000 a year for the remainder of her life.

A limited appearance and a partial answer were filed for Donnelley. The court was asked to defer the case until after the war.

Judge Dady refused and stated that a principal's absence in military service was not ground for postponing a court action.

WAR BONDS

5th WAR LOAN

This year—when our field commanders are fulfilling their promise to hit our enemies with the most tremendous military power the World has ever seen—this year is no time to coast, no time to assume that enough War Bonds have been bought. For the United Nations believe that human life is more precious than any other form of wealth—that when it is a choice between a million dollars worth of war machines and the life of one soldier, the civilized choice must be, use up the machines but save the man.

So let us not think of purchasing War Bonds, and more War Bonds, as a burdensome duty. It is the rarest of good fortune that we are able to buy War Bonds to buy machines which will spare our men to enjoy the future for which they fight.

Even as a gift, who wouldn't send his money to war to spare a life! But buying War Bonds is not giving. It is lending to save lives. Lending to the United States Government. War Bonds are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States of America for payment of both principal and interest. Series E War Bonds when held to maturity will return $4 for every $3 you invest.

Invest every spare dollar to win this year—to help hold prices down until victory—to help lay up that needed cash reserve to give business a flying start for a prosperous peace.

WFA'S EGG PRICE PLAN LAID A BIG ONE, SAYS WILLIS

Situation Is Scrambled, Senator States.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Sen. Willis [R., Ind.] came out today for President Roosevelt's "horse and buggy days." There weren't any automobiles then, the Hoosier philosopher said, but there was something called the law of supply and demand, and a sprightly old lady known as mother nature was held in high regard.

Sen. Willis.

Well, Willis lamented, that's all changed now.

"The war food administration," he explained, "has cheerfully accepted its assignment to take the price of eggs out of the hands of God. And right now it is in an awful scramble."

WFA he confided, has laid plans for eggs, and laid hundreds of thousands of dollars out in keeping egg prices up. But it has wound up just laying an egg.

Hens Whoop it Up.

Willis said the planners have passed along the word to the farmers, and the farmers have passed it on to their hens, to whoop up egg production. To convince the hens of their good intentions, Willis went on in a public statement, the farmers have quit eating fried chicken on Sundays.

And what have they got? Too many eggs! They're going to waste at the planners' price of 40 cents a dozen, said Willis, when the farmers and merchants would prefer to see them being eaten at 20 cents.

"In grandpa's time," said Willis, "eggs came into production as spring wore on, and the meager winter supply at high prices swelled into an over-supply at giveaway prices.

Nature Regulates Stocks.

"The boy in a stocking cap and mittens who trudged thru the snowdrifts to the grocery bought eggs at perhaps a quarter a dozen. Then summer came with its plentiful feed and fast growing flocks, and the same boy plodded thru the dust in bare feet with two dozen eggs for 30 cents.

Americans will eat more eggs and the surplus will disappear without being sold for animal food, Willis said, if prices are lowered.

Against Mother

(Story in adjoining column.)

Marie de Tarnowsky (right) is embraced by mother in Circuit court yesterday before she took the stand to tell of Mrs. Alice de Tarnowsky McIntosh's role of hostess in her father's absence.

DAUGHTER, 15, ACCUSES ALICE AND M'WILLIAMS

Marie de Tarnowsky, an attractive, gray eyed girl of 15, took the witness stand in Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg's court yesterday to explain why she preferred to live with her aunt, Mrs. Olga Hudson of Kenilworth, instead of with her mother and why she believed her small brother and sister should also live with the aunt.

Marie was the final witness in Capt. Alexis de Tarnowsky's custody suit for the three minor children against his former wife, Alice Rand de Tarnowsky McIntosh, 37, Barrington heiress, who went on a six weeks' tour with Pvt. Charles L. F. McIntosh last summer after a meeting in a railroad car. She was married to McIntosh after a Mexican divorce. De Tarnowsky is overseas with the army engineers.

The girl's testimony disclosed her resentment against her mother grew as she observed familiarities between her mother and Joseph McWilliams, long a house guest of the De Tarnowskys. She said McWilliams, now on trial in Washington, D. C., on sedition charges, "sometimes slept in mummy's room." He also spanked the two young children, she said.

Asked about her mother's calls on McWilliams in his room, she said: "She [Alice] stayed more in than out."

Alice kissed the girl yesterday. Marie appeared to wipe away the kiss.

Tavern Patron Accused of Biting Owner on Leg

Daniel Borbely, 29, of 5231 N. Spaulding av., wound up his Tuesday night spree of sailing quarters around the tavern at 3200 Irving Park rd. by biting John Pantos, 45, the tavern owner, on the leg, Pantos told Judge John R. McSweeney in Shakespeare avenue court yesterday. Judge McSweeney ordered Borberly, who was charged with disorderly conduct, to pay for Pantos' medical care, and continued the hearing until June 21.

Cereal with Fruit
MADE BY KELLOGG COMPANY BATTLE CREEK, MICH.

COMPARE! THE FLAKES STAY CRISP IN MILK LONGER!

AND JUST TASTE THESE RAISINS—SO TENDER, SWEET!

MADE AS ONLY KELLOGG'S CAN

You're right—it's more than just another good raisin-bran cereal. For KELLOGG'S RAISIN 40% BRAN FLAKES are extra crisp, extra good. These flakes are made of soft white winter wheat, blended with top-quality wheat bran. This means plenty of good grain nourishment—plenty of iron. The delicately flavored flakes are toasted to golden crispness—stay crisp in milk longer. And for double enticement the luscious tender raisins add their own flavorful sweetness. You'll say—there never was the equal of this happy, tempting, nourishing cereal—KELLOGG'S 40% BRAN FLAKES WITH RAISINS.

You'll like the extra goodness of the raisins in KELLOGG'S RAISIN 40% BRAN FLAKES. Luscious, naturally sweet, tender and chock-full of flavor. Choice fruit, of course.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

White Collar Dog.

The girl's name is Naomi Drake. Diana is her Seeing Eye dog. Naomi and Diana came to work last week at Butler Brothers, where, they're saying, she's one of the best dictaphone operators ever employed.

The first day all hands stopped work and all eyes were focused, with interest, on the blind girl and the dog because here was something unusual—a white collar girl and a white collar dog.

The dog, however, took it all in stride. She looked the place over, then quietly settled herself, resting her head against the girl's foot. They had come to work! And that was all the faithful dog needed to know.

Now other employes have noted how the dog stands between her owner and the elevator door and will not budge until the elevator is exactly even with the floor; how she guides her owner to the employes' rest room for a brief break in the day's routine; how she goes out for the noon hour and takes her owner to and from work on the Madison st. car, and how, true to her sex, she especially enjoys a little shopping expedition!

The owner of the dog has a bachelor's degree in English and public speaking and is an efficient, happy person. The hours—on her Braille watch—never drag for her. And as for her dog—it's easy to tell she fits into her job so well that the girls in the office think it's high time somebody bought her a real white collar.

Office Memos.

I.
The boys in the office like Kate
And believe she would make a nice mate;
But a hurdle occurs
'Cause she always demurs

II.
We have a young lady named Mable
Who types in a manner most able;
Yet when she strikes the keys
With the greatest of ease
It sounds like the Tower of Babel.

Father's Day Gift Seekers Crowd Stores

The men's departments in the State st. stores thus far have done a Father's day business that probably will not be equaled until Monday, when the men make their annual trek to the exchange counters.

The belief that men are hesitant to return Father's day gifts, that they suffer in silence, is a myth, the salesmen reported. Men not only return undesirable gifts quickly but accompany the returns with highly definitive expletives, clerks said.

In most of the stores yesterday, it took more than a sharp elbow to reach the $1 and $1.50 tie counters. The women pondered long and lovingly over them and bought the most flamboyant and startling ones for presentation to father Sunday, the 34th official observance of the day dedicated to the nation's fathers.

A few of the women carried the feminine matched accessory idea into their purchases. One bought a pink shirt, pink suspenders, and a tie combining pink with a racy blue.

Pajamas also were popular choices, and the louder they came, the faster they went. One woman ecstatically seized one counter's final offering in seaweed green with an orange stripe, while fellow purchasers watched enviously.

Most of this week's purchases has been for the stay-at-home father. Those in military service were taken care of weeks ago. Their gifts included books, war bonds, and items of use in military life.

Liquor stores reported Father's day will be quite dry. "No one would think of offering a bottle of wine to a man on Father's day," one dealer explained. He added that he thought any one who obtained whisky would keep it for himself, Father's day or not.

Albert N. Gorsky, 2716 N. Sawyer av., controler of the La Salle Designing company, 628 W. Lake st., has been chosen as the most popular war plant father in Chicago by the war finance committee of Cook county and the Father's day committee of the Chicago Retail Merchants' association. Mr. Gorsky, the father of three, is a regular war bond purchaser under the pay roll deduction plan and heads his company's bond effort.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 14.—Bill Bendix signed a new contract with Hal Roach which seems equitable. Bill's guaranteed a flat salary 52 weeks a year for seven years. Everything he makes above that salary is split 50-50 with Roach. His radio money is his own. . . . Joan Fontaine's deal with David Selznick is slightly different from Bill's. Last year Joan made $100,000. David, by loaning her out, made a profit of $390,000 off her. You can't blame her if at times she's a bit moody. Just now she's under suspension—can't even do radio. . . . Mary Boland and Henry O'Neil play the rich, haughty couple in "The Home Front" with Laurel and Hardy doing the buttling for them. Sounds like fun. . . . In bygone days, Ziegfeld girls were content with diamond bracelets. Now Gloria Gale of Metro "Follies" has got herself an oil gusher in Oklahoma.

Ain't She Heard the News?

Greer Garson denied it once—she probably will again. But she's going to have a baby just the same. . . . Wonder what Gregory Ratoff thought he'd gain by lying about his coming divorce? When I got the story two weeks ago, he said there was nothing to it. But who knows or cares about Ratoff? He's just a mad Russian whose stock rose thru publicity out of all proportion to his talent. You name me one good picture he's directed, and I'll go and see it. . . . Sam Goldwyn has screamed his head off about double features. Yet now he sees a profit of millions by releasing 31 of his old pictures, and in many theaters they're showing "Little Foxes" and "Ball of Fire" on the same bill. . . .

It's a Lucky Number for Jesse?

Jesse Lasky, even in the old days, didn't produce three pictures at the same time, but he's doing it now. Jesse will do "The Two Mrs. Carrolls," "Frontiersman," with Zachary Scott, and the new Norman and Ben Barzman story, "Don't Ever Leave Me." In this he'll use Claire Foley, the 8 year old who did "Janie" on Broadway. . . . Gregory Pecks have almost worn out Winthrop Ames' "Book of Names" looking for one for their anticipation. If it's a girl they'll name her Monica, meaning "Lovely One." If it's a boy, it'll be Barnaby—"Son of Prophecy." Peck's pal, Bill Prince, read the book from cover to cover, then named his Liza after the girl in "Lady in the Dark." . . . Hattie McDaniel is taking no chances. Half her nursery is done in pink—other half, baby blue. . . . Cecil De Mille is sharing part of his office space with Hal Wallis until Paramount finds a place to put Wallis permanently. I'll bet a cookie they won't build the kind of a bungalow on the lot that he had at Warners.

That Old Feeling—Yes or No?

Only two short years ago it looked as tho Buddy Rich and Lana Turner would wed, but Lana eloped with Steve Crane and Buddy left Tommy Dorsey's band and enlisted in the marines. It will be interesting to watch developments when Dorsey begins shooting "Thrill of a Romance" at Metro, since Buddy's been given a medical discharge, and will be back beating the drums again. And maybe by that time Lana again will be heart-free. . . . Fred Waring takes his Pennsylvanians into the Roxy theater in August on a $200,000 deal. Not bad for a young lad from Tyrone, Pa., Bette Davis admitted to Jimmy Dorsey that she goes overboard for hot music. So every time she comes to his set, he starts giving it to her. . . . Bob Crosby's description of an over-vivacious star: "She lives every second as tho it were a major crisis."

This, That, and the Other.

Jimmy Durante knocked the customers for a loop by showing up at the Clover club with a nurse in white uniform, and offering no explanations. He had been to see his pal, Jack Roth, at the hospital, when Jack's nurse said she was dashing out for a hamburger. So Jimmy took her out and bought her a steak. . . . Henry Morgenthau Jr., escorted by Betty Hutton and Henry Ginsberg, met the gang at the Hollywood canteen after his bowl appearance. Nice meeting, too. . . . Joyce Reynolds, buying a wardrobe for New York, had quite a time persuading the ladies in the dress shop that she was 19.

Thousands Pay Tribute to Flag; Brooks Speaks

Chicago observed Flag day yesterday as thousands in schools, offices, and war plants reaffirmed their pledges of allegiance in colorful ceremonies.

In Elgin, an honor roll containing names of 3,800 men and women from that city now in the service was unveiled as part of a Flag day program. Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], who received the distinguished service cross in World War I., was the principal speaker.

"In honoring the flag of our country we honor those countless heroic people who established it as our national emblem, signifying at that time the hope of the future," said Sen. Brooks.

"As we dedicate the honor roll of this city, we pay our grateful homage to the sons and daughters of this midwestern community who are scattered to the four corners of the earth to meet and defeat arrogant, vicious, and wicked men who first imposed their evil will on their own people and then invaded their neighbors with a design and purpose to wipe out free government, with its attendant blessings thruout the world."

The heroic service and sacrifice of our fighting men, whose names always will be honored, is a part of our national effort to preserve our right to continue to be free and follow the peaceful pursuits of a people under a government of divided power and distributed authority that guarantees equal rights to all our people, regardless of their race, creed, or color, said Sen. Brooks.

"While our heroic and gallant sons and daughters fight these angry, vicious forces abroad," he continued, "you and I must work with added fervor, with increased devotion, for the preservation of the fundamental principles of this free land, this representative form of government with its countless freedoms, and lead the way not only by our contributions but by our example to the people of the world, to establish representative government elsewhere.

"Without stint or reservation we must devote our talents, our energies, our resources to sustain and support our sons and daughters as they carry our flag in battle thruout the world, and rededicate our lives to the preservation of that flag and the government it represents here at home."

Mrs. Alonzo Newton Benn, national flag chairman of the Daughters of the American Revolution, spoke on the correct use of the flag at a special Flag day observation luncheon of the Traffic Club of Chicago in the Palmer House.

Later, Mrs. Benn and Mrs. Helen Maass, regent of the Chicago chapter, D. A. R., conducted flag raising ceremonies in Michigan av. across from the D. A. R. headquarters in the Fine Arts building.

Nine hundred civilian employes at Fort Sheridan were honored yesterday at a dual Flag day ceremony and presentation of a Minute Man flag by the treasury department.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

In its third of four surveys of women in uniform on duty in Chicago, this department has observed the workaday activities of approximately 60 SPARS, members of the women's reserve of the coast guard, at stations in two installations in the city. With few exceptions, those in the SPAR recruiting division, the women have taken over office duties to permit coast guardsmen to go into active service.

In addition to their regular work of typing correspondence in connection with the work of their respective offices, the SPARS have varied duties at their posts in the United States customs house, 610 S. Canal st., and in recruiting headquarters, 53 W. Jackson blvd.

Coast guard women with radioman 3d class ratings work in communications, operating switchboards, maintaining an accurate count of messages, checking bills with records, and preparing messages sent by mailgram. They also take over the duties of men radiomen 1st class in their absence.

Other SPARS, rated seamen 1st class, deliver and collect messages, type them for distribution, occasionally operate switchboards, assist in filing, and relieve teletype operators.

SPARS in the welfare office serve as assistants to the welfare officer, keep daily logs of events and loans, and assist in miscellaneous functions of the department. The identification card office has SPARS interviewing applicants regarding cards and obtaining finger prints. The women also attach pictures to cards, prepare the cards for lamination [punching to prevent alterations], and check and accept applications. Another duty of SPARS in this division is to go aboard boats and into war plants to do fingerprinting.

The defense and damage control office has the services of one SPAR, who handles correspondence regarding fire fighting and port security measures, does routine typing attached to security, inspection, invoices, and reports, and maintains the file on security and chemical warfare.

The SPARS in the law department take notes and dictation in connection with general routine and testimony at all summary courts, then prepare a record of proceedings and transcripts of testimony for summary courts martial.

Picture captions and news articles released by the coast guard public relations office frequently are prepared by SPARS, who also represent their branch of service by giving lectures and making personal appearances. Other duties include clipping published releases.

Still another SPAR has the responsible job of maintaining records of locations of vessels attached to the base, keeping a file on incoming and outgoing dispatches, and assisting in the preparation of surveys related to the organization and maintenance of vessels.

SPARS do all the clerical work in the personnel department, where they handle leave papers, muster rolls, travel orders, bulletins, entries in service records, and dispatches.

Purchase orders, vouchers, correspondence, and records of public property are the province of SPARS in the supply office. In the mail room, women sort, check, and distribute mail, act as messengers, and relieve file clerks.

SPARS are yeomen in the office of the coast guard temporary reserve, handling enrollments and keeping personal records of members.

Travel vouchers for officers and enlisted men of the regular coast guard are issued by SPARS in the transportation division. They also handle government bills of lading, type transportation requests, and provide enlisted men with travel meal tickets.

SPARS of various ratings interview prospective members of the women's reserve in the recruiting office. They also make speeches in behalf of procurement. One SPAR, a pharmacist's mate, assists in physical examinations of volunteers.

[The final article in a series on women in uniform will appear in this column later.]

Thru the Looking Glass

Leg makeup is a blessing, no doubt about it, because the stocking situation is fierce. But it does seem to us that by a great deal of carelessness we women are defeating the purpose of leg camouflage. When it is sloppily applied, when it's worn far longer than the coating should be, or when it is generally permitted to be seen in the messy stage it's pretty bad. The bare leg, unattractive as it usually is, is better than the badly made up one.

Leg makeup is a makeshift. It's not as easy to coat the legs as it is to draw on a pair of filmy hose that flatter and conceal minor blemishes at the same time. But since we lack the hose it's up to us to make the most of the makeup. Certainly the manufacturers have done wonders for us. They've perfected their products to the best of their ability. The rest—care in applying it and taking pains to repair it when repair is needed—is up to us.

It is a nuisance to repair leg makeup after being caught in a shower, but it is one of those things we simply must do. Splotchy makeup looks, in a curious fashion, extremely untidy, even dirty. It's conspicuous, where the suave makeup is right and unobtrusive.

Take special pains to apply your makeup carefully to the area around the feet; this is where it breaks down first, especially if there is any rubbing from your slippers, and this is where the passer-by's first glance lights on it. Be careful, too, to apply it smoothly to the back of the leg. This shows, you know, even tho you're not always conscious of the fact. Some makeups stay on longer than others. In any case, replace yours before it begins to look seedy, rather than after.

It's a nuisance, sometimes, but that can't be helped. Repair or replace it patiently and carefully—and blame the Japs and the Germans for your trouble.

Two Literary Events to Aid in Women's War Bond Drive

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO events which are being announced today by the women's division of the war finance committee, Chicago and Cook County, will attract book lovers from all over the city. They are a breakfast at 9:30 a. m. June 27 at Marshall Field & Co. and a program at Orchestra hall at 8:30 o'clock that night, at both of which a number of distinguished authors will appear.

Among the authors will be Carl Van Doren, Martha Ostenso, Col. Carlos P. Romulo, and Louis Bromfield. Admission to both the breakfast and the program that night will be by a war bond. Mr. Van Doren will serve as master of ceremonies at the Orchestra hall meeting, for which many special features have been planned.

The breakfast will be limited to between 100 and 150 guests, because of lack of space, with seats selling for bonds of $100 denomination and up. A number of requests for boxes and seats already have been made for the large rally that night, with tickets available at from $225 in bonds up to a $5,000 bond for a box. However, tickets have not been available until today. Bonds or their stubs must be taken to room 400 at 105 W. Adams st. to be exchanged for tickets.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, who is chairman of the women's division, is expecting Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Tinker of New York to be her guests over the Republican national convention, which opens June 26. Also coming for the convention are Mr. and Mrs. LeRay Berdeau of New York and Palm Beach, who will arrive on the 24th to be at the Drake.

Also on the Calendar.

The fifth annual fashion review sponsored by the coupon book committee of the Ravinia Festival association will be held next Wednesday during the luncheon hour at Marshall Field & Co., with debutantes of the season, provisional members of the Chicago Junior league, and young married women serving as models. Fashions that will be worn at the third war time Ravinia Music festival, opening June 27 at Ravinia Park, will be shown in the Walnut grill and Narcissus room.

Some of the young models will be Miss Elizabeth De Long, Miss Joan Clement, Miss Alice Keith Carpenter, Miss Peggy Whipple, Miss Joan Johnson, Miss Ruth McKenna, Miss Diana Hill, and Miss Jean Sullivan. Coupon books containing 17 coupons, each good for either gate admission or a pavilion seat, are being sold for $12.89, and mean a saving of $4.11 for the purchaser as each coupon is worth $1.

Because she feels the Galloping Hills Horse show would not be complete without an organ grinder and monkey, Mrs. Louis F. Swift is sending out an S O S for one to entertain at the Galloping Hills farm June 25. John Fiorello, who with his monkey has entertained for years at Mrs. Swift's shows, is in war work and has sold his monkey, so she is looking for another.

The farm, located midway between Lisle and Wheaton, is easily accessible by train and electric rail service. A feature of the day long show will be the jumping competition for the Sonny Ripley Memorial cup, following which George Harrington will give a dedication to the late Bradford Ripley II., for whom the cup was named, who lost his life in the service of his country.

Here and There.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Oscar Holmberg [Lura Schreiner] are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Lawrence Jr., last Sunday in Passavant hospital. The baby, who is a fifth generation Chicagoan on his mother's side, is the first grandchild of the Joseph O. Schreiners. Mr. and Mrs. Bror Frichoff Holmberg of Sac City, Ia., are the paternal grandparents.

When Lt. Wilhelm M. Baum returns from a visit in Michigan with his brother, Winston Lawrence, he will find his sister, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, and her family installed for the summer in Miss Frances Whedon's home in Lake Forest. The Adamses are moving today to Lake Forest to stay until Sept. 15, while Miss Whedon is visiting her niece, Mrs. Harris Fahnestock, in Concord, Mass. Lt. Baum, back in this country after two and a half years of submarine duty with the navy, will spend the latter part of his leave in Chicago.

Engagement News.

Col. and Mrs. Milford F. Henkel of Coles av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Eloise Elizabeth, to Sgt. Jack J. Garris, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Garris of Detroit; Mich. Miss Henkel is a member of the graduating class from the Medill school of journalism at Northwestern university. Her fiance, now stationed with the army air forces in Sioux Falls, S. D., attended Michigan State college and Northwestern. Col. Henkel, a veteran of the last World war, has been stationed as judge advocate general in Teheran, Iran, for 27 months, during which his duties have carried him to Russia, China, Burma, India, and Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCaw of Beverly Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriett Joan, to Lt. Warren E. Yaap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yaap of S. Lafiin st. Miss McCaw, who attended Carleton college, now is a student at Indiana university. Lt. Yaap, who was in the engineering college of the University of Michigan before enlisting in the army air forces, is reporting to his new post at Moore field, Mission, Tex., following a short leave here.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Marilyn Hamil, daughter of Renald B. Hamil of Sherwin av. and of the late Mrs. Hamil, to Gregory L. Trump of the coast guard. Miss Hamil, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wood of E. 72d pl., attended the University of Illinois. Her fiance, who is serving overseas, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Trump of Blackstone av.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Garvey of Vernon av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne, to Ensign Milton J. Flyke of Oak Park. Miss Garvey is president of next year's junior class at Mount Mary college in Milwaukee. Her fiance, a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, received his commission from the naval reserve school at Columbia university and now is on active sea duty.

Mexican Motif Featured in Play Suit

This two piece play suit shows the Mexican influence. The material is snow white Mexican cotton elaborately trimmed with gay embroidery in scarlet cross stitch. The tiny bolero jacket buttons to fit, and the bare midriff is typical of summer sun tan fashions. This model and others are available in a Chicago store.

Designers Capture Mood of Old Mexico in New Clothes

BY REA SEEGER.

Smart designers have raided Mexico this spring for color, for Mexican cottons, for vivid embroidery motifs, and now for actual copies of Mexican costumes. You'll find brilliant examples of such loot in the so-called play clothes collections. For undiluted whimsy and complete charm these can't be equaled. The designers have copied the embroidered shirts of the men and the padres. They've copied the jackets men wear on feast days and all the ideas have been transferred to what these designers playfully dub "play clothes."

You'll see a snowy white Mexican cotton gathered skirt teamed with a short sleeved bolero jacket which is buttoned down the short front. Both jacket and skirt have gay, colored embroidery. The midriff section is left bare. You'll see parrot green, cerise, and magenta colors embroidered in panels worked on gray cotton, on yellow, and on pale green cotton in costumes of skirt and jacket—the jacket equal in splendor to the toreador jackets seen in the bull fight arenas. Everything is fiesta bright, gay and sprightly, all made into decidedly decorative play clothes for the American woman. It's one of the most fascinating displays in town.

Mexican cottons are ideal for such clothes, for the cottons have that greatly appreciated hand woven texture, the colors are lilting and unusual, the patterns of the weave or texture different and distinctive enough to satisfy the desire for something effective for casual country life. In spite of the obvious hand work and special designs these cottons are not prohibitively expensive.

Cure U. S. Ills First, Educator Urges at N. U.

Thoughts on the post-war world should be in terms of our historic past as contrasted with the ideas of the theorist who thinks in terms of a Utopian state where all men are perfect, Virgil M. Hancher, president of the State University of Iowa, asserted yesterday at Northwestern university's 86th annual commencement exercises in Deering meadow, on the Evanston campus. His address followed the awarding of degrees and diplomas to 920 graduates.

Pointing out that he did not wish to belittle the idealism which inspires the Utopian planners, nevertheless, he said, "we ought not to travel too fast and too far without defining our objectives and determining whether or not the means we select are appropriate to achieve them."

"I recall vividly," said Dr. Hancher, "that in the late 1920s many Chicagoans were preoccupied with the workings of the league of nations at Geneva at a time when Chicago stood in terror of gangsters, and when it was questionable whether the final power in the city rested in the city hall or in the Lexington hotel.

"We need not ignore an outbreak of typhus in the Balkans because we have an outbreak of typhus at home, but good sense should tell us that the plague at home, as well as in the Balkans, must be checked and destroyed if we and the world are to be safe. It is difficult to see how we can have law and order and decency in international relations unless they also are found and maintained in our city, county, state, and national governments."

Dr. Hancher asserted that it would be a mistake to pursue a negative policy toward Russia, China, India, and other nations which are emerging from quiescence. "From 1919 to 1941 we pursued an essentially negative policy in international affairs and it is difficult to believe that any policy could have ended in more complete bankruptcy than the one we pursued from Versailles to Pearl Harbor," he said.

"On the other hand, the adoption of an affirmative attitude in international affairs does not mean that we are to play Santa Claus to the world," he said. "Obviously we cannot cure all the world's woes, and should not try to do so. It does not follow that we must ignore them and pretend that they do not exist until they explode upon our shores. We can pursue a wiser course. We can recognize they exist, and can strive with intelligence and good will to achieve their solution."

Cool Indoors, Too.

If the weather would just make up its mind, showmen are willing to fight a mounting thermometer to the last notch. "Rose Marie" fills the Civic Opera house with snow capped Rockies, and "Alaskan Stampede" brings the Yukon to the Coliseum tomorrow night. It has its own mountains, built right into the premises, and an ice rink, plus a lagoon for seals. Customers lining the three side walls of seats will see a good many things, from a new musical play with Wini Shaw, Margaret Spencer, and Earl Covert, to an ice revue topped by Evelyn Chandler, Bruce Mapes, and Mimi. But the show might borrow a page from the circus and have an animal tent. Downstairs with the deer, elk, and malemutes are some unexpected visitors—four chubby malemute puppies, a tiny foal, and a baby deer so cherished its mamma hides it under the straw at the approach of a stranger.

Wini Shaw.

New York on the Wire.

Cecil Smith, who wrote these stage notes before he devoted himself entirely to the University of Chicago and music, is in New York, and he can't get over the habit of gleaning theater news, so he puts some bulletins on the wire. Gloria Swanson and Ralph Forbes will play three summer theaters before bringing "A Goose for the Gander" to the Blackstone July 11. The Theater guild has arranged the tour of the Paul Robeson "Othello" with Chicago last on the list, so that it will arrive here next March or April, to stay as long as business warrants. He also corroborates the probable booking of a Chicago company of "Wallflower" into the Selwyn, perhaps as early as August, and the fact that "Over 21" has dibs on the Harris after "Kiss and Tell." Ruth Gordon may come in her comedy if business in New York slumps, otherwise we get a special troupe.

One Man's Flop.

One man's flop can be another's bargain, at least in show business. When "Dream with Music," described as the most expensive bore of the New York season, folded Saturday night, Sonja Henie and Arthur M. Wirtz bought a lot of its costumes, draperies, and lighting equipment and shipped them here to be stored until needed. Mr. Wirtz wants it distinctly understood they didn't bid for the book or the music.

About People.

When "For Keeps" opened in New York last night, Patricia Kirkland had a song to sing. It is called "This Time for Keeps," and Robert Stolz and Albert Stillman wrote it. . . . "Oklahoma's" Pamela Britton got her M-G-M contract without a screen test because the movie scout almost passed her by. The first time he went to see her he unwittingly caught an understudy and wondered what all the shouting was for. . . . Remember Haila Stoddard, beautiful wraith of "Blithe Spirit"? She is now a producer, with a play called "The Clover Ring" in progress. . . . Orson Welles will be director and coproducer of Dick Himber's "Abracadabra," and may even appear in it next September.

Orphans' Auto Day 40th Annual Outing to Be Held Aug. 16

The 40th annual outing of the Orphans' Automobile Day association will be held Aug. 16 in the picnic grove of Riverview park, James E. Duffield, association president, announced yesterday. Approximately 5,000 orphans, crippled children, and old persons will be guests.

Mr. Duffield said he anticipated public spirited motorists would donate their cars to transport the picnickers despite gasoline rationing. Among committee chairmen for various details of the program are L. C. Smith, Hobart J. Thurber, Edward Beck, Arthur E. Stephan, Si Mayer, Carl J. Johnson, Dr. Peter H. Furno, Charles J. Retterer, John P. Keating, and Henry P. Nierman.

Weddings

Announcement is made of the marriage last Saturday of Miss Margaret Wilson Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Warren of Chevy Chase, Md., formerly of Chicago, to George Oliver Ross of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Ross of Milwaukee. The ceremony took place in All Souls church, Washington, D. C., with a small reception following in the Warren home. Mr. Ross, a graduate of the Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan, and his bride, also a graduate of the University of Michigan, will live in Chicago.

Announcement is made of the marriage May 22 of Miss Margaret Shaw, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James F. Shaw of Oceanside, Cal., to Lt. Charles G. Spoerer Jr. of the naval reserve, son of Comdr. and Mrs. Spoerer of Evanston. The wedding took place in the post chapel at Camp Pendleton, Cal.

LOYALTY.

Woods said to Eden, "Of course, it could only be you that Marion Bates suspected. As Inspector Cockrill said, she really only believed the evidence of her own reason, but she hoarded the 'proof' up so that she could make a scene with you about it one day; and then you were unkind to her on the night of the party and she was angry with you, and decided to give you up to justice! I followed her to the theater that night to see what she was hiding there."

"You followed her?"

"O, not actually. I mean, it wasn't me creeping up the drive after her. I really did wait for you, as I said; and then I decided to go home, but on the way I thought I'd drop in and see what she was up to in the theater."

"Why on earth?" said Gervase.

"I don't know—just curiosity."

"Why didn't you tell the inspector all this?" said Eden.

She said, busily mopping her arm: "O, well when he talked to us that night—after she was killed, I mean—I saw that it couldn't have been you."

"Why not?" said Eden.

"Because of the look of astonishment on her face when she died. He said that she looked—incredulous."

"So would you, if you saw a masked and gowned figure standing in the doorway, at 1 o'clock in the morning."

"Yes, in any other doorway. But not in the doorway of an operating theater! You expect to see masked and gowned figures there."

"You would be incredulous if you realized that this was the murderer, and that's my point. She was terribly surprised to see who it was."

"You mean——"

"I mean that she expected it to be you; if she was astonished, it was because it wasn't."

Eden was silent; after a while he said: "So that convinced you that I wasn't the butcher of Heron's park?"

"That and—well, next morning it all looked different. It was one thing to have monkeyed about with the anesthetic in the theater, but quite another to have stabbed poor, silly little Bates; and above all, to have stabbed her the second time, after she was dead. That was so—so cold-blooded and dreadful. I didn't think you could have done a think like that. Then afterward, there was the Freddi affair; and I got all tied up again."

"For heaven's sake, Woody—you didn't think I'd tried to murder Frederica?"

"Well, what were you doing in the cottage that morning, then?" said Woody, bluntly.

"In the cottage?" Here? That morning? Of course I wasn't. . . ." His face cleared. O, Heavens! So I was! At least I wasn't in the cottage at all, actually; but I wanted to speak to Freddi and I watched for her from my window in the mess; when she didn't appear, I thought I must have missed her. Anyway, I went to the door, here, and put my head in and called out to see if any one was in. I didn't get an answer, so I came back to the gate and waited and met her there. I wanted to talk to her about—well, I just wanted to talk to her."

"You must have been very much in love to want to talk to anybody at that hour of the morning," said Woods, with bitter jocularity.

He looked at her, weighing her up; and said, after a moment: "I had some—reparation to make, Woody. I like Barney, you know. I think the world of him; and I—well, I lost my head a little a couple of nights before and—and said something to Freddi; and I wished I hadn't. Freddi didn't respond, of course," said Gervase, loyally; "but I felt I'd let Barney down. He'd gone off to Heronsford to get his car fixed up and he was taking her to lunch in town, and I thought it would be a marvelous opportunity for them to get really engaged; to buy the ring and all that, you know. I just wanted to apologize to Frederica for having kissed—for having talked to her like I did; and ask her to forget all about it, and say how much I wanted to see her and Barney happy." He broke off miserably.

"In other words you wanted to tell her that you were out of the running, and leave the path clear for Barney," said Woody, coolly.

"Well, then, when Freddi arrived, she wouldn't have anything to do with me anyway; I suppose she's arrived at the same conclusions as you had, my clever one, and thought I was the big, bad wolf, and she was next on the list."

"It was because of what she overheard between you and Bates, in the booth," explained Woody. "Bates was threatening you with breach of promise and various other reprisals, and of course Freddi knew Higgins had heard."

"That might have been a motive for my murdering Marion; but hardly for my killing Higgins!"

"Well, our Frederica is not exactly overburdened with gray matter," said Woody, smiling.

"You all seem to have been very ready to suspect me," said Gervase, bitterly.

"And to protect you," said Woods.

He put his hand under her chin and turned her face so that her eyes met his. He pulled her to him and held her for a moment close to him, his head, thrown back so that he could still look into her eyes. "You're rather a splendid person, aren't you, Woody? All thru this hideous time—how loyal you've been!"

"It's easy to be loyal to those you love," said Woody, her shaking hands on his coat sleeves. "If you mean that I've been loyal to my brother. . . ."

Frederica was tired of sitting in the stuffy little room with Esther and Maj. Moon. She preferred either to be alone with Barney or to have Gervase there to witness their happiness together. She said, restlessly: "Can't we go for a walk or something, darling? It's so close in here."

"I'll take you for a little run in the car," said Barney immediately.

"O, yes, that would be heaven!" She jumped down off his knee and wriggled herself into her long, blue coat, pulling the round V. A. D. cap over her springy gold hair. "You look like something out of an orphanage," said Barney, laughing at her; "I've never seen anything so pathetic." He hastened to add: "But something quite adorable out of an orphanage!"

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	6 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

East doubled six clubs because he expected to lay down the spade ace on the opening lead and later collect a club trick with the king. North, however, sensed this and promptly ran to six hearts, where East's marked club king would not necessarily take a trick, since South was apt to have no more than a singleton club.

The runout was even more effective than North had hoped, because now it was West who had to select the opening lead, and he chose the diamond jack. The queen won, the ace-queen of hearts were cashed, and the club queen was then led thru East. The latter realized that he had marked himself with the club king, so he covered the queen. Declarer ruffed, drew trumps, then entered dummy with a diamond and discarded all four of his spades and one diamond on the established clubs.

Some criticism must be aimed at North for having selected a contract, six clubs, that could have been defeated, instead of another contract, six hearts, that was ice cold, but considering his extreme length in clubs and the fact that he had only two hearts, this was understandable. The same cannot be said for East's double of the contract he could have defeated.

Clubs Join in Benefit for Orphans in China

Closing a drive for funds for the war orphans of China, the 1st district of the Illinois Federation of Music clubs will collaborate with the Chinese Women's Club of Chicago in sponsoring a benefit party at 8 o'clock tonight in the Cordon club. The two organizations, which joined forces several weeks ago in an effort to assist dependent Chinese children, have arranged a musical program to be shared by Chinese and American artists, all of whom are members of the federation. A Chinese tea table will find Mrs. Henry K. O'Young and Mrs. Selma Wong in charge.

A. M. A. Wives Urged to Fight Delinquency

Making headlines by flouting precepts of home and church, American youth poses a problem that must be investigated and solved, Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer, Chicago neurologist and newly elected president of the American Medical association, told the A. M. A. auxiliary at a luncheon in the Knickerbocker hotel yesterday.

"Delinquency among young people has definite social implications for the physician, with its aspects of venereal disease and pregnancy," Dr. Kretschmer said. "Some say the national figures for the breakdown in youth's morals are exaggerated, but I do not agree. What's more, delinquency among teen-age girls has risen more sharply than among the boys of the same age."

Appealing to the auxiliary to adopt a nation-wide program to combat the evil, Dr. Kretschmer suggested several methods of solving the problem.

"Good religious and home training are of inestimable value," he said. "To it I would add a definite amount of homework for the teen-agers and a chance for them to contribute to the war effort, as many are anxious to do." Wives of physicians could direct young people into hospital aide work, for example, he explained.

The proposed Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill for a federal health program was criticized by Dr. Kretschmer as detrimental to the medical profession, and like opinions were expressed by Dr. James E. Paullin, retiring president of the A. M. A. and Mrs. David W. Thomas, Lock Haven, Pa., newly elected head of the auxiliary.

"The medical profession and the people of the country face a situation which is extremely difficult for a democracy to believe exists—a pressure by many groups to regiment the American people and the medical profession with a burocratic form of government," said Dr. Paullin, also a luncheon speaker. "You women can be tremendously influential in explaining to your local organizations the deterioration of the quality of medical care that would ensue under this proposed measure."

Mrs. Thomas, in her presidential address, declared that the auxiliary "must see that the medical profession be supported in its fight to thwart the considered move to make the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill a socialization scheme that masquerades under the colors of humanitarianism."

Auxiliary members bought a total of $1,300,000 in war bonds during the fiscal year, Mrs. Rollo K. Packard, war service chairman, reported. Mrs. Eben J. Carey of Milwaukee, Wis., immediate past president, announced that a $100 silver plaque donated by Dr. Kretschmer in memory of his wife would be placed at central headquarters. Names of Hygeia contest winners will be inscribed on the memorial.

ORPHAN ANNIE

The In-between Age Important Growth Period

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright:, 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

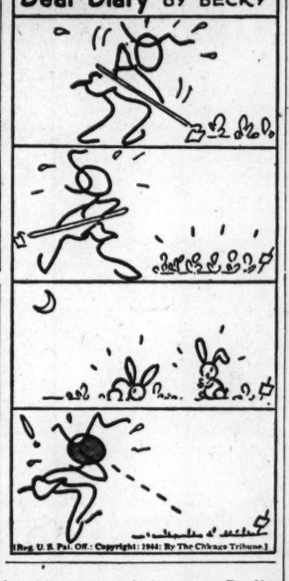
"I wish you would keep writing and writing and writing about children between the ages of 8 and 11," says the mother whom I quoted in a recent article. "I think they are more misunderstood and mismanaged than children at any other period in their lives."

I think so, too. You may remember that I often have made the statement that less is written for the help of parents about children from 6 to 12 or 7 to 11 than about any other age. Adolescence is treated fully and frequently, as is little childhood.

But the period in between is a sort of a No Man's Land from the point of view not only of the parents' advisers, but from that of most adults. In addition, for many parents, it is a period "to be lived thru," with groans and the tearing of hair. It is a period when children scarcely are regarded as developing young personalities, but rather as savages and nuisances to be shooed out of the way. Really, I am not exaggerating in making that statement. I have even heard parents express themselves that way in so many words.

But that is a serious mistake to make. This child, stepping out of the close circle of home and out of the endearing, dependent ways of earlier childhood, is going thru a period just as important as any other, but usually not as appealing and not as easy to understand.

Dear Diary BY BECKY



Iceland Unit to Send Delegate to Meeting of Zonta International

The Iceland chapter of Zonta International will be represented at the organization's convention next Thursday thru Saturday at the Edgewater Beach hotel, by Mrs. Helga Sigurdsson of Reykjavik. News of the approaching arrival of Mrs. Sigurdsson, who is former president of the Iceland unit, came as a pleasant surprise, since it was expected wartime conditions would limit representation to chapters of the United States and Canada.

As it is, attendance is being restricted to 300 representatives, comprised of delegates, alternates, and members of the international board, of which Miss J. Winifred Hughes of Syracuse, N. Y., is president. Another visitor from abroad will be Madame Julie Marie Colbjornsen of Norway who is being sent by the American Red Cross to speak at Saturday's luncheon session.

Art League to Entertain Ballet Artists at Tea

Artists of the Ballet Repertory company will be special guests at a midsummer reception and tea to be given by the Municipal Art league this afternoon at the Cliff Dwellers' club. Mrs. Maude Merritt, vice president of the league, arranged the party. Leonide Massine, whose new ballet, "Fantasie Poetique," was given its world premiere Tuesday night at the Eighth Street theater, is expected to be present, as are Vela Montoya, Marina Svetlova, Alexis Dolinoff, Rosella Hightower, Andre Eglevsky, Marie-Jeanne, and George Zoritch. Another special guest will be Gerald Frank, former Chicago artist.

GASOLINE ALLEY

SWEETHEART, I WISH I COULD TELL YOU HOW I FEEL WHEN I THINK THAT IT IS ONLY A MATTER OF DAYS UNTIL WE ARE MARRIED.
YOU DON'T NEED TO, SKEEZIX, DARLING. I KNOW.
YOU WAITED A LONG TIME FOR ME. ARE YOU GLAD?
GLADDER THAN I CAN SAY. ARE YOU GLAD YOU'VE BEEN TRUE?
I CAN. AND A SUNNY HAIRED LITTLE NINA CLIMBING UP THE APPLE TREE. FROM BEING NEARSIGHTED I CAN NOW LOOK FAR, FAR AHEAD.

Due to unusual weather conditions, this year's crop of Valencia oranges is coming to market with green skins! But don't hesitate to fill your shopping bag with plenty of oranges, for the fruit is fully ripe and mature, and the eating quality has not been affected by Mother Nature. Squeeze the oranges for breakfast juice, or have them sliced, sectioned, on the "half-shell," in salads, desserts, or in cooling drinks. Serve them often, for they're one of the richest sources of vitamin C.

Fresh milk may not acquire a sunburned complexion, but according to dairymen and nutritionists at Purdue university, milk can easily get a "sunshine" flavor and lose some of its vitamin B content when it's allowed to stand in glass bottles in the sun. Unless you meet the milkman at the door, it's a good idea to provide a covered box or container large enough to hold the amount of milk usually delivered.

Milk should be kept cold at all times to slow down the growth of bacteria and to prevent rapid souring. Bacteria multiply at an astonishing speed when milk is allowed to stand in a warm place or even at room temperature, so try to put milk in the refrigerator soon after it is delivered or brought from the store.

One of our favorite brands of ready-to-serve mushroom soup has been missing from the grocery shelves for some time due to necessary canning restrictions, but the manufacturers have replaced this item with an equally good condensed soup made with fresh mushrooms and pure cream. Dilute the combination with an equal quantity of water and serve piping hot in bowls, or use it as a sauce for chicken or ham a la king. Condensed mushroom soup also can be mixed with left-over meat and vegetables in a variety of casserole dishes.

There are several ways to prepare margarine for the table. Soften it to room temperature and put it into a large bowl [a wooden one is best], then work in the coloring with a blending fork, wooden spoon or potato masher. Or, use a cutting board and a dime-store wooden paddle for the mixing. Smooth the colored margarine into square or stick-shaped glass molds which have been rinsed with cold water, or line the molds with strips of waxed paper so the margarine can be turned out easily.

A pair of old-fashioned fancy wooden paddles and a few twists of the wrist are required for making neat little balls of margarine, but they look mighty attractive on the "butter" plate.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

Rabbi A. T. Katz Named Jewish Congress Director

Appointment of Rabbi Asher T. Katz, acting spiritual leader of Temple Isaiah Israel, 1100 Hyde Park blvd., as executive director of the midwest region of the American Jewish Congress was announced yesterday by Max A. Kopstein, president of the region.

Versatile Designs

BY NANCY CABOT.

A varied group of embroidery designs in an equally wide range of stitches comprises the hot iron transfer patterns illustrated. The motifs measure from 1¼ by 1½ inches to 3 by 4 inches, and are suitable for towels, curtains, luncheon sets, pillow slips, or wall pictures.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the group, No. 602, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

Northwest Set to Enter 2 in Music Festival

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

The northwest will be represented this summer in the vocal contests of the 15th annual Chicago Music Festival to be held the night of Saturday, Aug. 19, in Soldiers' field. Under the supervision of the Minneapolis Aquatennial association, voice contests will be held in Minneapolis and thruout a radius of 100 miles of that city. The two winners, the best man singer and the best woman singer, will be sent to Chicago with all expenses paid to compete in the Chicago Music Festival vocal finals in the Drake hotel on the morning of the festival.

The Minneapolis contests will be held early in July, and the two winners will appear as featured soloists Sunday night, July 23, at the Lake Harriet band shell in Minneapolis as part of the opening night musical festival program of the aquatennial. This is the first time Minneapolis has taken part officially in the Chicago Music Festival altho in previous years many contestants have come to Chicago from that territory.

Other cities coöperating with THE TRIBUNE in festival activities are Michigan City and Gary, Ind., and East Moline and Urbana-Champaign, Ill.

Last year the Gould Banjo band of Minneapolis won third place in the fretted orchestra contest of the festival here. Mr. Gould will bring an accordion band to Chicago for this summer's festival.

The Minneapolis aquatennial festivites will begin July 21 and will continue thru July 30.

Families' Need for Furniture Is Told by Sally

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mrs. B. writes from the far south side of the city:

"Dear Miss Brown:

"I dislike having to ask for anything, but at the present time I have no other source of help. My husband has been hospitalized for 18 months, due to a serious accident and a subsequent illness. We have three small children, and it has been difficult to provide for all their needs. Just now, household furnishings of various sorts would be most helpful to me, including a three-quarter size roll-a-way bed, a chest of drawers or a dresser, and a rug. I will be more than glad to have these articles picked up."

Miss C. has a rather similar request on behalf of a family also on the south side of the city. It consists of parents and five children, all of whom have been ill and under clinic care. Recently they were forced to move into an unfurnished flat and need assistance in obtaining many items, particularly a kitchen table, chairs, and rugs.

Mr. R. is employed, but his wages are insufficient to provide for all of the needs of his family of five children. Supplying adequate clothing is a great problem, and if any readers can contribute articles for a girl, 5; boys, 16, 15, 14, 12, and 10, they may obtain further information from this department.

HURRY-UP DINNER FOR BUSY DAYS

In these busy days, almost every homemaker is forced now and then to prepare dinner in a hurry. Because of this, it's an excellent idea to keep a reserve of canned luncheon meat in the cupboard. It can be served in many delicious ways—hot or cold. Breading it, as shown below, is a favorite of mine.

Breaded MOR—a Tasty Dish for a Hurry-up Dinner

1 can Wilson's MOR
1 Clear Brook Egg
1 tbsp. water
3 tbsp. bacon drippings

Cut MOR into 8 or 12 slices. Dip into beaten egg to which water has been added and then into fine dry bread crumbs, coating all sides. Brown on both sides in the hot bacon drippings and serve piping hot. Serves 4 generously.

Clip Recipe Here

HEATING BRINGS OUT FLAVOR

The delicious flavor of Wilson's MOR is at its best when served hot. And since MOR is made of excellent quality pork meat it contains the valuable B complex vitamins and complete proteins of pork. So you can serve this hurry-up dish often for dinner or lunch and know you are serving your family nutritious food. A grand combination!

* * *

Quick Accompaniments

Left-over boiled potatoes, creamed and made gay with bits of pimiento; seven minute cabbage with grated Certified American Cheese sprinkled over the top; a combination vegetable or fruit salad; with strawberries and cream for dessert all qualify as quickly prepared accompaniments for this hurry-up meal. There's plenty of eye-appeal as well as good flavor in this menu.

* * *

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

If it's a fruit salad you toss up, try this dressing variation with it. To ¼ cup Wilson's Mayonnaise, add 1 tbsp. lemon juice, 2 tbsp. confectioner's sugar and ½ cup whipped evaporated milk. Leave the fruit in fairly large pieces, drain well and just before serving mix lightly with just enough of this dressing to coat well. Serve on lettuce, watercress or endive and garnish with a bit of colorful fruit.

* * *

SUDDEN THOUGHT FOR AN OUTING

Want a picnic? Turn to your well stocked emergency shelf and get several cans of Wilson's MOR. Take along a slicing knife and when the coals are glowing, cut the MOR in finger lengths for toasting. They're grand.

Careful, there! Be sure to write Wilson's MOR on the grocery list when you take some off that emergency shelf. Then you won't be disappointed the next time you want it.

There is a liberal supply of MOR in the market now, so while it is on the no-point list, be sure to keep your emergency shelf supply adequate.

Sincerely, George Rector

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Representatives of the hosiery industry, many of whom have complained against the restrictions placed on them by war time government agencies, were reported today to have protested when the war production board told them it was considering a move to relax controls of rayon yarn and throw the civilian supply on the open market.

The reaction of the manufacturers' representatives — members of the hosiery industry advisory committee—was reported to have taken the WPB officials completely by surprise. They had expected a pleased reception of the announcement that restraints might be lifted, but many of the committee members, apparently in fear that their firms would suffer in the scramble for the available yarn, protested that this was not the time to remove controls.

Issues Cautious Release.

The meeting was held in Washington Tuesday, and today WPB issued a cautious press release in which it said the matter had been broached but gave no details of the reaction except to say that "committee members recommended that the controls be continued, at least for the present." What decision WPB will make has not been determined.

Free Yarn for Civilians.

Revocation of the order would mean that the percentage of yarn that heretofore has been set aside for the hosiery industry, after military needs have been filled, would become free goods.

The proposed action, WPB said, would be in line with the agency's policy to relax, wherever possible, controls on production and distribution of all items not directly connected with the war.

SIX VEGETABLES PRICES RAISED BY OPA; 4 DOWN

Sharply higher prices for six fresh vegetables, with decreases in four others, were announced by the area office of price administration in the weekly community price ceilings for Chicago, effective today. The changes included: topped bulk carrots, up ½ cent a pound to 6½ cents; carrots by the bunch, down ½ cent to 8½ cents; eggplant, up 3 cents a pound to 13 cents; iceberg lettuce, 4 cents a head higher at 12 and 15 cents; new red triumph potatoes, five pounds for 33 cents, up 5 cents; new California potatoes, 5 pounds for 29 cents, down 1 cent; tomatoes, 7 and 8 cents a pound higher at 29 and 33 cents; green and wax beans, 3 cents a pound lower at 14½ cents, and peas, down a cent a pound to 15½ cents. All fresh fruit prices remained unchanged.

A spokesman for the office of price administration in Washington, D. C., indicated last night that many point free cuts of meat probably would be placed under rationing again next month. The decision will be made next week. Many types of meat were removed from rationing May 3.

SURVEY REVEALS 12 MILLION WANT ALARM CLOCKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Want a new alarm clock? Well, so do 12,425,000 other householders, the war production board said today in reporting the results of a nationwide survey made in April by the census bureau, which checked the buying desires of 4,500 representative families.

The survey was made to guide WPB's office of civilian requirements in planning production increases as facilities become available. The survey covered the demand for 56 household articles. It showed that the percentage of satisfied buyer demand ranged from 98 per cent in the case of sewing thread to 5 per cent in the case of wash boilers and lawn mowers.

Other articles in sufficient supply to meet at least 50 per cent of the demand include thermos bottles, mothproof bags and moth repellents, bobby pins, electric fuses, paper towels and napkins, infants' play pens and cribs, bedsteads and dinette sets.

In shortest supply and wanted most, WPB said, are alarm clocks, heating pads, window screening, wash tubs, outside garbage cans, radio tubes, lawn mowers, extension cords, teakettles, can openers, frying pans, and carpet sweepers.

W. Y. Elliott, WPB vice chairman for civilian requirements, said that while any new civilian programs instituted will be cleared only after careful scrutiny of their impact on military programs, it may be possitble to start production on some simple items almost immediately.

WAR WORKERS GAIN NEW TIRE PRIORITY AS SUPPLY MOUNTS

War plant workers will come first on the list of passenger car users to be granted new tires thru increased office of price administration allotments, Harold J. Slawik, regional rationing executive, said yesterday.

The supply available for civilians this month is larger than since rationing was started, Slawik said, but is not enough to meet even the needs of C coupon holders; July quotas are expected to be still larger, but not enough to fill war workers' needs, so that B coupon holders probably will have to wait for some time.

Slawik cautioned both C card holders and truck owners to have recapped all worn tires capable of taking new treads. Drivers who fail to do this, he said, will be given less consideration by ration boards.

Operators of 120,000 commercial trucks in the Chicago district using T coupons, were urged yesterday by the office of defense transportation to apply to their ration boards at once for gasoline rations for the quarter beginning July 1.

ODT to Expand Fleet of Pressure Tank Cars

One thousand tank cars will be added to the nation's fleet of 3,282 pressure type railroad tank cars to meet growing war demands for various petroleum products, including liquefied petroleum gases, the office of defense transportation announced yesterday.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The St. Louis Browns had to beat the White Sox in Comiskey park last night to remain in first place in the American league standings. And they did that little thing, 10 to 3, by being very rough with Johnny Humphries—and not so nice to Gordon Maltzberger who pitched a two run homer to George McQuinn in the eighth. Tho last in the American league in the latest official batting figures, the Browns rapped out 16 hits for 24 bases.

It was the seventh thumping the Sox have suffered at the hands of Luke Sewell's smart and agile crew in nine meetings this season. The result last night, viewed by 24,893, the second largest crowd of the season, returned the Sox to fifth place after the afternoon doings in the league had lifted them to fourth place for a few gulps of air. They now are 4½ games behind the Browns. It gave the Chicagoans a three game losing streak to end their long home stand—three whippings as the reaction to their recent eight game winning streak.

Something Makes Boss Dizzy.

The Sox again played without their manager, Jim Dykes. Tuesday he was bounced in the second inning for grumbling at Umpire Cal Hubbard. Yesterday and last night the skipper, who smokes 25 cigars a day, was under observation to determine the cause of dizzy spells. The Sox say the cigars, not their recent antics, should take the rap.

While the Sox operated without Dykes, they restored Hal Trosky to action. The big slugger has been out of the regular lineup since he suffered a muscle injury on May 27.

Potter's Sixth Triumph.

Nelson Potter registered his sixth victory last night. He yielded a dozen hits, but probably would have been much stingier if he had not been furnished with five runs in the first two innings. Ralph Hodgin made three singles and scored two of the Sox runs. Grey Clarke and Le Roy Schalk each had a double and a single. Humphries knocked a double and Wally Moses, Thurman Tucker, Trosky, and Mike Tresh each had a single. Thus Skeeter Webb was the only gent in

CRANE WINS, 5-4, OVER AMUNDSEN

Advances to City Prep Finals by Victory.

Crane Tech, runner-up in the west section baseball race, advanced to the finals in the public high school league yesterday with a 5 to 4 victory over Amundsen on Greenwood field at the University of Chicago. Harrison and Lane will meet in Wrigley field today in the other semi-final contest, the winner to battle Crane for the title, probably in Comiskey park Saturday.

Rain started falling during the second inning of yesterday's game and continued thruout most of the contest. Amundsen opened the scoring with a run in the second on two singles and an error, but Crane erased this margin with three runs in the fourth and never trailed after that point.

Jim Grimes Opens Rally.

Crane got its three runs when Jim Grimes opened the rally with a single and scored on Oldfield's double. Norb Wirkowski walked and Dick Kokoszka's hit drove in Oldfield. Wirkowski came in on an infield out.

Crane picked up another run in the fifth, due largely to two Amundsen errors, and added the final score in the eighth when Wirkowski, who had singled, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scored on a passed ball.

Amundsen Scores Two.

Amundsen's main bid was made in the last of the eighth when the north side nine scored twice to cut the Crane margin to one run. Singles by Kuhlman, Frank, and Lavery, plus a wild pitch, accounted for the pair of runs. Score:

Whizzer White Awarded Bronze Medal by Navy

ABOARD AN AMERICAN DESTROYER, CENTRAL PACIFIC, June 4 [Delayed] —(AP).—Lt. [j. g.] Byron R. [Whizzer] White, former collegiate and professional football star and Oxford Rhodes scholar, was one of 16 officers and men to receive the bronze star medal for courageous service with the "Little Beavers" destroyer squadron in the South Pacific last fall and winter.

Whizzer White.

White, after three years of outstanding football with Colorado university played with the College All-Stars in the 1938 game against the Washington Redskins. The game was played in Soldiers' field, Chicago, under sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. White later played with the Detroit lions of the National football league.

It's Manager Buck Weaver (in Softball)

Buck Weaver ambling out to take issue with a decision made by Mike Cavarretta, brother of the Cubs' Phil . . . Charley Bidwill rushing on the field to back up Buck's verbal barrage hurled at the umpire . . . in a concrete dugout of a neat little south side park, such screeching as you seldom hear outside a zoo, by a group of girls in satin shorts . . . BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 14 [Special]. — Despite an application of 15 hits, a rare total for them, the Cubs continued today to make life happy for the pacemaking Cardinals. Twice the Chicago tailenders appeared to have themselves comfortably fixed, the last time with a two run lead in the eighth. But the champions plastered three runs over the plate in the same inning for a final 10 to 9 count that marked their eighth straight victory of the season over the basement boys.

The Cubs started off impressively with a four run lead that caused Mort Cooper to quit in the second inning. Hank Wyse soon lost part of this and then exploded completely in the fifth when four Cards scored. Then numerous pitchers appeared for short but hectic visits, the Cubs knocking out Harry Brecheen with their three run eighth and the Cards paying off on this incident by battering both Dale Alderson and Bob Chipman, the ex-Dodger lefty, for the decisive runs.

Nicholson Hits Double.

The Cubs went into the eighth with a 7 to 6 count against them. Phil Cavarretta singled and so did Lou Novikoff who was drawn into the party when Dom Dallessandro pulled a leg muscle. In anticipation of a bunt by Bill Nicholson, Cavarretta wandered off second and was nailed, after which Nicholson doubled. This hit removed Brecheen and brought in Fred Schmidt who walked Andy Pafko. Then Don Johnson grounded to George Fallon and in attempting to start a double play the latter heaved wild. Two runs scored, and Pafko took third from where he counted on Bill Holm's fly. Alderson, who had yielded a seventh inning run that put the Cards in front, faced Johnny Hopp to open the home eighth and Hopp doubled.

Cooper's Reign Ends.

With left handed hitters coming up, Boss Grimm decided to turn to Chipman's southpawing. The ex-Dodger got Ray Sanders but couldn't prevent Stan Musial from singling to center, Hopp scoring. Then Walker Cooper sent a drive over Pafko's head to score Musial and when Bill Schuster fumbled the throw in, Cooper changed his mind

TAKE AWAY WINS $2,000 HANDICAP

Captures Lincoln Fields Race by 4½ Lengths.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Take Away, fast breaking 4 year old son of Aneroid-Blessed, victorious in his last two starts, made it three in a row as he sped off with a four and one-half length triumph yesterday in the $2,000 Buckingham Fountain handicap, feature race of the Lincoln Fields program at Hawthorne.

The Leo Nehring colt, with Willie Morrisey in the saddle, went to the post at 5 to 1 in a small but select field of six which included Mrs. M. E. Miller's Traffic Court, winner of four of his last five races, and A. S. Higgins' Quizzle, winner of the Peabody Memorial handicap on Decoration day.

Neither Traffic Court nor Quizzle finished in the money as the Happy Hour farm's Happy Pilot, ridden by Jackie Martin, came fast in the stretch to take the place, while the Hilltop stock farm's Topnard, with Otto Grohs aboard, finished third.

Take Away All the Way.

Take Away broke in front and stayed there, withstanding a mild challenge from Topnard after entering the stretch and then drawing out in the last sixteenth. Happy Pilot finished gamely to beat out Topnard, which was a length in front of Traffic Court at the wire. The winner paid $12.20.

A good week day crowd of 13,306 wagered $812,972 and saw the longest mutuel price of the Chicago season, $83, hung up in the second race when J. F. O'Neill's Running Sue shot home first by five and a half lengths in a field of a dozen nonwinners this year. The daily double was worth $293.20 on Running Sue and C. E. Davison's Infinity Sheik, victor in the opener at $5.80.

M. A. Waldheim's Zumzing, the 4 to 5 favorite in the third race, came within an ace of being withdrawn when he was injured at the gate and taken to the track veterinarian, M. F. Kent. He was permitted to run and got it over in a hurry with a five length margin over Bingo Mama, next best in the six horse field.

Martin Pilots Two Winners.

Jackie Martin, the sensational Michigan apprentice who was set down for the remainder of the meeting for infraction of riding rules Tuesday, scored on Clyde Troutt's

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

YOU and I often have seen football and baseball officials go right in on top of many a fast, close play so as to get the evidence for a finely drawn decision. . . . That's why we think that Ben Lindheimer, executive director of Washington Park and Arlington Park, hit upon a grand idea when he took the stewards out of their roof-top perch and spotted them at points of vantage around the track where the action occurs. . . . It's surprising that other tracks have been tardy in accepting an innovation whose popularity with the fans is bound to grow. . . . Even the most thoroly capable officials, equipped with the finest binoculars, run into problems of perspective when the horses are far away on the turns. . . . With action moving fast, they have to make decisions involving hundreds of thousands of dollars based on what they saw happen in a split second a quarter of a mile or more away. . . . Increasing the number of stewards from three to six cost Arlington and Washington Park a bit of money, because these men get between $50 and $100 a day, and good stewards are worth every cent of it. . . . Putting them down on the track not only helps them arrive at their decisions accurately, but it also has two other highly beneficial effects. . . . It increases public confidence and it throws the fear of the law into some of the jockeys who might be inclined toward shenanigans. . . . Just because the old system has been in operation for many years is no reason to conclude it's the best. . . . Racing has a greater problem than other sports in coping with the failings inherent in human nature. . . . Things happen faster and large sums are involved. . . . Lindheimer's policy of supervision is a step toward improving the integrity of racing. . . .

Dean Cromwell.

Tony Zale.

Baseball clubs haven't been able to come close to supplying the requests made by our flying heroes for baseball caps. . . . Perhaps it would be in order to set aside several thousands of dollars of the All-Star ball and bat fund for caps for flyers, whether they need balls and bats or not. . . . Chief Petty Officer Tony Zale, middleweight champion, has been transferred to Norfolk, Va., after serving more than a year at the naval station at San Juan, Puerto Rico. . . . Mike Milosevich, Yankee shortstop, has seven brothers. . . . Dean Cromwell of Southern California predicts his freshman, Roland Sink, will run a four minute mile, if he retains his enthusiasm and trains uninterruptedly for eight years.

Casualties.

"The casualties were light." . . .
Yet there he lay,
A crimson stain beneath his lifeless hand,
Whose heart had beat beside my very own,
Whose love and tears and laughter I had known.
What matter now which side shall list his name?
My anguished heart is broken just the same.
"The casualties were light." . . .
O, empty phrase!
—Eko.

Why?

These are the dark and troublesome days
Ebbing portentously by,
Days, it would seem, when the young can't live
And the old, it would seem, can't die.

So many old folks tired and alone,
Waiting the day of a peaceful release
Thru the gentle gates of death.

So many young folks, joyous, alive,
Go down in a crash and a blinding flash
Into the valley of night.

These are the times without reason or rhyme
When the question is ever asked, "Why?"
The weary and old live tiredly on,
While the young and strong must die!
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

NATION'S BEST FACE BEARS IN DYCHE STADIUM

All Profits Will Go to War Charities.

BY ARCH WARD.

Chicago's 11th annual All-Star football game, rated thruout the land as the season's greatest sports spectacle, will be played in Dyche stadium, Evanston, the night of Aug. 30. It will bring together the best available talent from collegiate ranks against the Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league.

Profits of the game, which last year exceeded $66,000, will be divided between the Army Air Force Aid society and the Chicago Service Men's centers.

The contest again will be played in Dyche stadium for the same reasons that prompted the shift from Soldiers' field a year ago. They are:

1. To avoid excessive charges levied against the game by the park board.
2. To restrict attendance, as far as possible, to fans in the metropolitan area in conformity with the wishes of the office of defense transportation.
3. To give more people an opportunity to "see" the game.

Sponsors to Absorb Extra Tax.

Prices for the 1944 game will remain at $6.60, $4.40, $3.30, and $2.20. The additional 10 per cent tax which now is assessed on tickets to sports events will be absorbed by Chicago Tribune Charities, sponsor of the enterprise.

The Bears, who won the professional championship by routing the Washington Redskins, 41 to 21, in Wrigley field last December, will return to St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., to prepare for the All-Stars. The collegians will train at Northwestern university, which has been their base since the series was inaugurated in 1934. They will be handled by five widely known coaches picked from various sections of the nation.

Several collegiate conferences again have approved the participation of undergraduates in the All-Star game. This, of course, is an emergency measure which will be discontinued after the war. There will be no balloting for players. A poll would be unfair to many of last year's headliners now in the service who might not be able to arrange a leave or furlough to participate in the game.

All Profits to War Charities.

Chicago Tribune Charities has asked no blanket release of players from the services, despite the fact that all profits will go to war charities. However, many of the top flight athletes of 1943 and 1942 will be included on the All-Star roster. They already have arranged to take their furloughs at All-Star time.

The Bears are entitled to use any member of their 1943 squad, regardless of his current status. This group includes Dante Magnani and Jim Benton, who belong to Cleveland and may be recalled by the Rams in the event they field a team this fall. The Bears also may use players on their reserve list and any men on their draft list not invited to join the All-Star squad.

The All-Stars of 1944 will have unusual psychological advantages. First, they'll strive to excel the record turned in by Harry Stuhldreher's 1943 group, which whipped the Redskins, 27 to 7, for the third biggest victory margin in the history of the series.

Bears Unbeaten in Big Game.

Secondly, they'll be working for the first All-Star triumph over the Bears. The pro champs have appeared in the All-Star game four times. They won three of the games and one resulted in a tie.

1934—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 0.
1935—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 5.
1936—All-Stars, 7; Detroit Lions, 7.
1937—All-Stars, 6; Green Bay Packers, 0.
1938—All-Stars, 28; Washington, 16.
1940—All-Stars, 28; Green Bay Packers, 45.
1941—All-Stars, 13; Chicago Bears, 37.
1942—All-Stars, 0; Chicago Bears, 21.
1943—All-Stars, 27; Washington, 7.

Ticket applications will now be accepted by mail. Direct orders to All-Star Football Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago, and make checks or money orders payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Cards Whip Cubs, 10 to 9, in Hit Spree

The Cubs made their two run start in the first inning on a double by Hughes and singles by Dallessandro, Nicholson and Johnson. In the next inning Holm was hit on the arm and singles by Hughes and Nicholson followed to provide two more runs and the latter hit ended the M. Cooper reign in favor of Brecheen. The next outbreak came from the Cards in the fourth. Musial walked and, M. Cooper singled. There also were singles by Kurowski and Marion, the outburst cutting two runs from the Cubs' lead.

Brecheen walked to start the four run fifth and scored on Hopp's drive to deep center. Altho none was out at the moment, Hopp also tried to count but his bid for a homer was nipped at the plate on Johnson's relay to Holm. Wyse remained on the job only until Sanders had walked and Musial singled. Vandenberg's first contribution to the rescue was a pass to W. Cooper, filling the bases. Kurowski scratched a single past Hughes and Musial scooted across the plate in the wake of Sanders. A single by Litwhiler scored W. Cooper to provide the Cards with a 6 to 4 bulge.

Cards Again Take Lead.

Singles by Vandenberg and Hughes and a pass to Cavarretta filled the bases with one out in the sixth. Novikoff's force of Cavarretta gave Vandenberg time to register, thus cutting the Cards' lead to one run. Three hits were required to fashion the tying run in the seventh. Johnson and Holm singled and Roy Easterwood, batting for Vandenberg, singled to give Johnson a ride to the plate. The tie lasted only until Kurowski and Fallon could single off Alderson in the home seventh, putting the Cards back in the lead 7 to 6.

Pauline Betz Gets a Scare in Clay Courts

Detroit, Mich., June 14 (AP).—Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, the defending champion, rallied today to defeat 16 year old Shirley Fry of Akron, O., 4-6, 9-7, 6-2, to enter the semi-finals of the National Clay Court tournament at the Detroit Tennis club.

Miss Betz, who raced thru the 1943 tournament in straight sets with only a total loss of six games, was on the brink of elimination in the second set after Miss Fry had won the opener. Trailing, 6-5, the champion held her own service and broke her opponent's service, eventually squaring the match. Miss Betz made short work of the deciding set.

Meet Dorothy Bundy.

Tomorrow Miss Betz meets Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., ranked No. 3, who defeated Constance Clifton of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., 6-2, 6-1.

In the other bracket, Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., who defeated Catherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., 6-1, 6-4, plays Mary Arnold of Los Angeles. Miss Arnold defeated Nancy Corbett of River Forest, Ill., 6-0, 6-1. Miss Corbett was 1943 runnerup.

Meanwhile, Francisco Segura of Coral Gables, Fla., and Billy Talbert of Indianapolis continued winning in the men's division. Segura downed Bill Sayres, Detroit High school boy, 6-3, 6-1, and tomorrow meets Jack McManis of Los Angeles. McManis knocked out Hobart Wrobbel of Detroit, 6-4, 6-2.

Talbert Scores Shutout.

Talbert reached the quarterfinals by blanking Lt. A. W. Angstadt of the Grosse Ile, Mich., naval air base, 6-0, 6-0. Tomorrow Talbert faces Hubert Manire of Detroit, who ousted Frank Brody of Des Moines, Ia., 9-7, 6-2.

Pvt. 1st Class Rex Norris of Lansing, Mich., and Buckley field, Colo., advanced with a 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Tom Mori of Los Angeles, Ray Gibson of Detroit, ranked fourth, lost to Ralph Dilley of Cleveland, O., 6-4, 6-0.

SOMERVILLE AND ZOLYNSKI WIN IN ELMHURST GOLF

Edward Somerville shot a 79 to wind the low gross prize as approximately 200 golfers participated in the 44th annual blowout tournament of the Elmhurst Country club yesterday at Elmhurst. The low net award was taken by Frank Zolynski, with 97—31—66.

Dr. August Pecaro and Edward Hurt tied for second in the low gross competition. Each shot an 80. Tied for second low net were Edward Schultz, who had 108—39—69, and Lt. Jones of the navy, with 90—21—69. Frank Fisher had an 82, Ed Grobner an 88, Robert Stanton an 81, and Hurt an 80 to make up the low gross foursome with an aggregate of 331.

PIRATES LOSE 11 INNING GAME TO REDS, 3 TO 2

Cincinnati, O., June 15 [Thursday]—(AP).—An 11th inning rally pulled a ball game out of the fire for the Cincinnati Reds early today and gave them a 3 to 2 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Rain stopped play twice and the game ended long after midnight.

After the Pirates had gone ahead in their half of the 11th on a walk and Bob Elliott's second double of the night, Steve Mesner opened the Reds' side with a triple, and Eddie Miller sent him home with a double. Miller beat the throw to third on Ray Mueller's bunt. Estel Crabtree was walked intentionally, and Woody Williams came thru with a single for the winning run.

Lincoln Fields Handicap to Take Away

Neat Kee in the fourth and then brought Tusco in for the Nehring stable in the seventh. Martin's suspension takes effect today, altho he may ride in the $5,000 Lincoln handicap Saturday.

It looked like some one knew something in the fifth race when J. Cannata's Aunt Sis, a 3 year old maiden, went over at 5 to 1 after opening in the morning line at 50 to 1. The bay daughter of Bostonian, ridden by Charley Beasy, won by a neck from Bagnell while Rattle-De-Bang was getting third. Aunt Sis, which was a 200 to 1 shot her last out on May 31, paid $12.40.

RUSH PLANNING OF PEACE JOBS, BARUCH URGES

Warns Output Shift May Be Sudden.

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—Congress was prodded by Bernard M. Baruch today to speed machinery for post-war economic adjustments lest a sudden collapse of Germany lead to unemployment and chaos in this country.

Baruch, White House adviser on war and post-war adjustments, said in a letter to War Mobilization Director Byrnes that America must "hurry, hurry, hurry" its post-war planning.

"The collapse of the axis in Europe, according to present outlook, should permit the demobilization of a substantial part of our armed forces and a good part of war industry," Baruch said. "If this transition is to be handled without unnecessary unemployment, without further inflation, and chaotic confusion, the government must be ready for the swiftest action, regardless of when the X-day of Germany's defeat falls."

Not Guessing at Early Peace.

Baruch said, however, that his letter should not be taken as "reflecting any speculation as to an early end of the war." Dated May 12, it was turned over by Byrnes to a senate military subcommittee studying demobilization problems. The committee made it public today.

He summarized in this fashion what has been done and what remains to be accomplished in the broad field which has been his principal interest for many months:

1. The position of retraining and reëmployment administrator has been created by executive order but congress could aid by naming a joint committee, or single committees in each house, to help deal with "the human side of demobilization, which is the most important of all."

2. Congress should centralize its interest in the field of surplus war property disposal, for which an administrator already has been appointed.

Asks Law on Cancellations.

3. "Definitive action" is needed to set up adequate machinery and policies to insure proper advance planning in the cancellation of war contracts.

4. Machinery also should be established in preparation for the "X-day" reconversion program needed to prevent "chaos and confusion."

5. Congress should complete action on legislation covering the prompt settlement of terminated war contracts.

6. Action is still waiting on proposals for financing aid to small business, and for loans for reconversion purposes.

7. Congress should extend the war powers which expire soon—legislation such as the price control law, now in progress thru the legislature.

Urges Post-War Tax Bill.

8. "The development of post-war housing programs, the designing, engineering, and planning in advance of worthwhile public works, to be put on a shelf for use as needed, has still to be accomplished."

9. Congress should draft and put on the shelf a post-war tax bill with a major objective the stimulation of enterprise capital to give the widest possible employment.

Undersecretary of War Patterson told the same senate group in a letter that there was need for "prompt action." He endorsed as "basically sound" a bill drafted by Senators George [D., Ga.], and Murray [D., Mont.], to establish economic adjustment machinery. Laying down basic policies, the measure would leave their execution, in general, to existing agencies rather than establishing a new overall agency as some have advocated.

AUTO INDUSTRY'S WAR PRODUCTION TOPS 18 BILLIONS

Detroit, Mich., June 14 (AP).—Between September, 1939, and June 1, 1944, the automotive industry delivered war material valued at 18½ billion dollars, George Romney, managing director of the automotive council for war production, reported today.

Romney said that with the exception of aircraft orders, roughly two-thirds of all war contracts have been filled. In the aircraft program, which has continued to expand until it constitutes 45 per cent of the industry's deliveries, a little more than one-third of the orders have been filled.

Senate Probe of Hog Policy Will Be Asked

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Determined to bring relief to corn-hog farmers of the middle west, a score of senators will unite tomorrow in presenting a resolution for a senate investigation of the live stock, poultry, and feed situation.

The resolution, being drafted by Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.], provides the creation of a special committee of five senators to inquire into the policies of the department of agriculture, the war food administration, and the office of price administration.

Result of Long Effort.

The movement is the result of weeks of effort by 16 Republican senators, headed by Sen. Reed [R., Kas.], to bring order out of the chaos in hog raising that farmers said has been made unbearable by the freezing of corn sales in 125 counties where most of the nation's corn is produced.

Sen. Wherry said tonight that four Democrats have joined in the demand for the investigation.

The government now guarantees farmers a support price on hogs weighing from 180 to 270 pounds. This price varies in different localities, being $13.75 a hundred pounds in Chicago.

But Reed and Wherry said tonight that the corn sale freeze makes it virtually impossible for farmers to buy corn to feed their hogs. Farmers are thus forced to take their hogs to the markets, which already are flooded.

Sell Below Level.

Light and overweight hogs thus forced on sale bring prices far below the support level, the senators said.

The 16 Republican sponsors of the investigation, among whom is Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], take credit for forcing the suspension of pork rationing. They say they also forced the minimum weight for support price hogs down from 200 to 180 pounds and for a time were able to raise the maximum weight to 330 pounds.

Their efforts to end the corn freeze, however, and bring other relief to farmers have run into a stone wall. The senators therefore determined to take their fight against the government administrative agencies direct to the floor of the senate.

SHIPMENT CUT ASKED

The Chicago Live Stock exchange yesterday sent an urgent appeal to farmers to cut hog shipments to market drastically the remainder of this week as unsold hogs reached a new high of 27,000 head at the close of trading.

Altho most of the sales were steady, declines of 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds in the extremely heavy butchers lowered the average 5 cents more to $12.50, a new 28 month low.

Receipts of sheep and lambs, at only 1,000, were among the smallest on record. Top natives advanced 35 cents to $16.35.

TREASURY WILL LEND STOCK OF SILVER TO INDIA

Washington, D. C., June 14 (AP).—The United States agreed today to lend-lease 100 million ounces of silver to the government of India. The treasury and the foreign economic administration said purposes are "to maintain an adequate supply of coinage for the united nations forces and for India's expanded war production, and to help to keep prices stable in this important united nations supply base and war theater."

India agreed to return the metal after the war. The agencies said the shipments, to be supplied from the treasury's stock of free silver, would not impair the United States' supply.

BENDIX AIRCRAFT ORDER BACKLOG CUT 25 PER CENT

South Bend, Ind., June 14 (AP).—Ernest R. Breech, president, told stockholders of Bendix Aircraft corporation at the annual meeting today the corporation's monthly production is averaging about 75 million dollars and that approximately 750 million in unfilled orders remained on the books.

The backlog had been cut from $1,018,901,000 since last Sept. 30, Breech said, thru reductions in army and navy contracts and voluntary price reductions by the company. The corporation has set aside approximately 44 million dollars for renegotiation of 1943 contracts, he said.

Breech and all other executive officers of the corporation were re-elected following election, each for a one year term, of the following directors: H. B. Baker, New York; Paul H. Davis, Chicago; S. G. Down, Pittsburgh; W. H. Houghton, Detroit; Charles Marcus, New York; William L. McGrath, Elmira, N. Y.; G. A. Rentschler, Hamilton, O.; G. A. Staples, Detroit, and D. O. Thomas, E. R. SYNDICATE BUYS EVANSTON'S OLD HOTEL MONNETT

One of Evanston's landmarks, the 52 year old Hotel Monnett, 1633 Chicago av., was sold yesterday for an undisclosed price by the State Bank and Trust company, trustee, to an Evanston syndicate, thru Hokanson & Jenks, Inc. The new owners plan to wreck it and erect a business block when conditions permit, it was disclosed.

Erected in 1892 as a rival to the Avenue House, predecessor to the present North Shore hotel, the four story Monnett has had a successful business in the half century.

Charges FTC Tries to Block Bias Evidence

The federal trade commission is seeking to suppress documentary evidence that it was "biased and prejudiced" in ordering the Cement institute and 75 member companies to halt certain price practices in 1943, Edward A. Zimmerman, counsel for the companies, charged yesterday. The FTC order prohibited the companies from using the multiple basing point delivered price system by which the retail price represents a fixed base price plus the cost of shipping by rail from mill to consumer. The FTC said the system violated the anti-trust laws.

The FTC started an investigation of the companies in 1937. During the probe, the companies contended the commission had disqualified itself by prejudging the issues and they offered as proof 23 FTC publications. When the FTC issued its final order it refused to admit the publications.

Court Appeal Pending.

On appeal to the seventh United States Circuit Court of Appeals, the companies moved to introduce the publications, and the filing of the government's brief opposing this was the occasion of Zimmerman's charge.

"In asking the court of appeals to put into evidence these exhibits the question before the court was in substance whether any bureau, commission, or so-called 'administrative agency' can conduct a smear campaign against a business or an industry, charge it publicly with violation of law, and thereafter, having reached and published a conclusion as to the guilt of the unfortunate accused, charge and try the accused, and then prevent a reviewing court from receiving evidence of the smear campaign," Zimmerman said.

Grab of Power Charged.

By this action, he charged, the commission seeks to arrogate to itself the power to rule arbitrarily the destiny of all business in the United States.

Zimmerman declined to discuss the contents of the 23 publications except to state that they would show that the FTC in 1936 certified to the department of justice facts assembled by the FTC which it deemed sufficient to show that the price practices, later prohibited, violated the anti-trust laws, but that the department of justice did not think it had a case.

PRICES OF GRAIN DIP, RALLY; END NEARLY STEADY

Early losses in grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday were in large part recovered in a late rally, and the market closed with little net change. The late recovery was attributed to news that the house had adopted an amendment to the price control extension bill designed to provide parity prices for all farm commodities.

Wheat futures closed ¼ cent a bushel lower to ⅛ cent higher; rye, unchanged to ¼ cent lower; oats, ⅝ lower to ⅛ cent higher, and barley, ½ to ⅝ cent lower.

Trading in wheat was active. Prices declined more than 1 cent as traders weighed reports of rust development in the southwest against the fact that the crop in that area is practically matured, with some already being harvested.

Pure Oil Company Well Opens New Illinois Pool

GUILTY VERDICT IS SET ASIDE IN MILLERS' TRIAL

Proof Inadequate, Judge Rules.

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday set aside a verdict by a jury of eight women and four men finding a group of flour milling interests guilty of anti-trust charges. The defendants included 15 flour milling corporations, 11 of their executives, and their national trade association. They had been charged by the government with conspiracy to fix the price of package family flour in violation of the anti-trust laws.

Judge Sullivan.

The jury brought in its guilty verdict after deliberating two and a half hours. The members had been thanked and dismissed when Leo F. Tierney, chief defense counsel, asked the court to set aside the verdict and enter a judgment of acquital for all the defendants.

"Should Have Directed Verdict."

"I have given a great deal of consideration and I have listened very carefully to this case," Judge Sullivan then said. 'And as it went on I became convinced that I should have directed a verdict at the end of the government's case.

"My conscience would not permit me under the evidence entered in this case to convict the defendants because they have not been proven guilty beyond all reasonable doubt."

It was indicated that the government would not appeal the action.

Assistant United States Atty. Gen. Daniel B. Britt, head of the anti-trust division, department of justice, told the jury that the companies had conspired to fix prices thru the use of a schedule which determined the prices to be charged by the millers to their customers for bulk flour for household use.

Plan in Effect 40 Years.

Tierney, who has represented the government in many cases, denied that there was any conspiracy to fix prices. He told the jury that the schedule practice objected to by the government had been in use forty years. He said the schedules were made up so that the customers of the millers would know what price packaged flour would sell for. He argued that this provided for an orderly industry and was of benefit to the buyer and to the consumer.

The defendants control 81 per cent of the 45 million barrels of flour sold annually in the United States in package form, Britt told the jury. The Millers' National federation, the trade association, with offices at 309 West Jackson blvd., served as a clearing house for price fixing agreements among the defendants, Britt said.

Among the defendant companies were General Mills, Inc., and the Pillsbury Flour Mills company, both of Minneapolis, and the Standard Milling company, Chicago. Individuals included William R. Morris, vice president of General Mills, and Howard W. Files, vice president of Pillsbury.

The bank also authorized the regular quarterly $1.50 dividend and Lehman declared its regular dividend of 30 cents.

Radio Train Control in Yards Successful, Says Rock Island

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

After a week's test of radio in connection with the switching of trains, officials of the Rock Island lines have pronounced the new communications system a success. Two way radio communication between the yardmaster's office and switch engines in the road's freight yards at Blue Island started June 5.

"Radio is proving of great practical value in expediting the making up and dispatching of trains," George W. Raney, general manager of the road, said yesterday. "The new radio system saves a great deal of time in getting orders to the engineer and switching crew. This is particularly true where changes of orders must be handled quickly, as for example, the last minute diversion of cars to another train or cars to be delivered to another line."

CQ—Caboose Calling!

Raney also disclosed that Ernest A. Dahl, electronic engineer for the road, and C. O. Ellis, superintendent of telephone and telegraph, are testing radio equipment for communication between front and rear end of freight trains and between dispatchers and train crews. He said the road expects to put this system in operation on trains between Chicago and Kansas City.

In Blue Island messages are sent and received on a static-free frequency modulation [FM] system thru loudspeakers and microphones located in the yardmaster's office and in the cabs of the Diesel powered switch engines. A control station has been built in the middle of the yards with the antenna mounted on a 90 foot light tower.

Used in Stock Yards Hauls.

The switch engines are used for hauls to the stock yards, the Chicago Produce terminal and to the yard of the Chicago Belt Line at Clearing. Since these runs frequently must be made on short notice the use of radio permits the yardmaster to maintain constant contact with the trains, expediting their movement under changing operating conditions, officials said.

Profit Taking Curbs Rise in Stock Market

New York, June 14 (AP).—Profit selling tempered bullish ardor in the stock market today, but brisk bidding for motors and industrial specialties in the final hour resulted in net gains exceeding declines by a slight margin.

Most of the leaders of the fast rise of Monday and Tuesday reacted a bit in the early proceedings and as this adjustment proceeded buyers transferred their attention to air transport and sugar stocks, and later to the gold mines.

The market's reluctance to fall back far from the "peace boom" highs of Tuesday was indicated by a quick recovery on the part of the rails after some sizable declines in the first hour.

CHICAGO LIST RISES.

Prices made further gains in yesterday's trading on the Chicago Stock exchange. Illinois Central was active on an advance of a point. Seventeen issues sold at new 1944 highs. Chicago corporation, the volume leader, lost ⅛.

BONDS SELL HIGHER.

New York, June 14—(AP).—Prices showed further improvement in today's bond market, but the gains were smaller than on Tuesday.

U.S. TO DISPOSE OF SURPLUS IN NORMAL TRADE

Aids in Shortages, Says Olrich.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Chicago merchants were assured yesterday that Uncle Sam, in the role of the world's biggest merchandiser, will dispose of surplus war property under a system designed to fill in present shortages of goods wherever possible, and prevent future disruption of civilian economy.

Ernest L. Olrich, assistant to the secretary of the treasury, told 500 members of the Chicago Retail Merchants' association, meeting in the La Salle hotel, that everything from anvils to zippers will be distributed to consumers, thru regular trade channels insofar as possible.

Olrich, who appeared as a former Chicago associate of the business men in his first major address since his treasury appointment, is president of Munsingwear, Inc., Minneapolis garment firm, and formerly was controler of Marshall Field & Co.

Sells Surplus Commodities.

As head of the treasury's surplus consumer commodity disposal division, he is superintending the distribution of goods at the rate of 12 million dollars a month. Six other government units are being organized for the disposal of other types of surplus property. He ranked the over-all task as "the No. 1 economic and business problem to be faced in the next few years," and asked for the support of business organizations' key personnel to assist in carrying out surplus property distribution.

"We're going to be the biggest merchants in the world," Olrich said in describing the organization being assembled under the direction of William L. Clayton, surplus property administrator at Washington, D. C. "We will establish offices in key cities thruout the country to expedite distribution. Our aim is to become a first class, desirable source of merchandise, easy to do business with."

Avoid Last War Mistakes.

Olrich pledged the merchants that the mistakes of the last war, when surplus materials were thrown on the market and disrupted normal business, will not be repeated because machinery has been set up to restrict surplus materials to established dealers. They will be protected against speculators, and goods will be offered in limited quantities for small business organizations, he said.

WAR SURPLUSES TO BE SOLD THRU NORMAL TRADE

"Our present problem is relieving the shortage of goods 'in civilian markets," he said. "As the distribution gains momentum, our problem will be to avoid disrupting national economy, and this must be our guiding principle."

As an example of the delicacy required in handling the problem, Olrich said that the surgical goods industry's war surplus will amount to two years' normal production, which if dumped on the market at once would ruin the industry.

Current Surpluses Displayed.

Olrich brought with him as visual evidence of the types of goods to be sold, army officers' spurs, medical kits outmoded by the developments of medicine since the war began, and other items, and listed some of the present surplus items:

One hundred sledge dogs, saddle horses worth $57,000, diesel engines costing $2,300,000, a million mosquito bars costing $5,700,000, WAC clothing worth a million dollars, 7½ million pillow cases, 1 million pairs of jute socks worn over soldiers' shoes, 4,000 motorcycles, and truck and passenger automobile parts costing 17 million dollars.

These items had been declared surplus by one of the military agencies and were placed in the pool for civilian use when other agencies of the government were able to find no use for them. In some instances city governments have been canvassed for possible use of machinery and other goods.

Allays Prime Fears.

Olrich termed unfounded business men's three principal worries concerning the distribution—that business men would not be consulted, that goods would be sold to any one regardless of possible economic consequences, and that goods would be dumped on the market. Business men are consulted and important decisions are not made until after careful study by his organization's advisory board, he said.

Since sales are made only under regulations of the office of price administration and other war agencies, "we have the same problems that you business men encounter," Olrich added.

SHIFT 100 MORE ALIEN PROPERTY EMPLOYES EAST

An additional 100 workers in the Chicago office of the alien property custodian are being shifted to New York City to complete the consolidation of the government office's operations there, it was reported yesterday. Ninety workers were transferred to New York last March when the consolidation began.

Main offices of the custodian have been maintained in Washington, D. C., New York, and in Chicago, Robert W. Cavanaugh, assistant executive officer, said. The move, which will be completed by June 30, will reduce administrative problems and effect an economy, it was explained.

Fifty members of an original 240 on the Chicago staff will remain to carry on Chicago activities. Formerly leasing 55,000 square feet in the Field building, the agency will occupy about 4,000 square feet after June 30, he said.

Activities continuing in Chicago will include those of the estates and trusts section.

ICKES PIPELINE IS REPORTED ON SHELF TO STAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Secretary of Interior Ickes' plan for building a 1,200 mile, 160 million dollar oil pipeline in Arabia at government expense was believed permanently shelved today after an announcement by the senate petroleum investigating committee it had been assured no contract for such a venture would be made without "timely notice" to the committee.

One member of the committee said the pipeline scheme was a "dead duck." He said if the committee were advised in advance of Ickes' intention to complete negotiations congress would take immediate steps to halt such action.

It was learned, without official confirmation, that the senate committee had tried unsuccessfully to get a commitment from Ickes that no final action in the pipeline, or any other contract on foreign petroleum matters, would be made without 30 days' notice to the committee.

Threaten Public Hearings.

Finally, after the committee threatened public hearings to air all the international dealings of the Petroleum Reserve corporation, headed by Ickes, President Roosevelt gave the committee assurance that the 30 days' notice would be given, it was learned on good authority.

The committee will continue studies relating to recommendations for a national petroleum policy, Sen. Maloney [D., Conn.], chairman, announced today. Domestic and foreign petroleum reserves, distribution and marketing, and the diplomatic history of oil negotiations will be among the matters discussed. The committee, however, voted to postpone public hearings until after further conferences between the American and British governments on international petroleum questions.

It was learned that reports of international intrigue in petroleum matters, revealed at closed hearings of the committee in the last two months, had convinced senators the United States government should refrain from investing in oil installations in the near east lest the United States end up with a lot of expensive equipment and the British and Russians holding the oil. Russia is extending its influence southward and may seek oil in that area, it was said.

Oil concessions in Saudi Arabia, in which is reputed to be the richest pool in the world, are jointly owned by the Texas company and Standard Oil of California, operating as the American Arabian Oil company.

Production Limited.

Because American oil has been greasing and fueling most of the allied war machine, production in the Arabian field has been limited and King Ibn Saud has not been receiving the 10 million dollars in royalties he expected when he granted the concession to the American companies.

As a consequence, the senate committee was understood to have been told, the British government has been supplying Ibn Saud with war supplies and cash which together have totaled 40 million dollars. This largesse could not be supplied by the United States because of lend-lease restrictions, altho one senator said today American dollars enabled the British to make the gifts.

In order to strengthen the American hold on the Arabian oil concession, Ickes proposed last fall that this government buy a third interest in the concession for 40 million dollars. The American Arabian Oil company had paid only 30 million dollars for it, so Ickes' plan would give the company a 10 million dollar profit and leave it with two-thirds interest.

Truman Investigation.

Ickes dropped the plan last fall after the Truman committee had exposed it. In January, he followed with the proposal to build the government financed pipeline. Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] then proposed a petroleum investigation and formation of the committee headed by Sen. Maloney followed.

Members of the committee have agreed in all decisions reached by the group, it was learned. Committee members, in addition to Maloney, are: Senators Connally [D., Tex.], Vandenberg [R., Mich.], Johnson [D., Colo.], Moore [R., Okla.], Brewster [R., Me.], O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], Gurney [R., S. D.], Lucas [D., Ill.] Maybank [D., S. C.], and La Follette [Prog., Wis.].

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

June 14, 1944.

IT took a wedding to get the workers out of the Fox river farm cornfields. For the last 10 days, from morning till night, the tractors with cultivating attachments have been moving back and forth over the fields. When we stopped on the farm early in the week, there were four cultivating outfits in a field of 90 acres.

The men are eager to give all of the 420 acres of corn land two cultivations before starting to cut alfalfa, but they had to take off their overalls and put on their church clothes yesterday when Miss Shirley Thurow was married to Sgt. James Rathe in the Louis Thurow home.

Wild Roses Abundant.

The bride's parents bought greenhouse flowers for the wedding, but they could have harvested flowers from the farm fields. Wild roses are abundant this season, the common white oxeye daisies wave in clumps from the meadows, and the distinctive purple Job's Tears border all the farm roads.

A less cheerful note is provided by the array of mosquitoes which drill, peck, and sting every hiker at this time of the year. The numerous spring rains have contributed to the supply of common floodwater mosquitoes [Aedes vexans] which are plaguing us this season.

Water Level a Factor.

A point not commonly understood about mosquito reproduction is that a varying water level is the major contributing factor to a heavy hatch. The mosquito eggs are deposited during the dry season in pockets adjacent to streams and ponds, but will not hatch until the water levels rise and fill the pockets.

This year's spring rains have led to such conditions and, as a result, a full crop of mosquitoes is on hand.

★ The GARDEN ★

ONE of the vegetables transplanted into the sample gardens of the Wheaton farm early this week was kale, a member of the cabbage family. This vegetable was cultivated in the farm greenhouse, and seedlings were four to seven inches tall when transplanted. Kale grows as a rather large clump, so seedlings should be spaced at least 12 inches apart in the row, in rows three feet apart. Many Chicagoland greenhouses have kale seedlings for sale.

Kale, cooked and served as a spinach substitute, has a distinctive flavor. It is hardy and continues growth thru light frosts in the fall. Cabbage worms will sometimes attack the leaves, altho kale is less susceptible to this insect than most members of the cabbage family.

"The Gardener's Diary," published by THE TRIBUNE, contains a week-by-week series of garden tips. It is available from The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and 435 N. Michigan av., for 15 cents over the counter, 18 cents by mail.

WPB GRANTS 100 TONS OF STEEL ON BUTTON JOB

Admitting the war production board has granted him permission to purchase 100 tons of 32 gauge milled blackplate steel for the manufacture of campaign and other buttons, William U. Watson, president of the Greenduck company, largest manufacturer in the business, yesterday denied he was making any Democratic buttons bearing the slogan "I Want F. D. R. Again."

"Not a button has been ordered from us," Watson said, "and if any had been ordered or were being made anywhere, I'm sure we'd know about it; we made between 70 and 80 million political campaign buttons in 1940. Usually, such orders do not come until after the conventions."

It had been reported in Washington and New York that Watson had been given priority on the steel to make the "F. D. R." buttons and that a large order had been placed with him.

Watson displayed the WPB letter granting him permission to purchase the "excess and surplus" steel to manufacture "buttons and tabs for religious, educational, charitable, patriotic, safety, and political organizations." It was dated Feb. 17. He said his company was making 50 million buttons and tabs for the Red Cross and 7 to 8 million more for the Chicago and other community funds and chests.

UNION TO MEET WARD TONIGHT ON WAGE ISSUE

Officials of Montgomery Ward & Co., and representatives of local 20 of the United Mail Order and Department Store Employes union [CIO] will meet tonight to discuss union contract demands that the company has shown a willingness to negotiate, Miss Sandra Slotkin, international representative of the union, announced yesterday.

At the latest meeting between the company and the union grievance committee, held May 18, John A. Barr, attorney in charge of labor relations for Ward, turned down the union's demands for a closed shop and other contract provisions. Miss Slotkin said tonight's discussions would be limited to grievance procedure, vacations, and wage increases.

Miss Slotkin explained unsettled points would be submitted to the United States conciliation service and then to the war labor board for decision. Ward's refusal to grant the closed shop and check-off in a WLB directive to extend last year's contract with the union resulted in the government's seizure of the plant late in April.

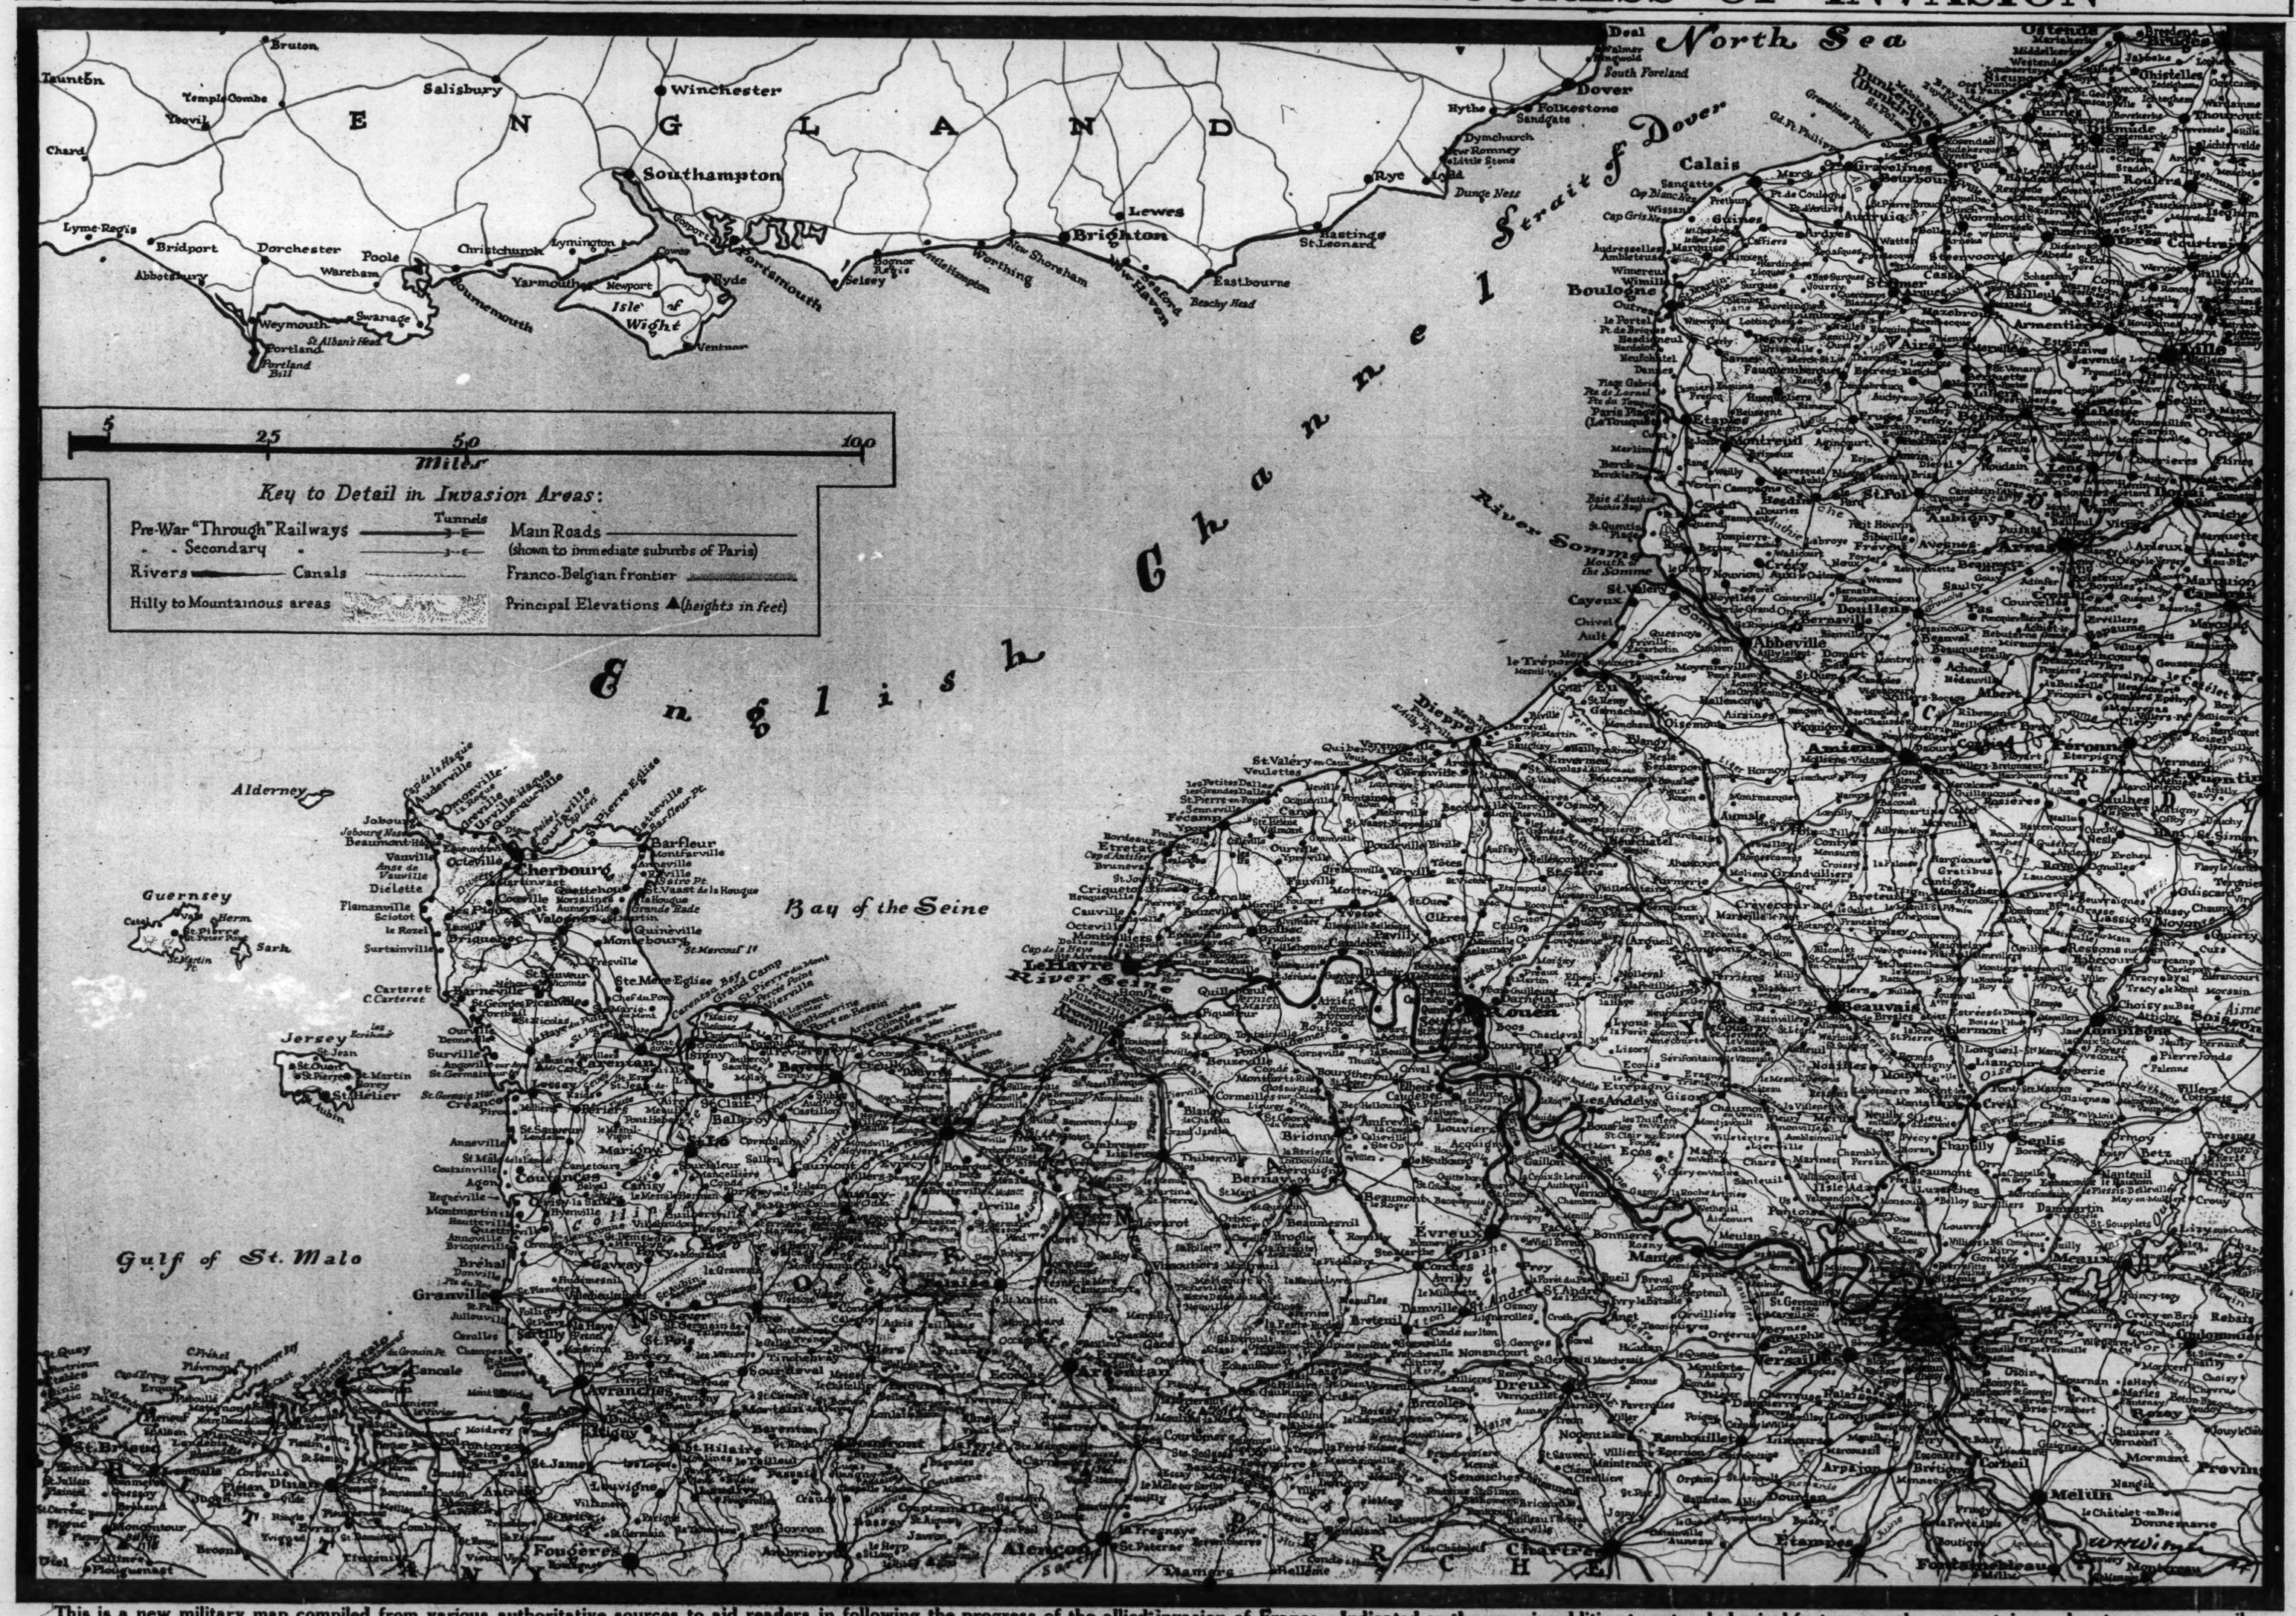
NEW MILITARY MAP FOR FOLLOWING PROGRESS OF INVASION



This is a new military map compiled from various authoritative sources to aid readers in following the progress of the allied invasion of France. Indicated on the map, in addition to natural physical features, such as mountains and waterways, are railways and roads, and cities, towns, and villages, a number of which have been mentioned in the day-to-day news of the invasion.
